NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1*st*.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceedings.

2*nd*.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3*rd*.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 42 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 48.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordance with the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

(a) The rent to be paid shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner on the order of Government on each occasion of renewal.

(b) The title conveyed by the renewed lease shall be heritable and transferable, provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole, and that no transfer shall be valid as against the Government, but shall, on the contrary, be equivalent to a surrender of the lease, unless notification of the transfer shall have been given by the transferree to the Deputy Commissioner at the time of transfer, together with a fee of four annas per acre of the area leased.

(c) In all other respects the conditions of the renewed lease shall be the same as those of the preliminary lease.

9. The rights and privileges conveyed by this lease, and by any renewed lease granted in accordance with its provisions, shall be liable to be forfeited on failure of the lessee to comply with any condition thereof,

10. If, before the expiration of this preliminary lease, no application for a renewal of the lease shall have been made in accordance with the above provisions, the lessee may be allowed to hold on as a tenant-at-will, but not otherwise, until other arrangements may have been made by the Deputy Commissioner.

11. The lessee may sublet any part of the land covered by this lease on such terms as he pleases, provided that he gives the same promise of renewal of the tenure to his sub-tenant on condition of bringing his land into cultivation as is given to himself by this lease. The rent to be paid on renewal shall be determined on the application of either party by the Deputy Commissioner, who has the power to fix equitable rates of rent as he has, under Sections 76 to 79 of Act X of 1859, to fix terms of pottah.

12. No sub-tenant under the lessee shall sublet any part of his land on pain of forfeiture of his tenure; but this rule and the last shall not be held to prevent the employment of adhiars, projahs, or other laborers supplied with seed and paid by giving them half the crop. The Government reserve power to make rules to be observed by the lessee and his tenants for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this and the last preceding clause; and the lessee agrees to abide by such rules when published for general observance and to hold the land subject to such rules.

DARJEELING LINE.

DURING the present season the experiment will be tried of offering the public a less expensive mode of conveyance to Darjeeling.

2. A limited number of wagonettes have been built, which are so constructed as to enable two passengers to lie down at full length. They are provided with cushions and hoods, and drawn by two horses, but they are not sufficiently protected from the weather to make them good for ladies or invalids. These are available at cheaper rates than the ordinary carriages, viz. 4 annas a mile for each passenger, or Rs. 25 for the through journey.

3. A wagonette will start from Karagola every day except Sunday and Monday, leaving on the arrival of the steamer, and will return from Silligoree every day except Monday and Tuesday, starting at 11 A.M.

4. No luggage can be carried except a hand-bag, which should not weigh more than five seers. This rule is necessary and must not under any circumstances be infringed, as these vehicles convey the parcel mail. One traveller who, by the payment of Rs. 50 engages a whole wagonette, can take two maunds of luggage with him free.

5. Applications for wagonettes should be made in the usual way to Post-Master, Purneah, and should state which of the other forms of accommodation the traveller wishes in case a wagonette is not available.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta, together with the amended Bill, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making laws and regulations, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Vice-Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners, dated 18th January 1875, and enclosure.
Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 2nd April 1875.
From Secretary, Bonded Warehouse Association, dated 29th May 1875.

1. We have carefully considered the minute of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor dated 2nd April last, but we are not prepared to recommend any change in the constitution of the Municipality.

2. We have repealed four enactments in addition to those specified in the ninth schedule of the original Bill. Section 49 of Act III of 1874 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs and Howrah, because we have provided that carts used in the suburbs and Howrah are to be registered at the office of the Justices. This practice at present obtains as far as regards the suburbs; and now that Calcutta and Howrah are connected by the Hooghly Bridge, it becomes necessary to make one registration for Calcutta, its suburbs, and Howrah, the proceeds of the registration fees being divided between the three municipalities, for which we have also provided. Act VII of 1865 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs, because it has been practically inoperative as regards the suburbs, owing to an arrangement entered into, with the approval of Government, between the Justices and the Municipality of the suburbs, under which no place can be used as a slaughter-house in the suburbs unless a license for its use has been obtained from the Justices. The introduction of a new chapter on markets into the amended Bill has rendered necessary the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II (B.C.) of 1874.

3. In section 3 we have altered the definitions of "carriage," "cart," and "street," and have introduced definitions of "drug," "public street," "slaughter-house," and "the suburbs." The insertion of two new sections in Chapter XII, with regard to the inspection of drugs, renders a definition of "drug" necessary. The "suburbs" have been defined because we have provided that carts used within the suburbs are to be registered in the office of the Justices. The effect of the other alterations and additions will be to remove certain ambiguities from the Bill.

4. In section 9 we have provided that the Justices may, at a special general meeting, appoint a proper person to two or more of the appointments mentioned in the section; and section 10 allows the Vice-Chairman to hold any other office to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting of the Justices

5. In section 16 we have provided that the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may grant pensions or gratuities to their officers. As the section stood in the original Bill, the power was practically vested in the Chairman. And here we may remark that throughout the whole Bill, whenever a question of principle, and not a mere executive act, is involved, we have made the determination of it rest, not with the Chairman, but with the Justices in meeting.

6. We have raised the number necessary to form a quorum of Justices—

in the case of an ordinary meeting, from three or six;
in the case of a special meeting, from seven to nine;
in the case of a special general or quarterly meeting, from fifteen to eighteen.

We have also inserted a proviso that no business is to be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting unless ten Justices are present.

7. We have provided that a declaration by the President, at a meeting, that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, if no poll be demanded. Under the original Bill the President had to call on each Justice to vote in order of seniority on the roll of the Justices. We have omitted this in the amended Bill.

8. The second proviso in section 32 of the amended Bill is new. In cases where the Chairman and the majority of a committee differ on any matter, no action is to be taken until the matter is disposed of by the Justices at a meeting.

9. In the original Bill the Local Government was empowered to appoint auditors of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices, the said auditors receiving such remuneration as the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall determine. To guard against the appointments being made ex-officio appointments, we have empowered the Justices to appoint, subject to the sanction of the Local Government, their own auditors.

10. We have allowed an appeal against the assessment in respect to licenses for all the trades, professions, and callings mentioned in the second schedule, to three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices. In the original Bill the final decision rested with the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

11. We have recast Part 1 of Chapter IV, and have made several alterations in it. For "land-rate" we have substituted the word "house-rate;" the former is a new term, whereas the latter is already in common use in Calcutta. We have provided that the Justices may impose a water-rate not exceeding six per cent. of the annual value when the house is situated in a street supplied with filtered water, and not exceeding five per cent. when the house is situated in a street not so supplied. As the Bill stood before, a uniform water-rate could be levied on all houses and land within the town, and we considered it unfair that those who had not the benefit of the water should pay as high a water-rate as those who had. We have made the police and lighting rates, as well as the water-rate, payable in advance. The lighting-rate, which originally stood at two-and-a-half per cent., we have reduced to two per cent.

12. Section 68 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for a remission of the house-rate when a house has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during the year. The date of vacancy is to be calculated from the delivery of a notice to that effect at the office of the Justices. This latter provision is repeated in sections 73, 74, and 77 of the amended Bill, which deal with refund of the water, police, and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied. We have also limited the time for an application for a refund under sections 74 and 77 to six months from the date of the vacancy of the house in respect of which the application is made.

13. Section 67 of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of better arrangement, to Part 1 of Chapter XI, which deals with the streets. As the police and lighting rates are made payable in advance, section 68 of the original Bill becomes unnecessary, and we have therefore omitted it. Section 77 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for the refund of the police and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied.

14. In section 81 of the amended Bill we have made special provision for the assessment of the unoccupied lands of the Port Commissioners; and in section 82 we have extended the period for which assessments are made by the Justices from three to six years.

15. Section 84 of the amended Bill is entirely new. It has been framed to meet the case of injury to immovable property through accident. When a house has received substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices are to re-assess it on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier

16. The most important alteration in Chapter V is the introduction of a new system of appeals against assessments. In the Bill referred to as appeals against assessments had to be made to the Justices, the Chairman and Vice-Chairman not being precluded from hearing such appeals. Many complaints have been made against this system, and we have accordingly allowed an appeal from the assessment made by the executive officers of the Justices, either to a Board of not less than three Justices, not being executive officers of the municipality, or to the Small Cause Court. The appellant is not allowed to appeal from the Board of three Justices to the Small Cause Court, but he can make his choice of the two tribunals. If he appeals to the Board of three Justices, their decision will be final. Or he can carry his case straight to the Small Cause Court, and the decision of that Court will be final. Persons who give notice of appeal must at the same time inform the Justices whether they intend to appeal to the Board of Justices or to the Small Cause Court. Every appeal to the Small Cause Court must be presented to the Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice of appeal at the office of the Justices. The original Bill provided that no appeal should be heard "unless the amount of the rate had been deposited with the Justices." We have substituted the words "unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices."

17. In Chapter VI we have provided that all sales of property after distress are to be regulated by the procedure of the Small Cause Court as to sale after distress.

18. We have made many additions to Chapter VII (of the water supply), which are mainly intended to prevent the waste of water so prevalent in the town.

Sections 110, 111, 112, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125 and 126 are new.

Section 108 of the amended Bill provides that the Justices must keep up a pressure of ten feet for the supply of water between 6 A.M. and 9 P.M., and a pressure of fifty feet between 7 A.M. and 9 A.M., and between 5 P.M. and 6 P.M.

Section 110 limits the supply of filtered water to any one house to one thousand gallons for every rupee paid as water-rate on account of the house. If the Justices think that any house takes more than this allowance, they can attach a meter to the water-pipes of the house, and charge the occupants for any water used in excess of the above allowance at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Section 111 directs that the Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and section 112 enjoins owners of houses to put up, at their own cost, cisterns in latrines and water-closets supplied with filtered or unfiltered water.

By section 118 we have provided that the occupier of any house in which water supplied by the Justices, is wasted from negligence or other causes under the control of the occupier, or in whose house the works for the supply of water are found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Section 119 makes any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Section 120 empowers the Justices to allow any person residing within the limits of the town to take water for his domestic use on certain terms, and to impose a fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, on any person who takes, for use outside the limits of the town, water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices.

Section 121 enacts that persons executing works for the laying on of water must hold a license from the Justices to act as a plumber, and provides for the imposition of a fine on any person so licensed who breaks the rules of his license.

Section 122 provides that any owner or occupier of a house who causes works for the laying on of water to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service-pipes.

Section 123. The Engineer of the Justices is to inspect the works before any connection with the service-pipes of the Justices is sanctioned. The cost of inspection is to be paid by the person applying for the connection; and until the Engineer certifies that the works have been properly executed, a connection is not to be permitted.

Section 124. Connection with the service-pipes of the Justices and the laying of supply pipes under a road are to be executed only by an officer of the Justices.

Section 125 provides a fine for a licensed plumber who executes works in a negligent manner or makes use of bad materials or fittings.

Section 126 provides for the imposition of a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, on any person who unlawfully takes water from any water-works belonging to, or under the control of, the Justices.

19. In section 142 we have expressed more clearly the intention of the clause in section 56 of the original Bill, with regard to the application of the proceeds of the police rate.

20. We have provided that the Justices shall appoint a Sub-Registrar at each burning ghât and native burial ground for the registration of all corpses brought for cremation or interment. Every Sub-Registrar is to dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or burial ground for which he is appointed, and the Justices are to publish a list of such Registrars and Sub-Registrars.

In section 151 of the amended Bill we have inserted a proviso that, in the case of persons dying in hospital, the medical officer in charge shall send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule. By section 153, the registration of a death occurring in a hospital is deemed to be complete on the receipt by the Justices of such written notice.

Section 154 makes it unlawful for a sexton or keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground or burning ghat, to bury or burn a corpse unless it is accompanied by a proper certificate.

21. For section 145 of the original Bill we have substituted another section (176 in the amended Bill), which is identical with section 125 of the old Act (VI of 1863, B.C.), and empowers the Justices to remove only obstructions or encroachments erected in any public street subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any obstruction of this nature, at whatever time erected.

We have made an alteration in section 155 of the original Bill by providing (section 185 of the amended Bill) that the Justices may cause the removal of any obstruction placed against, or in front of any house subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any such obstruction, at whatever time erected.

We have limited the power conferred on the Justices by section 156 of the original Bill to the removal of obstructions placed in front of any house previous to the 1st of June 1863 (section 186 of the amended Bill).

22. Sections 149, 150, 159, and 160 in Part I; sections 169, 171, 172 in Part II; and sections 188, 190, 191, 192, 193, and 207 in Part III, of Chapter XI of the original Bill have all been thrown together for the sake of convenience, and now constitute Part IV of Chapter XI, under the title of "Building Regulations." Three new sections (248, 249 and 250) have been inserted in this part, which direct that new huts shall be erected under the control of the Justices, lay down rules for their erection, empower the Justices to remove them if they are erected contrary to such rules, and prescribe a penalty for breach of the rules. These sections are substituted for sections 186 and 187 of the original Bill, and give the Justices ample control over the arrangement of any new villages that may be erected in future.

In section 219 we have provided that no person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

23. In Part I of Chapter XII we have inserted two new sections—one for the registration of places kept for the sale of drugs, and another for the inspection of drugs. Every place kept for the sale of drugs must be registered within two months after the Act comes into force. Non-registration will render the keeper of such place liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees. Power is given to the Justices to enter into shops for the purpose of inspecting drugs, and to remove any drugs they suspect to be adulterated. Clauses are added to provide for the giving of compensation to the owner of the drug if it is found to be not adulterated, and he has sustained any loss by the removal.

We have allowed the Justices in meeting, other than ordinary meeting, to provide slaughter-houses without the sanction of the Local Government.

Section 213 in Part I of Chapter XII of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of convenience, to the new chapter on markets.

24. We have added a chapter on markets to the Bill. This chapter embraces the law as it now stands without any important alteration or addition, and its introduction involves the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II of 1874 (B.C.)

25. We have omitted the last clause of section 233 of the original Bill, which provided that the powers given to the Justices with respect to railways, should not be exercised without the sanction of the Local Government.

26. In the Bill referred to us all penalties were collected in one chapter. This was found to be very inconvenient for the purpose of reference, and we have therefore returned to the plan of the old Acts, according to which each penalty is placed immediately after the subject to which it belongs.

27. We have altered the wording in the first part of Class IV of the second Schedule. According to the Bill referred to us, a person whose shop or place of business was located in a brick-house, and who did not fall under Class II or III, was liable to be assessed at Rs. 12 per annum. As we considered that the fact of a business being carried on in a brick-house a too uncertain test for the purposes of taxation, we have provided that all persons mentioned in Class IV of the second schedule shall pay Rs. 12 for their trade-license if their shop or place of business is assessed under Chapter V at ten rupees and upwards, but at less than twenty-five rupees a month.

28. In the fifth schedule we have lowered the scale of fees payable in distraints under Chapter VI.

29. We have made other alterations in form and words.

DISSENT.

WHILE signing the report of the Select Committee we desire to record this our dissent on points on which we disagree with our colleagues.

I.—The water, police, and lighting rates have been made payable in advance. The first is payable by the owner; the last two by the occupier. At present the water-rate alone is paid in advance; but considering the pressure of municipal taxation in this town we are of opinion that the payment in advance is attended with hardship to the poorer class of rate-payers, and that the system ought not to be extended to the lighting and police rates as proposed. No branch of imperial revenue, we believe, is recovered in advance, and we are satisfied that there is no good reason why municipal taxes should be made payable in advance. It was urged by our colleagues that the municipality incurred a considerable loss of revenue by reason of frequent changes in the occupation of houses by tenants, which its officers had no means of knowing in time, and that even if they did know they could not realize the rate, which was payable in arrear. This remark does not apply to the water-rate, which is recoverable from the owner. As the owner is identified with the land or house he owns or occupies, the house-rate is made payable in arrear. On the same principle, the water-rate ought to be made payable in arrear.

II.—For the purpose of the house-rate and the water-rate the owner of the land is declared to be the owner of the house thereon, and will be charged with the house-rate and water-rate respectively, and also with the lighting and police rates where the assessed annual value of the house is less than Rs. 200, with power to recover the amount so paid as an addition to rent. We object to these provisions as unconstitutional and unfair. The theory of municipal constitution is that no person should be called upon to pay at a higher rate or undertake greater responsibilities than his neighbour for municipal purposes. The owners of houses when liable to any rate or tax should pay the same, just as much and in the same manner as owners of lands; and if there be greater risk of collection in one case than in another, it is what those who have to receive the rate or tax should submit to To shift that risk on any particular section of the community for the benefit of the Municipality and to afford perfect immunity from the trouble and annoyance of summary distress and warrant to those who are likely to be defaulters, involves denial of justice and fair play, and this is made the more glaring by the proviso that owners of only those plots of land, the assessed value of the houses whereon should be less than Rs 200 per annum, should be subjected to the risk, and not those lands which bear more highly assessed property. In other words, the Municipality should collect directly from those who are substantial and from whom it is easy to collect, and through the agency of the landlord from those who are poor and from whom it is consequently difficult to realize, though he is not to be remunerated for his trouble, risk, and responsibility. If it be a duty on the part of landlords to pay the taxes due for the property of their tenants, it should apply to all landlords alike without reference to the value of the houses on their lands. In equity, however, it applies to none, and none therefore should be subjected to so unequal a law. It is true that the existing law has a provision of this kind with reference to the police and lighting rates, limited to houses assessed at or under an annual value of Rs. 100, but it is founded on no principle of justice, and its operation has proved oppressive. The loss sustained by landlords in realizing through their own servants and the Small Cause Court the rate due to the Municipality from the owners of small houses, which the Justices cannot realize satisfactorily through the more summary process of warrant, distraint, and sale, is great; and to apply the rule to all kinds of taxes and rates would increase the loss manifold. A percentage of loss is inevitable in collecting money from a large number of rate-payers, and there is no principle of equity and justice under which the payee may be allowed to shift that loss in certain cases on third parties. This injustice we feel will be made the more oppressive on account of the difficulties under which the landlord labors in realizing his legitimate rent. The complaint is that the recent ruling of the High Court that a hut is removable, but immovable for purposes of distraint, has interposed great difficulty in the way of the recovery of rent, and it cannot therefore be just to make him liable for all the occupier's rates, and to direct him to recover his dues from the tenant as an addition to rent. Nor will the evil be confined to landlords alone; tenants will equally suffer from it, inasmuch as the poorer and more ignorant classes of tenants will be subjected to extortion and oppression at the hands of unscrupulous landlords and their servants. It is generally believed that under the existing law many landlords realize from their tenants the whole of the water rate instead of the three-fourths prescribed by it The duty of realizing the rates and taxes belongs legitimately to the Municipality, which has a large and highly paid establishment for the recovery of arrears and we see no reason why it should be relieved of its legitimate duty

III.—Unoccupied lands are at present not assessed. There are lands in the town which have rarely been occupied, and it is not to be supposed that the owner would wilfully leave them unoccupied if he could find tenants. As the Bill provides, the owner must keep them in good order. This obligation, we are of opinion, would be a sufficient motive to him for letting them out. It would press unduly upon the owner, if he were made to pay half rates for unoccupied lands, which derive no benefit from the Municipality and entail no additional duty on it, and which lie unoccupid from no fault of his. We may add that however necessary the busti regulations may be, they are stringent and may lead to desertion from the town, and in that case it would be a double hardship to the owner if he should lose rent and be made to pay the rates.

IV.—It is provided that the supply of water for domestic consumption may be charged at the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee whenever it is in excess of the quantity covered by the amount of the water-rate paid by the occupier so calculated; and that the Justices, that is the Chairman, may put on a water meter for the ascertainment of such quantity. The object of this provision is to prevent wanton waste of water. We are fully alive to the necessity of checking waste, but we believe that infinitely more water is wasted on the streets than in private houses, by the bursting of service pipes, and by reason of defective stand-posts and of wayfarers neglecting to close them, than by reason of defective fittings in houses, or neglect in securing water—not to say that the necessity of keeping houses dry operates as a check upon many householders; but as regards private houses, the regulation of the size of the ferrule, the periodical inspection of fittings by municipal officers, and the penalties prescribed for the occupier and plumber in case of neglect to prevent waste, are calculated to promote to a considerable extent economy in the use of water. It might be that the introduction of the water meter would not be made general; but as the whole matter would be left to the discretion of the executive, the temptation for having a general recourse to it might prove too great for them, if they should find the scheme remunerative. But to charge for water for domestic consumption in excess of regulation supply when the supply is obtained by a heavy compulsory taxation, we hold is on principle unsound and unfair. In respect of the water-supply the Justices resemble a large co-operative society, each member of which contributes towards the object according to a fixed assessment, on the understanding that he will take such a supply as he may require for domestic consumption. If the Justices are empowered to make an additional charge on the pretext of greater consumption by one person than by another, then the principle of compulsory taxation ought, in all fairness, to be abandoned, and the system of taxation according to consumption ought to be substituted instead. Then if a charge is to be made for excess consumption, justice requires that a proportionate reduction should be allowed to those rate-payers who might not consume the regulation quantity. Besides, the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee is founded on no correct principle. The Justices are not a trading body; and we are of opinion that it would not be consistent with right principle to allow them to charge a fancy price for water for domestic consumption from those whose contributions have secured the supply and who have a common interest in it. The actual cost of the water is less than four annas per one thousand gallons; and we think all charges in excess of that rate, or whatever the cost price may be, would amount to an extraodinary indirect tax, which, as long as the express understanding is that the water-supply is intended for the ordinary domestic consumption of the rate-payers and the public purposes of conservancy and the watering of roads, would be unjust. The Municipality is not and should not be let at liberty to look to gain by sale of water as long as the aforesaid domestic and public purposes for which the water-rate is imposed are not met. As for the unfiltered supply, it cannot be available at all hours, inasmuch as it will not be given at constant pressure—not to say that the two-fold supply would entail upon the house-owner double cost in laying on the water.

Then latrines and water-closets are not to be provided with constant supply of water, but should be provided with cisterns. As a diffuse supply of water is essential to the successful working of the drainage system, we are not satisfied that the cisterns would answer the purpose. To compel the house-owners to connect their privies with the new sewers and to stint them the supply of water would be inconsistent. Besides, privies in native houses, we are informed, are too small for the convenient admission of the cistern; and as such houses have generally several privies, the cost to the owner or occupier for introducing the system of cisterns would be great. Indeed, taking the charges for water—firstly, for connection for filtered supply; secondly, for unfiltered supply; thirdly, for cisterns; and, fourthly, for domestic supply in excess of regulation quantity—we are of opinion that the pressure of taxation would fall very heavily upon the poorer classes of tax-payers. It is also open to question whether it is consistent with the functions of the legislature to provide for cisterns when the system has not been discussed or adopted by the Justices.

V.—We object to the provisions made for the passing of the police budget. They are calculated to reduce the Justices to the position of message-bearer only. As the Bill is framed, the Justices are simply to receive the budget from the Commissioner of Police and to transmit the same to the Lieutenant-Governor. This change in the law is recommended on the ground that the regulation, management, and control of the police ought to be vested in the Government. Such is now practically the case. The Commissioner of Police under orders of Government determines the strength and organization of the police; and although the Justices have power to reduce or cancel any part of the police budget, they have never exercised that power to the detriment of the efficiency of the police. The existence of the power has, however, a wholesome influence on the Commissioner of Police and conduces to the advantage of the town. If the Justices have never exercised the power in question, they may do so at any time, and this circumstance tends to make him cautious, moderate, and economical. The Justices are responsible to the rate-payers for the due application of the funds they collect; and as they are charged with the collection of the police rate, it is both necessary and meet that they should have a voice in the administration of the police fund. It was urged that should the Justices and the local Government disagree on any point, things would come to a dead-lock. Such a crisis has never arisen, though the power under notice has been vested in the Justices since 1866; but should such a crisis arise, the difference might be settled by the Government of India, whose decision should be final, as the control of the police is vested in it in the last degree. The majority of the Committee, did not, however, agree to this proposal. This is a constitutional question of great importance, and we are of opinion that if the legislature is not prepared to continue the power hitherto possessed by the Justices, the corporation should be relieved of the invidious duty of imposing and collecting the police rate, in the disbursement of which it is to be allowed no control. In London, the city police, which is analogous to the metropolitan police of Calcutta, is, we believe, completely under the control of the City Corporation. If it be the object of the Government to give the rate-payers the privilege of self-government, it cannot be consistent with that object to deprive the Justices of their present power to control police expenditure.

VI.—While we support the provisions made for the clearance and improvement of bustis, we do not consider it fair to compel the owner of the land to construct privies for the benefit of the occupier. There should be a broad line of distinction between the sanitary requirements of the land owned by the landlord and those of private houses built thereon by tenants. The former obligation belongs to the landlord, and the latter to the tenant; and the respective duties of the two parties cannot be confounded without entailing injustice on one or the other. The practice in this town is for the tenant to build his own habitation and the appurtenances belonging thereto; and as tenants, particularly with families, do not frequent a common latrine, the landlord would be put to considerable cost in building a privy for each tenant. The improvement of the bustis will entail heavy expenses upon the owner, and it cannot be fair to saddle him with this cost. Where common latrines may be needed, the owner may be required to provide them, but not otherwise.

We object to this provision, the more because we are convinced that no cost for improvement will be incurred except with a view to realize a return; and if the tenants be made to pay the interest on the outlay by way of increased rent, the evil will recoil on them in a way which those who wish to benefit them cannot but feel to be grievous. Living for poor people in the town has already become very difficult, and the multiplication of taxes and outlay on improvements cannot but increase that evil. Sanitary improvement, however salutary, is dearly purchased where the means of subsistence are injuriously reduced; and it is the bounden duty of the legislature, in our opinion, to prevent so serious a mischief. The idea that the owners of lands will themselves defray the cost of all improvements from purely sanitary or humane motives is delusive. The effect of such improvements is sure sooner or later to tell against the tenants, who contribute by way of rent the means which the owners are called upon to lay out, and we desire that this truism may not be lost sight of in revising the municipal law. We are constrained to say that it has been overlooked in the matters above set forth, and in several other minor subjects.

As material alterations have been introduced in the Bill, we would recommend that the amended Bill with the Report of the Select Committee and this Dissent be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

(c) or which are kept at any place more than eight miles distant from Government House, and are only temporarily and casually used within the Town, the Suburbs, or Howrah.

On failure to register, the Justices may seize and sell cart and animals.

64. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered, without having caused the same to be registered, the Justices or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may seize such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of the seizure in the conveyance of passengers or goods), together with the animals or cattle drawing the same, and may detain them;

and all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Justices or their Officers as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of a Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE RATES.

PART I.—Of Imposing the Rates.

Rates.

65. The Justices shall, as provided in section forty-one, impose upon all houses and land within the Town the following annual rates, which shall be calculated on the annual value of the said houses and land—

(a) a House-rate, not exceeding ten per cent.;

(b) a Water-rate, not exceeding six per cent. when the houses and land are situated in streets supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section one hundred and six, and not exceeding five per cent. when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied.

(c) a Police rate, not exceeding three per cent.;

(d) a Lighting rate, not exceeding two per cent.

The Justices may impose upon all houses and land situated within the boundaries notified under section one hundred and forty-five an annual Drainage rate, not exceeding two and a half per cent. of their annual value.

The House-rate, Water-rate, and Drainage-rate shall be payable by the owners of the houses and land.

The Police and Lighting rates shall be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

All the rates hereinbefore mentioned shall be payable by quarterly instalments.

The House-rate shall be payable on the first of April, the first of July, the first of October, and the first of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

The Police, Lighting, and Water-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarters.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rates.

If assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

66. If the annual value of any land as assessed under Chapter V, shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

Owner of land to be deemed owner of house thereon situate.

67. For the purposes of the House-rate and Water-rate, the owner of any land upon which any house is situated shall be deemed to be the owner of such house, and shall be liable to the House-rate and Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

Remission of house-rate when house vacant.

68. Where any house or land, whereon the rate is assessed under section sixty-five, has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Provided that no remission shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

Owners paying Water-rate to be repaid three-fourths by occupiers.

69. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the occupier of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may, if there be but one occupier of such house or land, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the Water-rate so paid, and if there be more than one occupier, may recover from each of such occupiers, such sum as shall bear to three-fourths of the entire amount of Water-rate so paid, the same proportion as the value of the portion of such house or land in the occupation of such occupier, bears to the entire value of such house or land.

Owner of land on which house situate when entitled to recover house-rate and water-rate from owner of house.

70. Whenever the owner of any land on which any house is situated shall not be the owner of such house, and shall have paid the House-rate or Water-rate for such land and for such house, he may recover from the owner of such house the entire amount of the House-rate or Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

Power to recover sums payable under last two sections as rent.

71. Every person who, under either of the two last preceding sections, or under section sixty-six, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupier or other person, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house or land in respect of which such sum is payable.

Person sub-letting to different persons to be deemed occupier.

72. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the Water-rate has or may sublet the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Three-fourths of rate remitted for unoccupied house or land.

73. Three-fourths of the Water-rate payable in respect of any house or land shall be remitted for the period during which such house or land may remain unoccupied, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Refund of Water-rate to owners of unoccupied house or land.

74. Whenever any quarterly instalment of Water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such Water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Rate payable for house or land becoming occupied.

75. Whenever any house or land, which shall have been unoccupied, shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land, such amount of Water-rate as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalment of Water-rate for such house or land, the same proportion as the residue of such quarter, after such house or land shall be occupied, bears to an entire quarter.

Refund to occupier on termination of occupation.

76 Whenever the occupier of any house or land shall, pending any quarter, cease to occupy the house or land, he shall be liable to repay to the person by whom the Water-rate of the house or land is payable, such part only of the quarterly instalment of Water-rate payable in respect of such quarter, as shall bear to three-fourths of such quarterly instalment the same proportion as the period which shall have elapsed from the first day of such quarter till he cease to occupy shall bear to the entire quarter; and in case he shall have repaid to the person who shall have paid such quarterly instalment to the Justices any sum greater than such part, he shall be entitled to recover from such person any sum which he may have paid in excess of such part, or to deduct the same from any rent due to such person.

PART III.—Of the Occupier's Rates.

Refund of Police and Lighting rate when house ceases to be occupied.

77. The Police-rate and the Lighting-rate shall be payable by the occupier of the house or land on which the said rates shall have been assessed, and the said rates shall be payable in advance by the said occupier on the dates mentioned in section sixty-five.

Whenever any quarterly instalment of the said rates shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

78. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Justices may impose the Police and Lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

Owner to recover from occupier rates paid by owner.

79. If the Police and Lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

80. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

Annual value of house or land how to be ascertained.

81. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body.

Annual value to be assessed by the Justices; assessment to remain in force for six years.

82. All assessments made by the Justices prior to the passing of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Justices, and such land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

When substantial improvement made Justices may re-assess.

83. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

When substantial injury done Justices may re-assess.

84. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section eighty-two, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices shall, as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment;

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section eighty-three.

Annual value assessed to be entered in a book.

85. The annual value assessed by the Justices as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

(a) the name of the owner;

(b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;

(c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;

(d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and

(e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

New valuation or measurement to be made

86. The Justices shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the Town, and for such purpose may divide the Town into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

87. The Justices may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on to, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land.

Penalty.

88. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Justice of the Peace, or any person appointed by the Justices as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

89. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Justices, shall have been completed, the Justices shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two vernacular newspapers, published within the Town, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.

90. The Justices shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

Appeals.

91. Appeals against any assessment made by the Justices under this Chapter shall lie

(a) to not less than three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices;

(b) to the Court of Small Causes.

Notice to be given by person appealing.

92. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the notice referred to in section eighty-nine, deliver at the office of the Justices a notice in writing, stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Justices whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices; and unless the appeal is preferred by the person who, at the time the appeal is made, shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.

93. The Justices shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a).

Every appeal under clause (b) shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Justices under the last preceding section.

Assessment by Justices when to be final.

94. The assessment by the Justices of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the two last preceding sections, shall be final and conclusive.

Assessments to be entered in assessment book.

95. The assessments made by the Justices in accordance with the provisions of section eighty-six, subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

96. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment, without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Justices, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections ninety-one and ninety-two, shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

New assessment book need not be prepared every three years.

97. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting,

Provided that sections eighty-seven, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four and ninety-five shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

CHAPTER VI.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

Bills to be presented.

98. When any rate is due, the Justices shall cause to be presented, to the person liable to the payment thereof, a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period, and a description of the property for which the rate is charged.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

Notice of demand.

99. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Justices may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the third schedule, or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Justices, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter, or if the defaulter be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Justices.

Distress.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Justices shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Inventory—notice of distress.

100. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the fifth schedule, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale

101. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Justices, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Justices, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall, so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force or hereafter to be in force, of the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distraints under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the fifth schedule.

Goods of defaulter, wherever found, may be distrained.

102. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

Rate due from owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

103. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Justices may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

104. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Justices may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

105. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realise by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

The Justices to provide water-supply.

106. The Justices shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

What are not domestic purposes

107. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

Pressure at which water must be kept

108. The Justices shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced, to a height of not less than fifty feet

Supply for business.

109 The Justices may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Justices in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Justices may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Justices.

Householder entitled to supply of water for domestic use.

110. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, one thousand gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Justices as Water rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Justices for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Justices may determine. If the Justices have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Justices to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid, shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Justices for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section

Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines

111. It shall be at the option of the Justices to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and wherever filtered water has been already supplied to such latrines or water-closets, it shall be lawful for the Justices, at their own expense, and not otherwise, to stop the supply of filtered water, and in lieu thereof to provide unfiltered water for such latrines and water-closets.

All latrines to be provided with cistern.

112 All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Justices shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

Communication pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of householder.

113. Every person paying the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Justices, for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Justices shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Justices into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material as the Justices shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

Communication-pipes, &c., must be made to satisfaction of Officer of the Justices.

114. The communication-pipes and all fittings thereon leading water from the service pipes of the Justices into any house or land, and the pipes, works, and fittings inside the house or land, must in all cases be executed subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the Justices.

Such communication-pipes, works, and fittings may be made by the servants and workmen of the Justices, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the Justices and the person requiring the supply, or subject to such charges as may be fixed by the Justices; and the Justices may require the amount necessary for the execution of such works to be paid or deposited before such works are executed; and such charges and expenses shall be recoverable in the same manner as the water rate.

Power to enter premises.

115. The Officer authorised in that behalf by the Justices may, between the hours of seven in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, enter into or on any house or land supplied with water as aforesaid, in order to examine all pipes, works, and fittings connected with the supply of water, and to ascertain if there be any waste or misuse of such water; and if such Officer at any such time be refused admittance into such house or land for the purposes aforesaid, or be prevented from making such examination as aforesaid, the Justices may forthwith turn off the water from such house or land.

When pipes are out of repair, Justices may turn off water

116. In the event of any pipes, works, or fittings connected with the supply of water to any house or land, being at any time found on examination by any officer of the Justices authorised in that behalf to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, the Justices may cause the water to be turned off from such house or land, and may recover the expense incurred for turning off the water from the occupier of such house or land

Water may be cut off on neglect to pay the rate

117. If any person supplied with water shall neglect to pay the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned at any of the times of payment thereof, or the charge made for the said water when supplied for other than domestic purposes, the Justices may turn off the water from the house or land in respect of which such rate or charge is payable, by cutting off the pipe to such house or land, or by such means as the Justices may think fit, and may recover the expenses of turning off the water from such person;

Provided that the stopping or cutting off the supply of water shall not relieve any person from any penalties or liabilities which he may otherwise have incurred.

Occupier in whose house water is wasted liable to penalty.

118. The occupier of any house or land in which water supplied by the Justices under this Act is, from negligence or other circumstances under the control of the said occupier, wasted, or in whose house or land the pipes, works, and fittings for the supply of water shall be found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause any waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Person causing waste of water liable to penalty.

119. Any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Justices at their discretion may allow person outside the Town to take water.

120. It shall be within the discretion of the Justices to allow any person, not residing within the limits of the Town, to take or be supplied with water for his domestic use on such terms as the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may from time to time prescribe. And any person taking or causing to be taken for use outside the limits of the Town water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Penalty.

Person executing any work for laying on water must hold a license from the Justices.

121. It shall not be lawful for any person to execute any work in connection with the laying on of water from any service pipes of the Justices to any house or land, unless he shall hold a license from the Justices authorising him to act as a plumber under such rules and regulations as the Justices may from time to time lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of his license. Powers of Justices in making public sewers.

193. The Justices in making any main or other sewers for the drainage of the Town, may, if necessary, carry such sewers through, across, or under any public street, or any place laid out as, or intended for, a street, or any cellar or vault which may be under any of the public streets, and (after reasonable notice in writing in that behalf) into, through, or under any land whatsoever, making full compensation for any damage done thereby; and if any dispute shall arise with respect to the amount or apportionment of such compensation, the same shall be settled in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

194. The Justices shall maintain, and from time to time repair, and as they think fit, enlarge, alter, arch over, or otherwise improve all or any of the sewers and drains vested in them:

and may discontinue, close up, or destroy such of them as they may deem useless or unnecessary.

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Cleansing and emptying sewers.

195. The Justices shall, so far as the Municipal Fund permits, cause the sewers and drains vested in them to be so constructed, maintained, and kept, as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and to be properly cleared, cleansed, and emptied; and for the purpose of flushing, cleansing, and emptying the same, may construct and place, either above or underground, such reservoirs, sluices, engines, and other necessary works; and may also, with the sanction of the local Government, cause all or any of such sewers and drains to communicate with, and be emptied into, any tidal river or other fit place, or cause the refuse from such sewers and drains to be conveyed by a proper channel to the most convenient site for its deposit, and may sell the same for any agricultural or other purpose as may be deemed most expedient, but so that the same shall not become a nuisance.

Bed of stream receiving sewerage to be cleared.

196. When the contents of any sewer or drain, or any other flow of filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream, in the Unauthorised drains leading into public sewers may be demolished.

197. If any person, without the written consent of the Justices first obtained, makes or causes to be made, or alters or causes to be altered, any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Justices, the Justices may cause such branch drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit;

Justices empowered to make drains from houses which are not properly drained.

199. If any house or land within the Town and within a reasonable distance of a sewer fit for use, or of some tidal river or other place at which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers, be at any time not drained to the satisfaction of the Justices by sufficient drains or pipes communicating with some sewer, tidal river, or other place as aforesaid, the Justices may, if the owner neglects to do so within fifteen days after notice, construct or lay through or from such house or land, covered drains, or pipes, of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as they shall think necessary for the complete draining of such house or land; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

202. If it appear to the Justices that a group or block of houses may be drained or improved more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size already exists, or is about to be constructed, within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Justices may cause such group or block of houses to be drained and improved by a combined operation; and if, upon such inspection, it appears that such drain, privy, or cess-pool is not in good order and condition, or that it has been constructed contrary to the provisions of this Act, the expenses of such inspection shall be paid by the person to whom such drain, privy, or cess-pool may belong;

but if the drain, privy, or cess-pool be found to be in proper order and condition, and not to have been constructed in violation of the provisions of this Act, the Justices or Officer as aforesaid shall cause the ground to be closed and made good as soon as may be, and the expenses of opening, closing, and making good such drain, privy, or cess-pool, shall in that case be paid by the Justices.

and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person so erecting the house.

Level of houses hereafter built within the Town.

246. No house shall be built within the Town upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river or other place into which the Justices are empowered to empty their sewers.

Houses hereafter built to have drains constructed under the orders of the Justices.

247. If any house newly erected or re-built within the Town have such means of drainage, as in the last preceding section mentioned, existing within one hundred feet thereof, the owner shall make a drain leading thereunto from the site of such house of such materials, of such size, at such level, and with such fall, as the Justices may direct;

and if he neglect to do so within a reasonable time, the Justices may cause the same to be done, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Erection of new huts to be under the control of the Justices.

248. It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a hut, or any range or block of huts or sheds, or to add any hut or shed to any range or block already existing at the commencement of this Act, without previous notice to the Justices, and the Justices may require such huts or sheds to be built so that they may stand in regular lines, with a free passage or way in front of and between every two lines, of such width as they may think proper for ventilation and to facilitate scavengering, and with such number of privies and with such means of drainage as to them may seem necessary, and at such a level as will admit of such drainage, and with a plinth at least two feet above the level of the nearest public street.

Power of Justices as to existing huts.

251. Whenever the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, are satisfied, from inspection, or by report of competent persons, that any existing block of huts in the Town is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are constructed or crowded together, or of the want of drainage and the impracticability of scavengering, attended with risk of disease, or prejudicial to the health of the inhabitants or the neighbourhood, they may cause a notice to be fixed to some conspicuous part of such block of huts, requiring the owners or occupiers thereof, or, at the option of the Justices, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Justices for that purpose, to cause such huts to be removed, and such roads and drains to be made and the low lands to be filled up, and to execute such other operations as the Justices may deem necessary for the avoidance of such risk.

Justices may cause huts to be taken down.

And in case such owners or occupiers, or the owner of the land, shall refuse or neglect to execute such operations within the time appointed, the Justices may cause such huts to be taken down, or such operations to be performed as the Justices may deem necessary to prevent such risk, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner of the land.

If such huts be pulled down, the Justices shall cause the materials of each hut to be sold separately, if such sale can be effected; and the proceeds shall be paid to the owner of the hut, or if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, shall be held in deposit by the Justices, until the person interested therein shall obtain the order of a competent Court for the payment of the same.

The Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent Court for that purpose.

Notice of new buildings to be given to the Justices.

252. Before beginning, within the Town, to build or re-build any house, the person intending to build or re-build such house shall give to the Justices notice thereof in writing, and shall accompany such notice with a plan, showing the levels and width at which the foundation and lowest floor of such house are proposed to be laid, by reference to some level ascertained under the direction of the Justices.

Justices to signify disapproval within fourteen days.

253. Within fourteen days after receiving such notice as is mentioned in the last preceding section, the Justices shall signify their approval of the proposed levels and width of foundation, or, if they disapprove thereof, they shall fix other levels and width of foundation in lieu thereof within the same time.

Houses built without notice, or contrary to provisions of this Act, may be altered by the Justices.

254. If such building as is mentioned in the two last preceding sections be begun or made without sending such notice and plan as are mentioned in section two hundred and fifty-two, or at any levels different from those fixed by the Justices within the said fourteen days, or in any other respect contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Justices may, if necessary, cause such building to be altered or demolished as the case may require; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions aforesaid.

If Justices fail to signify approval, &c., within fourteen days, parties may proceed without.

255. If the Justices fail to signify in writing their approval or disapproval of the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and to fix other levels and width of foundation within fourteen days after receiving such notice and plan as aforesaid, the person giving such notice may, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, proceed to build or re-build the house therein referred to, according to the levels and width of foundation shown on such plan:

Provided that such building or re-building be otherwise in accordance with this Act.

Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, where any public street will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work, shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the street, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Justices, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted during the night.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Justices, and shall not keep up the said hoard or fence for a time longer than allowed in the said written permission.

Penalty.

257. Every person, who begins to build, or to take down or alter, or repair, any house contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, or who, without license, erects or sets up any hoards, scaffolding, or fence whatsoever, or who, being licensed, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to continue the same standing, or to maintain the same in good condition, or who does not, while the said hoards or fences are standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted during the night, or who does not remove the same, when directed by the Justices, within eight days, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and a further fine, not exceeding twenty rupees, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

TEXT-BOOKS FOR VERNACULAR SCHOLARSHIPS.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated Darjeeling, the 28th June 1875.

IN my Minute of the 3rd May 1875 on the subject of "Scholarships for Vernacular Education and Encouragement of Elementary Practical Science," I examined the style of text-books prescribed for each of the several subjects of the standard for the Vernacular Scholarships, and expressed my satisfaction with some of those already in use, and amongst others with Mr. Clarke's History of the World, and Mr. Lethbridge's History and Geography of Bengal, both of which were written in English, and have been translated into Bengalee. I adopted these two books, because these were understood to be standard works already in use, and accepted as such. Not having heard of any better works on the same subjects, and as the time had arrived when notice must be given for the ensuing year, I followed on these points that practice which I found in existence. The changes ordered in that Minute related to other branches.

2. Since the appearance of that Minute, I have seen it stated that the translations of the above-mentioned text-books are defective; that really good books, composed by native authors and adapted to the capacity of native students, have been overlooked or excluded, and that this selection of English works, translated into Bengalee, will be damaging to the cause of vernacular literature.

3. It has not been suggested what Bengalee works should take the places of these particular text-books to which objections have been made, and I know not whether any books, written by native authors in the vernacular, exist which would be suitable as substitutes. I have little doubt but that, with the progress of education, we shall before long see original compositions of merit in these particular branches, history and geography; but at present I do not find that such original compositions are forthcoming, or that, if forthcoming, they have been accepted as standard works. When such works are presented, I shall be glad to see them prescribed as text-books in future years. Meanwhile, these translations have been made from manuals specially prepared by experienced officers for this country. If there are mistakes in the translations, they can be corrected without much difficulty in future editions.

4. In the vernacular education of the natives, I think it right that, if possible, original vernacular works by native authors should be used in preference to translations from European works. Cæteris paribus an original native work should certainly be preferred for this purpose. But while laying down this principle, I would not adopt such works at Government schools unless they were at least of nearly equal merit with works translated from the English.

5. I wish, then, that the Director of Public Instruction may be requested to look into this matter and see whether there are any original vernacular compositions which could properly be substituted for the works named above; and if any native gentleman, author or otherwise, has any such book to produce, he would do well to communicate with the Director of Public Instruction, who will be able to give it his consideration, and to submit the matter for the orders of Government if necessary.

SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT VACCINATION IN BENGAL.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 28th June 1875.

In reference to the correspondence before the Government of Bengal, regarding our system of vaccination by the State, I have had the advantage of considering the subject in consultation with Dr. Lidderdale, the Superintendent of the North Bengal or Darjeeling Circle of Vaccination, and I desire to record the following remarks.

2. It has always appeared to me that there is a danger of our operations in the way of vaccination being too desultory. To vaccinate a few hundreds of persons in a particular place, or a few thousands in a particular district, may be, I presume must be, beneficial to the persons vaccinated; but will do little, perhaps almost nothing, to ward off small-pox from that place or that district. Whereas, according to my apprehension of the case, the real object is, or should be, to take up a locality and to go on vaccinating there till all the residents—first children, then adults—have been vaccinated; till all the people there have thus received the protection which vaccination is scientifically proved to afford; then to make arrangements for vaccinating those children who may be subsequently born, and all new-comers and immigrants. If this be thoroughly done, we may believe that small-pox will be banished from that locality.

3. It may be very well to afford the protection of vaccination to so many hundreds and so many thousands of persons out of a great population, which is all that we effect by scattered or desultory operations. We cannot, however, measure the real amount of good done in this way, because, after all, the individuals vaccinated might have escaped small-pox even without vaccination. Our purpose should be much larger than this: namely, to prevent altogether the occurrence of small-pox, a disease which year by year causes much of death and misery among the people; and this can be done only by concentrated vaccination as above described. If after such persistent and sustained effort having been exerted in a particular district, it is found that during several consecutive years small-pox has failed to appear in that district, then we may measure the good that has been done by the vaccination; for it is humanly certain that without the vaccination the disease must, at some season or other, have made its appearance. Therefore the proper, perhaps the only, test of success in vaccination is the total disappearance of small-pox. If after our perseverance in this work the disease ceases to occur, then indeed we may point to success. If not, that is if the disease continues to occur, then it is vain to point to the statistical returns of the numbers vaccinated.

4. Again, it is only by the attainment of such practical and demonstrable success that the people will be induced to believe in the efficacy of vaccination; and unless such popular belief shall be brought about, it is difficult to see how so great a population as that of Bengal can ever be brought under vaccination. And unless this can ultimately be done, that is unless the people at large are vaccinated, there is no hope that small-pox can ever be suppressed in the country. The Government may, and will, make a beginning with vaccination, point the way for prosecuting the work, and demonstrate its benefits to the people; but the Government can hardly undertake to vaccinate so many millions of people, or to maintain the great establishments which would be required for such a purpose. If the people at large are ever to be vaccinated, it must mainly be by their own exertions, prompted by their own belief in the efficacy of vaccination. They may indeed look to the Government for scientific guidance, for support, and co-operation; but the work in the main must be done by themselves, if it is to be done at all.

5. But it is not to be expected that the people will have faith in vaccination until they see for themselves that it actually succeeds in warding off small-pox from the country. The Europeans and the educated classes of natives may believe in the scientifically ascertained fact that vaccination prevents small-pox; but the mass of the people will not, it is to be feared, believe this until they see that the disease actually is prevented. Once they see that, then probably they will not be slow to adopt vaccination extensively or universally; and then, but not till then, will success be attained. Now, scattered or desultory operations do not at all tend to produce such belief; but, on the contrary, tend rather to prevent its arising at all, or to weaken it when it may have begun to arise. The people see vaccination going on to a certain limited extent year after year; they further see that, notwithstanding all this, small-pox recurs much the same as before. They have no scientific knowledge that they should see the real merits of the case, and they draw the inference that vaccination is not of any practical use. If, under such circumstances, their inference should be in this wise, we need hardly feel surprise.

6. On the other hand, there is reason to suppose that the people are disposed to seek for protection against small-pox, if they can only find any means which may command their confidence; for they already resort to some extent to the partial protection afforded by the scientifically obsolete method of inoculation. As is well known, the benefit of this inoculation is not at all in the warding off of small-pox from the individual who has been inoculated, but only in producing a mild attack of the disease itself, and which prevents its occurrence in a severer form. Further, this remedy not only does nothing to keep off small-pox from the neighbourhood, but actually introduces the disease in what may be called an artificial manner. And small-pox thus introduced, in however mitigated a form, sets up all the infectious and contagious influences which would ordinarily arise from a spontaneous outbreak of the disease. Consequently the result of inoculation can at the best be but slightly beneficial. The faith in it, however, languidly survives. The people apparently suppose it to be better than nothing. Probably they esteem vaccination as hardly more efficacious. And, unless we render our vaccination more demonstrably successful in its general result, they will hardly believe in its superiority to inoculation.

7. We have power by law to prohibit the practice of inoculation. We do not enforce this prohibition in any districts save those where vaccination is going on; but wherever the vaccination is effectually diffused, there inoculation must be prohibited. This done, the persons who have been wont to practice as inoculators, who form a class of rural practitioners, may probably be converted into vaccinators. They may be instructed in vaccination, and when qualified may be licensed by the Government officers to practice as vaccinators. They would not receive any salary from Government, but would have to look to their earnings as vaccinators, instead of their former earnings as inoculators. Occasionally they might, however, receive rewards at the discretion of the Government officers. The existence of such a class should supply, with good management, a ready-made machinery for carrying on the work of vaccination among the mass of the people. These men must, however, be properly supervised in their work, and I am quite prepared to concur in the maintenance of a special staff of supervisors for this purpose, to be paid by Government.

8. It appears to me then that the Superintendent of Vaccination should take up a particular part of the country, and concentrate his efforts upon that until he has done with it. Then, and not till then, should he move on to the next tract, which he would treat in the same manner, and so on. By concentration of efforts I understand the following measures in the tract selected. First, inoculation is to be prohibited. Then every person, of whatsoever age, who will consent to be vaccinated, should be vaccinated. No effort should be spared to persuade the people to be vaccinated, both themselves and their children especially. The object should be not to vaccinate a few here and there, but, if possible, every one without exception. Not until this is accomplished can success be said to be completely attained. If this shall be fortunately accomplished, then the Superintendent should quit that locality and carry his Government establishment on to the next place, leaving the old ex-inoculators, who will meanwhile have been trained as vaccinators, in charge of the current work of vaccination, that is the vaccinating of new-comers and of children who may subsequently be born. Thus the protection against small-pox, which will have been afforded by the visit of the Superintendent, will be permanently maintained.

9. It is a great satisfaction to me to find that the principle of concentration, as above explained, is fully concurred in by Dr. Lidderdale, and that he is already acting upon it. At present he has selected the area on the right bank of the Brahmapootra (or more properly to be called the Juboona) river in the district of Bogra. When he is satisfied with that area, he will proceed to the Dinagepore district. He seems to have made progress in winning the people to faith in the beneficence of the measure. I would accord to him high commendation for his efforts; and I would sanction occasional rewards to those members of his native establishment who have distinguished, or may yet distinguish, themselves by practical success.

10. The principle, as above laid down, is of course equally applicable to the other vaccination circles besides that of North Bengal: namely, the Eastern or Dacca Circle, the Central or Presidency Circle, and the Circle of Calcutta.

11. I may take this opportunity of observing that no circle for vaccination has yet been established either in Behar or in Orissa. I desire that a communication be made to the Commissioners of the Patna and Bhagulpore Divisions with this view, and that the Commissioner of Orissa be also addressed on the subject. I understand it to be the opinion of the local authorities in Orissa that vaccination is not likely to be appreciated by the people there; but it is difficult to perceive the reason for this view, if, as is probably the case, small-pox afflicts Orissa in common with other provinces. Naturally, if the people of Orissa were to find, after actual experience, that vaccination affords protection against that disease, they would be willing, or desire to be vaccinated. If this be so, then it would hardly be consistent with the policy of Government to debar them from this advantage, merely because they, having no means of knowing, by practical demonstration, the efficacy of vaccination, do not as yet appreciate the beneficence of that measure. I desire that the Commissioner of Orissa be addressed further on this subject.

More rain is wanted in the latter sub-division. Transplantation of rice is going on rapidly. Bhadoi crops are progressing well.
31	Saran, „ 3, „	4·04	Weather damp and cloudy, with frequent heavy showers of rain. Clear at the time of report. There has been heavy rain throughout the week, which has benefited the crops. Ploughing and sowing going on briskly. A break in the weather is desirable to admit of the makai sowings being completed, and the bhadoi fields being weeded. 32	Chumparun, „ 2, „	2·45	The weather during the early part of the week was close and hot, and the rain of the 1st did not come before it was wanted. The fall up to the present moment has been ample for all requirements. The prospects of the crops continue excellent.
Bhagulpore Divn. 33	Monghyr, „ 3, „	7·48	Weather cloudy. Very heavy rain during the week. Fine weather is wanted.
34	Bhagulpore, „ 5,* „	2·18	Rain of the 30th June has been very favorable to transplanting paddy in Muddehpoora. Prospects so far appear good. Some damage from inundation is reported from Banka sub-division. Fever has broken out in Muddehpoora. Rainfall reports from Soopool and Banka not received.
35	Purneah, „ 3, „	2·70	Stormy weather. Though the rainfall up to date is far below the average, the prospects of the rice and jute crops continue good. The small rainfall has been very favorable for indigo.

39	Balasore, „ 2, „	.....	Rainfall at Bhudruck 2·82 inches. Young crops strong and healthy. Sowing finished; weeding commenced. Severe cholera has broken out in the south of the district, along the pilgrim route.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, July 2, '75	4·62	Rain more or less for five days out of seven; cloudy and gloomy weather. The wet and gloomy weather has hindered the growth of the bhadoi considerably, though no actual damage has yet been done. Fine weather anxiously looked for, and much wanted.
41	Lohardugga	.....	Return not received.
42	Singbhoom, „ 2, „	3·08	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. District is healthy.
43	Manbhoom, „ 3, „	2·25	Weather favourable generally. Too much rain reported from Govindpore. The district officer says that, judging from what he himself saw, and from what the police generally report, all crops were flourishing. The officer at Govindpore, however, reports that the people of that part of the district consider the late rain prejudicial to the biree pulse and Indian-corn crops now in the ground.

* Telegram of the 5th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I.—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1*st*.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceedings.

2*nd*.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3*rd*.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 42 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 48.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordance with the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

7. Every owner or occupier of any house, land, or premises, in or on which any privy may be situated, the disposal of whose night-soil the municipality may not have undertaken, shall, after 6 hours' notice, give free access to his house, land, or premises to any officer, not under the rank of an overseer, who may wish to inspect the same, within such hours as the municipality may from time to time determine.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 5.

10. No person shall throw, deposit, or discharge any night-soil, sewage, or the contents of any drain, privy, or cesspool, into any river, tank, khal, water-course, or receptacle for water, or dispose of the above-mentioned kinds of offensive matters in any other way than as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

Penalty for infringement, Rs. 20.

11. The Municipal Commissioners may direct the use of lime, coal—tar, carbolic acid, or other deodorants or disinfectants in any privy or premises if at any time it seem to them necessary for the preservation of public health, or for the prevention of infection or spread of disease: provided that the Municipal Commissioners shall be bound to supply such deodorants, &c., at cost price, and the price shall be recoverable as a debt due to the Commissioners.

12. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to charge a fee, at a rate to be fixed hereafter by the Municipal Commissioners, according to circumstances, for the reception of night-soil to be deposited at their depôts by any mehter or person other than their own servants, and such fee shall be paid in advance for not less than one month. Unless such charge be paid, the soil will not be received.

13. No person shall carry night-soil through the streets otherwise than in a closely covered receptacle, of such description and pattern as shall be required from time to time by the Municipal Commissioners, and between such hours as the Municipal Commissioners may from time to time direct.

The 6th July 1875.—Under Section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following amended rules of the Registration Rules published at pages 1488 and 628 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873 and 25th March 1874, in modification of Rules 125, 129, and 145 :—

Rule 125.—A permanent advance, not exceeding Rs. 200, will be allowed for each District Registrar on account of (1) contingencies, (2) service postage, and (3) refund of registration fees; but he need not draw the full advance of Rs. 200 where his ordinary expenses fall much below that amount. The Registrar will apportion the amount drawn according to the requirements of each subordinate office, care being taken that for Rural Offices a sum is allowed sufficient to meet charges for refunds only; while in the case of other Sub-Registry Offices, it should be such as to cover charges for contingencies as well as refunds. In cases of the dismissal or death of Rural Sub-Registrars, the District Registrar will be held responsible for the amount of the advances made by him. At the close of each official year the District Registrar will send an acknowledgment of the entire advance to the Accountant-General, Bengal, in A. G. B. form No. 151, of which a supply should be kept at hand.

Rule 129.—All official letters and covers sent by post from any Sub-Registry or District Registry office must be prepaid by service labels. These labels will be supplied to Sub-Registrars (on application) by District Registrars, who will disallow unreasonable and excessive demands. A monthly statement of the distribution of service labels should be submitted by each District Registrar for the information of the Inspector-General. The cost of these labels will be met from the consolidated advance mentioned in Rule 125. All bills for bearing covers must be accompanied by the covers on which the payments were made as vouchers. Service labels will be purchased by District Registrars as they require them, the expenditure being included in their monthly contingent bill, supported by the Treasury Officer's receipt as vouchers.

Rule 132.—The advance received by a Sub-Registrar will never be repaid into the Treasury, but recouped from time to time, when necessary, by the submission to the Registrar of an abstract bill or bills supported by needful vouchers. On the first Office day after the 25th March in each year, the officer receiving the advance will forward an acknowledgment of its receipt to the District Registrar. Whenever there is a change of incumbency, the relieving officer shall also address to the Registrar an acknowledgment in the following form :—

And I the relieving officer acknowledge to have received Rupees of the permanent advance of Rupees , and that the full amount of such advance is due from and to be accounted for by me.

Dated the 18 . relieving officer.

Rule 145.—When the expenditure during any month on account of contingencies, service postage, and refunds, in any Registrar's Office exceeds the amount of the permanent advance, the amount expended may be drawn by an abstract bill or bills (see Accountant-General's form No. 119) submitted during the month under the Registrar's signature. But in such cases a detailed bill (see Accountant-General's form No. 138), accompanied by vouchers, must also be submitted to the Inspector-General at the end of the month.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th July 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Dacca, Furreedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Captain, M.S.C.,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

No. 129, dated Dacca, the 14th December 1874.

From—D. R. LYALL, ESQ., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Dacca,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report on the works done by the District Road Cess Committee during the cess year 1873-74, and those proposed during the year 1874-75.

2.—WORKS DONE IN 1873-74.

(1.) The two pucca bridges on the Manickgunge Shealo road, left partially unfinished last year, have been completed this year at a cost of Rs. 4,612-13-11, including the last year's outlay; and of the remaining twelve bridges, the bridges in the Shadkha bheel (two spans of ten feet), the Bogadur bheel (two spans of ten feet), over the Rathoora halut (one span of ten feet), in Geelando bheel (one span of four feet), and over Jokah halut (one span of four feet), have been completed; whilst the bridges over the Baniajoori khall (two spans of fifteen feet) and Andhar Manick khall (one span of fifteen feet) have been more than half completed. Altogether about 31,000 out of 50,000 cubic feet of masonry estimated have been actually executed. The total expenditure incurred on them is Rs. 13,098-15-1. The reason of the whole not being done is that the brick contractor failed to supply bricks. A number were damaged owing to the early rains, and one kiln turned out useless, as reported to you in my letter No. 481, dated 27th July last.

During the year under report the entrance of the excavation at Shealo has been also closed by a bund.

(2.) The Pannia khall—about 3½ miles has been excavated at an outlay of Rs. 19,898-5-5. Owing to the early rain, water broke in when about a foot remained to be excavated; but it is believed that the khall has deepened of itself, and that little or nothing will remain to be done except to clear away a bar at the mouth.

(3.) The Dussorah khall has been levelled and surveyed, and the Kantabutty khall partly surveyed during the year, at a cost of Rs. 831-14 and Rs. 80 respectively.

(4.) The excavation of the Meerkadim khall has been also done at a cost of Rs. 7,859-8, out of which Rs. 5,476-8 have been paid by the Road Cess Committee. This khall was done by private enterprise, and the funds were supplemented by private subscription. It has afforded additional means of communication to the people of Bickrampore.

(5.) Nearly two-thirds of earthwork of the Bujrojuqui road, which was commenced last year, has been completed this year at a cost of Rs. 1,500. This expenditure has been defrayed by Baboo Kali Kishore Guha, a zemindar, by whom the work was undertaken, and who has applied for a similar grant from road cess funds to finish the construction of the remaining part of the road, together with three wooden bridges situated thereon.

(6.) In addition to the above, a tank has been also dug at Jola Meherpore Khas Mehal at a cost of Rs 1,019-8, including the price of a pump. This is not strictly road cess work, and has been done from a special grant made by Government from Provincial Reserve Fund.

(7.) Annual repairs have been effected to the Goalundo or Shealo Manickgunge road, which has stood the rains very well, and, though in places damaged by rats, is on the whole in a satisfactory state. The total cost under this head is Rs. 1,088-13-9.

(8.) A new bridge on the 7th mile of the Naraingunge road, in addition to the one erected last year, has been built with four feet more waterway than the old one, at a cost of Rs. 1,588-14-9. Two drains on the 1st mile were renewed at Rs. 22-15-3; and the iron suspension bridge and the bamboo spur work at Pagla, on the 1st and 4th miles respectively, were also repaired during the year at an expenditure of Rs. 167-13-6 and Rs. 70.

(9.) A portion of the Naraingunge road, 4½ miles in extent, has been also metalled at an outlay of Rs. 7,066-1-7.

(10.) Repairs have been done to the Kolatya, Joinshur, and a part of Srinaggar roads, at a cost of Rs. 1,810, Rs. 50, and Rs. 3,264-12 respectively.

(11.) The road from Dacca to Toke, commonly called the Mymensingh road, has been cleared of jungles and fully repaired; 23 wooden platform and 49 masonry bridges have been also repaired. The total outlay incurred is Rs. 8,919-15-3. The bridges on this road were found worse than was expected, and a sum in excess of the estimate has been expended. This was unavoidable in order to keep the road fit for traffic.

(12.) Petty village works were also carried on by the Branch Road Committees of the Sudder, Manickgunge, and Moonsheegunge sub-divisions; but as they are mere petty works, I do not think it necessary to notice them separately in this report. The total expenditure under this head was Rs. 3 817-11-9.

3. During the whole year the works of the Committee were managed by the Public Works Department under the supervision of the District Engineer, and I had several times brought to your notice the inadequacy of the establishment of the department to execute all the works of the Committee with due despatch.

4 The works carried on during the year under report were paid from the revenue derived under the Act from ferry ghâts, from Government grant, and other miscellaneous sources.

5. Five meetings of the Committee were held during the year to transact business, and the members attended regularly and took a lively interest in their business.

6.—WORKS PROPOSED FOR 1874-75.

(1.) Repairs to the road from Moonsheegunge to Srinaggar and bridges situated on the line.

(2) Three miles of the Narainguage road to be metalled, and repairs to be done to bridges and to spurs at Pagla. New wing walls of a bridge will be also constructed, and petty repairs to road up to Bydebazar will be carried on.

(3) The Kolatya road to be repaired, and temporary bridges to be constructed thereon.

(4) Petty repairs to be done to the Goalundo road and to the Toke road and bridges.

(5) The Goalundo line of road from Phulbariah to Dacca to be extended.

(6) Petty village works will be undertaken by the Branch Committees, for which Rs. 6,000 have been allotted.

(7) On arrival of the steam dredger, dredging operations in rivers to be carried on.

7. All the works of the Committee will be met from the proceeds of the Road Cess Fund of the year, which is to be derived from the following sources:—

1 Cess on lands,
2. Cess on houses,
3. Ferry tolls,
4 One per cent. road cess,
5. Government grant,
6. Other miscellaneous, and which is expected to amount to Rs 1,09,600.

8 A detailed account of receipts and disbursements of the past year 1873-74 have been submitted to you with my letter No 78, dated 20th ultimo.

D. R LYALL,
Chairman

No. 22C., dated Fureedpore, the 7th December 1874.

From—W. S. WELLS, ESQ., Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Fureedpore,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

THERE has been a little unavoidable delay in submitting the local improvement report, as the one prepared by the Executive Engineer of Backergunge and Fureedpore is too brief and scanty, and the Vice-Chairmen to the Road Cess Committee have been frequently changed; Baboo Jadab Chandra Gossammi having been removed to Dinagepore for relief purposes, and Mr. A. J. Fraser transferred at the end of October to Dacca. I, too, was absent on leave till the 16th ultimo, and my locum tenens left the matter until my return to the district. I am therefore writing the report myself.

2. All works over Rs. 1,000 have been executed under the supervision of the Executive Engineer of Backergunge and Fureedpore districts through the local establishment, Public Works Department, entertained in this district. The works under Rs. 1,000 were executed by the same establishment, but under the direct orders of the Committee. I have more than once advocated the amalgamation of Fureedpore to Dacca, as Burrisal, the head-quarters of the Executive Engineer under present arrangement, is out of the way,—only accessible by the great river, and distant by post, taking at least a week to obtain a reply. This transfer is, I believe, going to be made.

3. The total income for the last year was as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cess on lands	24,070	3	3
Cess on houses	1,144	12	3
Fines under the Act	844	8	1
Other cesses	810	11	11
Ferry tolls	1,370	4	3
Grants-in-aid	15,000	0	0
Sales of produce and stores	5	4	0
Fines and refunds	1,059	2	0
Miscellaneous (including private donations) ...	6,361	7	7
Total ...	50,666	5	4

4. Out of the aggregate net income of Rs. 50,666-5-4, Rs. 11,062-9-3 were expended by the Collector in maintaining throughout the year under review the road cess establishment necessary for cess operations in the sub-division of Madaripore, lately made over to this district from Backergunge, and to complete the statistical information called for by Government in Circular No. 2400, dated 22nd August 1873.

5. Under orders conveyed in Government Circular No. 32, dated 27th September 1873, Rs. 2,600 were granted to sub-divisional committees of Goalundo and Madaripore to be spent on village inter-communications.

6. This left Rs. 37,003-12-1 available for district thoroughfares.

7. There are no imperial roads in this district, every communication being constructed and kept up from these funds. It is not easy to find means to carry out original works. The roads often suffer serious injury from the ordinary annual floods, and are frequently cut by villagers for irrigation purposes, which makes the calls on our limited resources for each year's repairs somewhat heavy. I am happy, however, to be able to report that they have been less injured than is usually the case during the past rains. It may be said that it is far from creditable to the police and executive that the roads should be so frequently cut by the villagers. But the nature of the country must be taken into consideration. Wherever a road is made, it becomes in the rains an embankment which interferes with the general drainage of the country; and when the inundation is high and almost tops the bund, if ever so small a ditch is cut the water will do the rest for itself, and before daylight a large gap will be formed. No vigilance can meet such circumstances; and as all gain during a drought by the irrigation thus effected, it is impossible to ascertain the culprits. On the other hand, the expense of furnishing culverts and bridges, which would make it optional with cultivators to irrigate their grounds at pleasure, only required during abnormally dry weather, would be an expense which would make the laying out and retaining any roads impossible.

8. It is for this reason that the making of any new thoroughfare, however useful and necessary, is a very slow proceeding; and so the road between the Rajbari railway-station and Fureedpore has been on the stocks a long time. At present every rupee we can spare is laid out in buying up the ground and gradually progressing with this important work. Some 12 years ago it was the intention of Government to make this an imperial road, but it was ultimately left to the Ferry Fund, and subsequently to the Road Cess Fund.

9. The line of road originally planned by Mr. Donzelle, the Executive Engineer, ran in a somewhat straight line from a point about two miles down the Jessore road near the Goalchamut bridge, not far beyond the municipal precincts, through thana Belgatchi (Humlumpore), viâ Alladipore to Rajbari.

10. I found, however, that a road had been already constructed from Fureedpore to Kristopore, on the banks of what was then the Maraganga, a silted up branch of the river Pudda, and from Kristopore it ran close alongside the Maraganga to Chaudpur, in all a distance of seven miles.

11. This roadway was unbridged, and since taking charge I have bridged it throughout, except the broad khall at Gopalpore.

12. I regret to state, however, that the Ganges has set steadily on to this shore, and has cut away, say, 300 yards of the elbow at Kristopore.

13. Happily I spent a large portion of last year's money on the Rajbari end, and have completed the embankment for 3½ miles, to Alladipore.

14. The Committee at the last meeting, held on the 26th ultimo, has decided, and I think the decision good, to carry the road on the line made by Mr. Donzelle, and abandon the road alongside the Maraganga, as it will probably all be washed away if the river continues to impinge on this shore.

15. I explained these plans to you verbally on your late visit to this station, and it has, I believe, met with your approval. The road will be pushed on as far as possible, though of course the estimates lately sent you no longer apply, and much more money will be necessary.

16. Both lines of road are about the same length, from Fureedpore court-house to Rajbari railway-station, but the inner line which we have now adopted is only 16 miles from the point where it leaves the Jessore road.

17. The land will be taken up for the new road with as little delay as possible.

18. The Committee, with your sanction, has determined to devote Rs. 21,884 for the construction of this road during the year now commencing; and we have Rs. 8,022 in the hands of the Collector, which were made over to purchase land this side Alladipore. During the year under review we have made upwards of 1¼ miles of earthwork and turfing, devoting a large portion of the money, as before stated Rs. 8,022, to purchase land. The Committee is fully sensible of the paramount necessity of a road to the railway, which is at the same time one to the sub-divisional head-quarters at Goalundo; and every effort is made to save as much as we can fairly do, and to devote all we can spare to have a good thoroughfare practicable all the year round to the railway, as speedy postal communications with Calcutta and Dacca also depends on this being done. I propose to ask you in a separate communication to place the importance of this railway feeder before His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, and obtain the consent of Government to a small loan to enable us to buy the land and complete the earthwork this year. The loan could be repaid next year, and this road, it must be borne in mind, was once deemed of imperial importance and classed as an imperial work. It will form a portion of the thoroughfare to Maoaripore and Burrisal.

19. The Belgatchi road runs from a village where the thana of that name was situated. The thana is now ten miles distant, at a village called Humdumpore, which is more central within its jurisdiction. This road between Alladipore and Phultola, on the banks of the Maraganga, was part of the Rajbari feeder route now given up by the Committee. It will, however, be kept up as a fair-weather communication with Goalundo.

20. Before the inner Rajbari route was adopted, and during the past year, we built a bridge 12 feet span at Mallibari, on the road to Chandpur.

21. The Fureedpore Ghât road, connecting the abandoned Rajbari road with Fureedpore, was raised sufficiently just before the rains to form a good pathway during the inundation. As this will still be an important thoroughfare, this connecting link will be completed.

22. We now come to repair works.

23. The Pangsa road was received, when the thana came over to us in 1871, in a very deplorable condition. It was cut to pieces during the inundation that year, and every bridge was found to be old and broken down.

24. There is an English school at Pangsa, and the people are fully alive to their interests. They sent petition after petition to every public paper, to the Commissioner, to Government, and to this Committee, until, considerably against my inclination, we were forced to put their road into repair at a cost of Rs. 12,000, of which Rs. 5,823 are spent,—money which I hold should have been spent on the Rajbari road, which is much more important if the general interests of the district are considered.

25. This road is 27 miles in length, with 29 bridges to repair, or, in most cases, to construct a new as regards the whole upper portion.

26. When we have sufficient funds available, it will be of course a great advantage to carry the Pangsa road, which passes through Baliakandi to Madhukali, a place of commercial importance, on to Kanaipur, on the Jessore road; but we should confine our present resources to the completion of the Rajbari railway feeder, undoubtedly the first work on the list.

27. The Jessore road runs straight across the district, and was the old Grand Trunk Road, the main thoroughfare from Calcutta to Dacca eastward. We have not yet set straight the damage done by the inundations of 1870-1871. The three most important bridges, Goalchamat, Moozurdia, and Mysala, all fell in, of which the first only and smallest has been repaired.

28. Ferries meantime over the latter khalls serve every purpose.

29. Petty repairs were done to the whole length, 19 miles, and the earthwork throughout has been well kept up.

30. The Madhukhali road is in a very bad state, and nothing was done to it. It is not at present of importance, until the Pangsa road is repaired down to it.

31. The Talma road is 10 miles in length from Fureedpore to Manikuagar southward. Mention of this road is made in this office No. 687, dated 2nd instant, when reporting the best way of improving communications with Madaripore. It is made of light, friable soil, is close to the Ganges, and consequently cuts and fritters away every year. The embankment, however, is always thoroughly repaired each season, as the road is an important one, communicating with Talma and large places intended to be carried on to the Situl Luckya at thana Aimpore.

32. The old Talma road runs on the west side of the Dhol Samoodra, and was, I understand, abandoned, as the waves on the lake used to beat it to pieces. This, I think, is a matter for regret, as a fringe of dhoonchia (a strong reed) would have effectually defended it. This road has been partially repaired, as it runs through a populous tract.

33. The bund over Fureedpore khall, which protects the town and bridge from the violence of the stream in this waterway during the inundation, was repaired. The water was very high at one time, and flooded a portion of Goalchamat, very nearly topping the bund.

34. The Haturia road has been constructed under the Executive Engineer's supervision. The land for this thoroughfare was never legally acquired, and this is now being done. The work was taken over from Backergunge. This road is being constructed entirely at the charge of Baboo Kali Kisto Thakur, of Calcutta.

35. Golam Ali Choudhuri is anxious to make a branch road to meet the Hatooria road at his own expense; but the consideration of his offer is postponed till the completion of the Hatooria road. This gentleman, in fact, first offered to bear the cost of the construction of the Hatooria road.

36. The private ferries in this district are, as a rule, very unsatisfactorily worked by private proprietors; and the Committee, with your predecessor's approval, purchased the ferries at Fureedpore and Gopalpore. It is a matter for consideration whether the former should not be made free, or at all events the toll on passenger traffic be reduced, as many who come daily to business in Fureedpore live across the khall, and many who attend the bi-weekly market or seek labour in the municipality are charged one pice either way for being ferried across the khall.

37. This concludes my general remarks. The figured details of income and expenditure will furnish every other information needed which is not already given in previous annual reports.

38. The actual income from ferries is shown at Rs. 1,370-4-3 out of Rs. 1,426 which were budgeted, which means that the Rs. 1,370 odd were realized up to the 30th October, when this account was made up.

39. I attach the sub-divisional reports in original.

40. The Goalundo Committee was granted Rs. 4,000 on receipt of the Government circular directing 10 per cent. to be devoted to village thoroughfares under local management. I very properly considered the fair-weather road towards Fureedpore of the first importance, as the traffic on it, both pedestrian and cart, is very large. The other three undertakings were completely local in their nature, and affected only the interests in the immediate vicinity.

41. Goalundo receives a very large portion of our funds for the Rajbari feeder; the Pangsa and Belgatchi roads are all mainly within this sub-division.

42. None of the cess income was spent on Madaripore, as the Act is not yet enforced in that sub-division. The assessment operations are, however, being carried on as fast as the law permits.

43. We received Rs 800 from Backergunge, which we gave to the Madaripore Committee. This year we have received nothing from Government for this sub-division. Act VI (B.C.) of 1868 will shortly be extended to the town of Madaripore, chiefly inhabited by a very prosperous commercial community; and I trust the sub-divisional officers will be able to complete with town funds the works which the local committee undertook, as cess money, when it comes, could not be utilised to carry them on.

44. As this report exhausts all that we have done, and contains all that we hope to do, I conclude that no separate annual report is now necessary.

No. 363, dated Goalundo, the 9th November 1874.

To—The Magistrate of Fureedpore.

IT was not until late in the season I became aware of the fact that Rs. 4,000 had been sanctioned out of the road cess for works in this sub-division.

The Sub-Committee held three meetings, and the following works were decided upon:—

No. 1.—Repair of Fureedpore road to Panchooriya.
No. 2.—Repair of road to Hoomoriya Ghât.
No. 3.—Excavation of Rampore Khal.
No. 4.—Excavation of Pangsa Khal.

					Rs.
No. 1 was commenced in	April	and completed in	June	at a cost of ...	... 1,325
No. 2	ditto	May	ditto	ditto ...	... 180
				Total	... 1,505

The Sub-Committee had no overseer, could get no contractors to undertake the excavation of the two khals for which Rs. 800 and Rs. 1,000 were respectively allotted, and these works were not therefore done. A balance of Rs. 2,495 is available for the present year

The work done in Nos. 1 and 2 was simply levelling the uneven surface and filling up the ruts and holes on these kutcha roads; but as the entire line of country from Goalundo to Panchooriya is below flood-level, and the roads were for upwards of four months under water, there has been very little good done.

During my cold-weather tour I saw the localities through which the two khals run, and am of opinion that no money should be laid out in deepening them until they are surveyed and proper levels are taken; and if a competent overseer were allowed me for a month, I could have this done early in the cold season to insure the excavations being completed before the close of the hot season.

No. 466, dated Madareepore, the 19th November 1874.

From—MOULVIE SYUD TUJUMMUL ALLY, Deputy Magistrate of Madareepore,
To—The Magistrate of Fureedpore.

WITH reference to your No. 1069, dated the 7th instant, I have the honor to submit my report on the subject of local improvement, as required in paragraph 2, clause 5, of Government circular No. 8, dated the 6th March 1873.

(a.) Rupees 00 were assigned by the District Road Committee of Backergunge for the local works of this sub-division for the year 1873-74, i.e. from 1st October 1873 to 30th September 1874.

(b.) The amount was expended in repairing the main road at the sub-divisional head-quarters leading from the moonsif's cutchery to the Madareepore bazar, making an embankment at the river Coomar, just opposite the sub-divisional court-house, and clearing jungles at the head-quarters. All the works were done by coolies under my supervision. I regret to say that none of these works have been completed on account of the fund being limited. I shall have to work on them again this year, for which a separate estimate will be submitted.

J. PRATT,
For Offg. Magistrate.

No. 496R., dated Dacca, the 19th February 1875.

From—F. B. PEACOCK, ESQ., Officiating Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WITH reference to your circular No. 51, dated 8th August last, I have the honor to submit the following local improvement report of this division for the year ending 30th September 1874, together with the District Committees' reports of Dacca, Fureedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh. The reports from Sylhet and Cachar, transferred to the Assam Commissionership during the year, have not, though repeatedly called for, as yet been received. I have not therefore considered it advisable to delay the submission of this report further in consequence of their non-receipt. These reports will be transmitted as soon as they are received.

2. The marginal memorandum shows the numbers and dates of this office endorsements with which the annual accounts of the several districts of the division were forwarded to the Controller of Public Works Accounts. The Sylhet account has not as yet been received.

Dacca, with this office No. 833R., dated 1st December 1874.
Fureedpore, ditto „ 425R., „ 15th January 1875.
Backergunge, ditto „ 385R., „ 24th December 1874.
Mymensingh, ditto „ 442R., „ 28th January 1875.
Cachar, ditto „ 370R., „ 23rd December 1874.

3. Having assumed charge of the division long after the close of the year to which this report relates, my remarks must be confined to the records of the office only.

4. The only districts of the division in which the road cess on lands and houses was collected during the year were Dacca and Fureedpore. In Mymensingh, though the Road Cess Act was introduced from September 1872, yet no collection could be made; the work of valuation not having been completed within the year. In Backergunge the Act was not introduced until after the close of the year, and it has not as yet been applied to Sylhet and Cachar.

5. Thus, in Dacca and Fureedpore the road fund consisted of road cess on lands and houses and tolls on ferries, while in the other districts it consisted of tolls on ferries alone, besides Government grant from provincial fund allowed to all districts.

6. The Government grant or advance for the several districts of the division for the past year (1873-74) was—

	Rs.
Dacca	65,000*
Fureedpore	15,000
Backergunge	30,000
Mymensingh	30,000
Sylhet	30,000
Cachar	10,000
Total ...	1,80,000

* Of the Rs 40,000 granted by Government resolution dated 24th January 1874, and Rs 25,000 under Government order No 3738, dated 17th July 1873
Granted by Government order No. 3739, dated 17th July 1873, for the year 1873 74.

7. Dacca.—In Dacca the total amount available for expenditure amounted to Rs. 1,49,987-15-5 as shown in the margin, of which—

8. Of the original works undertaken at a cost of Rs. 50,048-0-6, the following deserve notice:—

(1)—Construction of 14 masonry bridges on the road from Manickgunge to Goalundo (sanctioned by Government No. 1909, dated 24th March 1874) at a cost of Rs. 14,647.

(2)—Excavation of Panya khall, connecting the rivers Booreegunga and Dhullessary, and thereby saving a circuitous journey of nearly a day, at a cost of Rs. 19,898. (Sanctioned under Government order No. 1819, dated 20th March 1874)

(3)—Excavation of Murkadim khall, passing through several populous villages of pergunnah Bickrampore, and connecting the river Dhullessary with that flowing up to the police-station at Rajahbaree, thereby reducing the distance between these two rivers by twelve miles, at a cost of Rs. 7,859, of which more than Rs. 2,000 were contributed by the villagers.

9. The following form the bulk of the works under the head of "Repairs," costing Rs. 25,461-4-2:—

(1)—Metalling a portion (4½ miles) and general repairs of the road from the town of Dacca to Naraingunge, the large and well-known jute mart, at a cost of Rs. 7,066-1-7.

(2)—Repairing the road from Dacca to Toke, commonly known as Mymensingh road,* including repairs of 23 wooden platform and 49 masonry bridges, at a cost of Rs. 8,919-15-3.

* 52 miles in length.

(3)—Repairing bridges, &c, on the Naraingunge road, at a cost of Rs. 3,159-13-7.

(4)—Repairs to Goalundo road, at Rs. 1,088-13-9.

(6)—Repairing two village roads, at Rs. 1,860.

10. The works proposed for the current year are—

(1)—Construction of a portion of the Goalundo road, viz. from Phulbaree to Dacca, a distance of about twelve miles.

(2)—General repairs of all existing roads and bridges.

(3)—Petty village works to be undertaken by Sub-divisional Branch Committees at a cost of Rs. 6,000.

(4)—Operations of the dredging machine, &c., &c., at an estimated cost of upwards of Rs. 60,000.

11. In Fureedpore the receipts from all sources amounted as per margin to Rs. 50,665-11-11, of which Rs. 33,087-11-9 have been expended, leaving a balance of Rs. 17,578-0-2 at the close of the year under report.

12. Of the sum of Rs 33,087-11-9 spent during the year, Rs. 11,062-9-3 have been expended in establishments and contingencies for the road cess work and collections.

Rs.	700-15-3	have been expended in refunds.

,,	6,783-10-9	ditto	ditto repairs.
,,	105-14-0	ditto	ditto tools and plant.
Total ... Rs.	33,087-11-9

13. The charge under the head of establishment and contingencies compared with the road cess collections, amounting to Rs. 26,059-7-7, appears to be disproportionately heavy; but it must be borne in mind that it includes the cost of work of the Madareepore sub-division transferred within the year from Backergunge, from which no collections could be made until after the close of the year.

14. The original works, costing Rs. 14,434-10-6, consist of the construction of a portion of road* from Fureedpore to Rajbaree railway-station, at a cost of Rs. 10,951-2-2; of a road from the river Hatooria to Boorirhat police-station, at Rs 2,355-12-6;† and of minor works, at Rs. 1,127-11-10.

* Vide Government No. 3344, dated 29th June 1872, and connected correspondence

† The amount has been contributed by Baboo Kalikisto Tagore.

15. Under the head of repairs, the only work on which a large amount was spent is the Pangsha road, 27 miles in length, with 28 bridges, which was received by transfer in very bad condition from the district of Pubna.

16. The following works are proposed to be undertaken during the current year:—

(1)—Construction of Rajbaree and Hatooria roads, at a cost of above Rs 26,000.

(2)—Repairs of Pangsha, Talma, and Jessore roads, at a cost of about Rs 4,000.

(3)—Works in the sub-divisions of Goalundo and Madareepore and village roads at a cost of about Rs. 7,000.

17. Backergunge.—The total receipts of this district, including the balance of the preceding year (1872-73), amounted to Rs. 51,991-10-7, of which—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cess other than realised under Road Cess Act	2,987	3	5
Ferry tolls	2,776	12	0

Balance of last year (1872-73)... ...	13,727	11	2
Total ...	51,991	10	7

Rs. 278-2-0 have been expended in establishment and contingencies.

,, 28,551-13-4 have been expended in original works.

,, 18,782-9-8 have been expended in repairs, making a total charge of Rs. 47,612-9-0, thus leaving a balance of Rs. 4,379-1-7 at the close of the year.

18. Of the amount spent in orginal works—

Rs. 8,747-10-2 have been expended in the construction of a portion of the road from the town of Burisal to thannah Gournudi, commonly called the Madareepore road. (Sanctioned by Government order No. 2633, dated 15th June 1871.)

Rs. 10,173-1-1 have been expended in the widening and deepening of the Bhola and Dowlatkhan khall, in the sub-division of Dukhinshahbazpore, with a view to facilitate communication between the head-quarters of the sub-division and its neighbouring villages, and to shorten the distance between Calcutta and Noakhally. In 1871-72 a new khall joining the old khall at Bhola and that at Dowlutkhan was made; but in the following year it silted up in many places, and it was then determined to widen and deepen it with the view of keeping it navigable throughout the year for ordinary-sized boats. The people subscribed Rs. 3,000. The original estimate was less than Rs. 6,000, but the actual expenditure amounted to more than Rs. 10,000. This is the reason why the sanction of Government was not obtained before commencing the work.

Vide Government letter No. 4763, dated 19th September 1872.

Rs. 9,631-2-1 have been expended in several other minor works throughout the district.

19. Under the head of repairs, Rs. 18,782-9-8 have been spent in repairing all the existing roads and bridges of the district; the heaviest charges being in the roads and bridges of the Burrisal sub-division and in the roads from the town of Burrisal to the police-stations at Nulchittee and Jhulokutty, which are places of considerable trade in rice.

20. The following is a list of works proposed to be undertaken during the current year 1874-75 :—

New Works.

		Rs.
1.	Construction of roads and bridges, at a cost of	6,000
2.	Repairs to existing roads and bridges in all sub-divisions, at a cost of upwards of	20,000

21. Mymensingh.—In this district the amount available for expenditure was Rs. 40,201-8-10, and the charges incurred during the year amounted to Rs. 41,687-11-8, being Rs. 1,486-2-10 in excess of the receipts.

22. Of the sum of Rs. 41,687-11-8 expended—

Rs. 16,660-7-8 have been spent in original works.
„ 16,372-9-6 ditto in repairs.
„ 233-7-8 ditto in establishment and tools.
„ 6,715-9-8 ditto in establishment and contingencies for road cess work.
„ 95-1-0 ditto in refunds.
„ 1,610-8-2 ditto in advances made for works.

23. Of the sum of Rs. 16,660-7-8, the outlay on original works, nearly Rs 14,000 have been spent in the construction of bridges and metalling of Soobunkhali road; and of the amount incurred in repairs, upwards of Rs. 12,000 have been expended in the three important roads of Toke, Gowripoora, and Soobunkhali.

24. The District Committee proposes to undertake several original works and repairs during the current year, at a cost of above Rs. 35,000.

25. In all districts a very considerable portion of the works has been executed under the supervision of the officers of the Public Works Department. In Dacca and Fureedpore more work* might have been done had the working establishment been sufficiently strong to meet the requirements of the districts. The inadequacy of the staff has been repeatedly brought to the notice of Government, and the correspondence, terminated with your No. 6812, dated 30th November 1874, which, while fully recognising the need of additional assistance for the former district, stated that until the relief work establishments were set free there was little chance of the staff being increased. It was, however, added that the requirements of the district would not be lost sight of in the event of any opportunity occurring. The Chairman of the Fureedpore Committee frequently complained of the want of supervision by the Executive Engineer, whose head-quarters are at Backergunge, which circumstance entails delay in correspondence.

* Hence large unexpended balance in both Dacca and Fureedpore.

25 On the whole, all the District Committees appear to have worked satisfactorily, and to have expended the funds at their disposal with care and judgment.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

DARJEELING LINE.

DURING the present season the experiment will be tried of offering the public a less expensive mode of conveyance to Darjeeling.

2. A limited number of wagonettes have been built, which are so constructed as to enable two passengers to lie down at full length. They are provided with cushions and hoods, and drawn by two horses, but they are not sufficiently protected from the weather to make them good for ladies or invalids. These are available at cheaper rates than the ordinary carriages, viz. 4 annas a mile for each passenger, or Rs. 25 for the through journey.

3. A wagonette will start from Karagola every day except Sunday and Monday, leaving on the arrival of the steamer, and will return from Silliguree every day except Monday and Tuesday, starting at 11 A.M.

4. No luggage can be carried except a hand-bag, which should not weigh more than five seers. This rule is necessary and must not under any circumstances be infringed, as these vehicles convey the parcel mail. One traveller who, by the payment of Rs. 50 engages a whole wagonette, can take two maunds of luggage with him free.

5. Applications for wagonettes should be made in the usual way to Post-Master, Purneah, and should state which of the other forms of accommodation the traveller wishes in case a wagonette is not available.

An Act to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans made by the Government during the late Famine operations.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans of money and grain made by the Government to zemindars and ryots during the years one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three and one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four: It is enacted as follows:— Preamble.

1. Any sum payable to the Government by any person or collection of persons in respect of any loan of money or grain made to him or them, or to any other person on his or their security, by the Government, shall be deemed to be a demand within the meaning of Bengal Act No. VII of 1868 (to make further provision for the recovery of Arrears of Land Revenue and Public Demands recoverable as Arrears of Land Revenue); and an arrear of such demand shall, as far as possible, be recoverable in the manner provided in the said Act for the realization of arrears of demand; Sums payable to Government in respect of loans.

and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

2. When any landholder, or any collection of villagers, has become security for the repayment of money payable in respect of any such loan as is mentioned in the last preceding section, and such landholder, or collection of villagers, or any villager being one of such collection, has in consequence made to the Government payment of any sum of money due from any person liable to repay such loan, such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, may give to the Collector of the District in which such person resides a notice in writing in the form in Schedule (B) annexed to the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868, showing the amount due to him or them in respect of such payment; and if the Collector have reason to believe that any sum is due to such landholder, or collection of villagers, or villager, in respect of such payment, he may make under his hand a certificate of the sum due in a form similar to that in Schedule (A) to the said Act annexed, and shall cause the same to be filed in his office, and every certificate so made shall be deemed to be a certificate made in pursuance of section nineteen of the said Act; Mode of recovery by landholders, &c., of money for which they have become security.

and all provisions in the said Act relating to the realization of arrears of demand shall, as far as possible, be applicable to all proceedings under this section, as if such provisions were here repeated and re-enacted with reference thereto.

3. This Act shall apply only to loans of money or grain made during the twelve months preceding the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four. Application of Act.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of Calcutta, together with the amended Bill, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making laws and regulations, to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of Calcutta was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Vice-Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners, dated 13th January 1875, and enclosure
From Secretary, Bonded Warehouse Association, dated 29th May 1875.

1. We have carefully considered the minute of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor dated 2nd April last, but we are not prepared to recommend any change in the constitution of the Municipality.

2. We have repealed four enactments in addition to those specified in the ninth schedule of the original Bill. Section 49 of Act III of 186[illegible] (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs and Howrah, because we have provided that carts used in the suburbs and Howrah are to be registered at the office of the Justices. This practice at present obtains as far as regards the suburbs; and now that Calcutta and Howrah are connected by the Hooghly Bridge, it becomes necessary to make one registration for Calcutta, its suburbs, and Howrah, the proceeds of the registration fees being divided between the three municipalities, for which we have also provided. Act VII of 1865 (B.C.) is repealed so far as it applies to the suburbs, because it has been practically inoperative as regards the suburbs, owing to an arrangement entered into, with the approval of Government, between the Justices and the Municipality of the suburbs, under which no place can be used as a slaughter-house in the suburbs unless a license for its use has been obtained from the Justices. The introduction of a new chapter on markets into the amended Bill has rendered necessary the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II (B.C.) of 1874.

3. In section 3 we have altered the definitions of "carriage," "cart," and "street," and have introduced definitions of "drug," "public street," "slaughter-house," and "the suburbs." The insertion of two new sections in Chapter XII, with regard to the inspection of drugs, renders a definition of "drug" necessary. The "suburbs" have been defined because we have provided that carts used within the suburbs are to be registered in the office of the Justices. The effect of the other alterations and additions will be to remove certain ambiguities from the Bill.

4. In section 9 we have provided that the Justices may, at a special general meeting, appoint a proper person to two or more of the appointments mentioned in the section; and section 10 allows the Vice-Chairman to hold any other office to which he may be appointed at a special general meeting of the Justices.

5. In section 16 we have provided that the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, may grant pensions or gratuities to their officers. As the section stood in the original Bill, the power was practically vested in the Chairman. And here we may remark that throughout the whole Bill, whenever a question of principle, and not a mere executive act, is involved, we have made the determination of it rest, not with the Chairman, but with the Justices in meeting.

6. We have raised the number necessary to form a quorum of Justices—

in the case of an ordinary meeting, from three or six;
in the case of a special meeting, from seven to nine;
in the case of a special general or quarterly meeting, from fifteen to eighteen.

We have also inserted a proviso that no business is to be brought before an adjourned special general or quarterly meeting unless ten Justices are present.

7. We have provided that a declaration by the President, at a meeting, that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the Book of Proceedings, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, if no poll be demanded. Under the original Bill the President had to call on each Justice to vote in order of seniority on the roll of the Justices. We have omitted this in the amended Bill.

8. The second proviso in section 32 of the amended Bill is new. In cases where the Chairman and the majority of a committee differ on any matter, no action is to be taken until the matter is disposed of by the Justices at a meeting.

9. In the original Bill the Local Government was empowered to appoint auditors of the receipts and expenditure of the Justices, the said auditors receiving such remuneration as the Justices, with the sanction of the Local Government, shall determine. To guard against the appointments being made ex-officio appointments, we have empowered the Justices to appoint, subject to the sanction of the Local Government, their own auditors.

10. We have allowed an appeal against the assessment in respect to licenses for all the trades, professions, and callings mentioned in the second schedule, to three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices. In the original Bill the final decision rested with the Chairman or Vice-Chairman.

11. We have recast Part 1 of Chapter IV, and have made several alterations in it. For "land-rate" we have substituted the word "house-rate;" the former is a new term, whereas the latter is already in common use in Calcutta. We have provided that the Justices may impose a water-rate not exceeding six per cent. of the annual value when the house is situated in a street supplied with filtered water, and not exceeding five per cent. when the house is situated in a street not so supplied. As the Bill stood before, a uniform water-rate could be levied on all houses and land within the town, and we considered it unfair that those who had not the benefit of the water should pay as high a water-rate as those who had. We have made the police and lighting rates, as well as the water-rate, payable in advance. The lighting-rate, which originally stood at two-and-a-half per cent., we have reduced to two per cent.

12. Section 68 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for a remission of the house-rate when a house has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during the year. The date of vacancy is to be calculated from the delivery of a notice to that effect at the office of the Justices. This latter provision is repeated in sections 73, 74, and 77 of the amended Bill, which deal with refund of the water, police, and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied. We have also limited the time for an application for a refund under sections 74 and 77 to six months from the date of the vacancy of the house in respect of which the application is made.

13. Section 67 of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of better arrangement, to Part 1 of Chapter XI, which deals with the streets. As the police and lighting rates are made payable in advance, section 68 of the original Bill becomes unnecessary, and we have therefore omitted it. Section 77 of the amended Bill is new, and provides for the refund of the police and lighting rates when a house ceases to be occupied.

14. In section 81 of the amended Bill we have made special provision for the assessment of the unoccupied lands of the Port Commissioners; and in section 82 we have extended the period for which assessments are made by the Justices from three to six years.

15. Section 84 of the amended Bill is entirely new. It has been framed to meet the case of injury to immovable property through accident. When a house has received substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices are to re-assess it on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier.

16. The most important alteration in Chapter V is the introduction of a new system of appeals against assessments. In the Bill referred to us appeals against assessments had to be made to the Justices, the Chairman and Vice-Chairman not being precluded from hearing such appeals. Many complaints have been made against this system, and we have accordingly allowed an appeal from the assessment made by the executive officers of the Justices, either to a Board of not less than three Justices, not being executive officers of the municipality, or to the Small Cause Court. The appellant is not allowed to appeal from the Board of three Justices to the Small Cause Court, but he can make his choice of the two tribunals. If he appeals to the Board of three Justices, their decision will be final. Or he can carry his case straight to the Small Cause Court, and the decision of that Court will be final. Persons who give notice of appeal must at the same time inform the Justices whether they intend to appeal to the Board of Justices or to the Small Cause Court. Every appeal to the Small Cause Court must be presented to the Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice of appeal at the office of the Justices. The original Bill provided that no appeal should be heard "unless the amount of the rate had been deposited with the Justices." We have substituted the words "unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices."

17. In Chapter VI we have provided that all sales of property after distress are to be regulated by the procedure of the Small Cause Court as to sale after distress.

18. We have made many additions to Chapter VII (of the water supply), which are mainly intended to prevent the waste of water so prevalent in the town.

Sections 110, 111, 112, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125 and 126 are new.

Section 108 of the amended Bill provides that the Justices must keep up a pressure of ten feet for the supply of water between 6 A.M. and 9 P.M., and a pressure of fifty feet between 7 A.M. and 9 A.M., and between 5 P.M. and 6 P.M.

Section 110 limits the supply of filtered water to any one house to one thousand gallons for every rupee paid as water-rate on account of the house. If the Justices think that any house takes more than this allowance, they can attach a meter to the water-pipes of the house, and charge the occupants for any water used in excess of the above allowance at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Section 111 directs that the Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and section 112 enjoins owners of houses to put up, at their own cost, cisterns in latrines and water-closets supplied with filtered or unfiltered water.

By section 118 we have provided that the occupier of any house in which water supplied by the Justices, is wasted from negligence or other causes under the control of the occupier, or in whose house the works for the supply of water are found to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause waste of water, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees.

Section 119 makes any person causing waste of water supplied by the Justices liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees.

Section 120 empowers the Justices to allow any person residing within the limits of the town to take water for his domestic use on certain terms, and to impose a fine, not exceeding fifty rupees, on any person who takes, for use outside the limits of the town, water supplied by the Justices without the permission of the Justices.

Section 121 enacts that persons executing works for the laying on of water must hold a license from the Justices to act as a plumber, and provides for the imposition of a fine on any person so licensed who breaks the rules of his license.

Section 122 provides that any owner or occupier of a house who causes works for the laying on of water to be executed by any person other than a plumber licensed by the Justices, shall not be entitled to demand a connection with the Justices' service-pipes.

Section 123. The Engineer of the Justices is to inspect the works before any connection with the service-pipes of the Justices is sanctioned. The cost of inspection is to be paid by the person applying for the connection; and until the Engineer certifies that the works have been properly executed, a connection is not to be permitted.

Section 124. Connection with the service-pipes of the Justices and the laying of supply pipes under a road are to be executed only by an officer of the Justices.

Section 125 provides a fine for a licensed plumber who executes works in a negligent manner or makes use of bad materials or fittings.

Section 126 provides for the imposition of a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, on any person who unlawfully takes water from any water-works belonging to, or under the control of, the Justices.

19. In section 142 we have expressed more clearly the intention of the clause in section 56 of the original Bill, with regard to the application of the proceeds of the police rate.

20. We have provided that the Justices shall appoint a Sub-Registrar at each burning ghât and native burial ground for the registration of all corpses brought for cremation or interment. Every Sub-Registrar is to dwell in the vicinity of the burning ghât or burial ground for which he is appointed, and the Justices are to publish a list of such Registrars and Sub-Registrars.

In section 151 of the amended Bill we have inserted a proviso that, in the case of persons dying in hospital, the medical officer in charge shall send a notice in writing to the Justices in the form prescribed in the eighth schedule. By section 153, the registration of a death occurring in a hospital is deemed to be complete on the receipt by the Justices of such written notice.

Section 154 makes it unlawful for a sexton or keeper of a cemetery, burial-ground or burning ghat, to bury or burn a corpse unless it is accompanied by a proper certificate.

21. For section 145 of the original Bill we have substituted another section (176 in the amended Bill), which is identical with section 125 of the old Act (VI of 186[illegible] B.C.), and empowers the Justices to remove only obstructions or encroachments erected [illegible]ny public street subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any obstruction of this nature, at whatever time erected.

We have made an alteration in section 155 of the original Bill by providing (section 185 of the amended Bill) that the Justices may cause the removal of any obstruction placed against, or in front of any house subsequent to the 1st of June 1863. In the original Bill the Justices were empowered to remove any such obstruction, at whatever time erected.

We have limited the power conferred on the Justices by section 156 of the original Bill to the removal of obstructions placed in front of any house previous to the 1st of June 1863 (section 186 of the amended Bill).

22. Sections 149, 150, 159, and 160 in Part I; sections 169, 171, 172 in Part II; and sections 188, 190, 191, 192, 193, and 207 in Part III, of Chapter XI of the original Bill have all been thrown together for the sake of convenience, and now constitute Part IV of Chapter XI, under the title of "Building Regulations." Three new sections (248, 249 and 250) have been inserted in this part, which direct that new huts shall be erected under the control of the Justices, lay down rules for their erection, empower the Justices to remove them if they are erected contrary to such rules, and prescribe a penalty for breach of the rules. These sections are substituted for sections 186 and 187 of the original Bill, and give the Justices ample control over the arrangement of any new villages that may be erected in future.

In section 219 we have provided that no person shall carry on the business of a tola mehter without obtaining a license from the Justices.

23. In Part I of Chapter XII we have inserted two new sections—one for the registration of places kept for the sale of drugs, and another for the inspection of drugs. Every place kept for the sale of drugs must be registered within two months after the Act comes into force. Non-registration will render the keeper of such place liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees. Power is given to the Justices to enter into shops for the purpose of inspecting drugs, and to remove any drugs they suspect to be adulterated. Clauses are added to provide for the giving of compensation to the owner of the drug if it is found to be not adulterated, and he has sustained any loss by the removal.

We have allowed the Justices in meeting, other than ordinary meeting, to provide slaughter-houses without the sanction of the Local Government.

Section 213 in Part I of Chapter XII of the original Bill has been transferred, for the sake of convenience, to the new chapter on markets.

24. We have added a chapter on markets to the Bill. This chapter embraces the law as it now stands without any important alteration or addition, and its introduction involves the repeal of Act VIII of 1871 (B.C.) and Act II of 1874 (B.C.)

25. We have omitted the last clause of section 233 of the original Bill, which provided that the powers given to the Justices with respect to railways, should not be exercised without the sanction of the Local Government.

26. In the Bill referred to us all penalties were collected in one chapter. This was found to be very inconvenient for the purpose of reference, and we have therefore returned to the plan of the old Acts, according to which each penalty is placed immediately after the subject to which it belongs.

27. We have altered the wording in the first part of Class IV of the second Schedule. According to the Bill referred to us, a person whose shop or place of business was located in a brick-house, and who did not fall under Class II or III, was liable to be assessed at Rs. 12 per annum. As we considered that the fact of a business being carried on in a brick-house a too uncertain test for the purposes of taxation, we have provided that all persons mentioned in Class IV of the second schedule shall pay Rs. 12 for their trade-license if their shop or place of business is assessed under Chapter V at ten rupees and upwards, but at less than twenty-five rupees a month.

28. In the fifth schedule we have lowered the scale of fees payable in distraints under Chapter VI.

29. We have made other alterations in form and words.

DISSENT.

WHILE signing the report of the Select Committee we desire to record this our dissent on points on which we disagree with our colleagues

I.—The water, police, and lighting rates have been made payable in advance. The first is payable by the owner; the last two by the occupier At present the water-rate alone is paid in advance; but considering the pressure of municipal taxation in this town we are of opinion that the payment in advance is attended with hardship to the poorer class of rate-payers, and that the system ought not to be extended to the lighting and police rates as proposed. No branch of imperial revenue, we believe, is recovered in advance, and we are satisfied that there is no good reason why municipal taxes should be made payable in advance. It was urged by our colleagues that the municipality incurred a considerable loss of revenue by reason of frequent changes in the occupation of houses by tenants, which its officers had no means of knowing in time, and that even if they did know they could not realize the rate, which was payable in arrear. This remark does not apply to the water-rate, which is recoverable from the owner. As the owner is identified with the land or house he owns or occupies, the house-rate is made payable in arrear. On the same principle the water-rate ought to be made payable in arrear.

II.—For the purposes of the house-rate and the water-rate the owner of the land is declared to be the owner of the house thereon, and will be charged with the house-rate and water-rate respectively, and also with the lighting and police rates where the assessed annual value of the house is less than Rs. 200, with power to recover the amount so paid as an addition to rent. We object to these provisions as unconstitutional and unfair. The theory of municipal constitution is that no person should be called upon to pay at a higher rate or undertake greater responsibilities than his neighbour for municipal purposes. The owners of houses when liable to any rate or tax should pay the same, just as much and in the same manner as owners of lands; and if there be greater risk of collection in one case than in another, it is what those who have to receive the rate or tax should submit to To shift that risk on any particular section of the community for the benefit of the Municipality and to afford perfect immunity from the trouble and annoyance of summary distress and warrant to those who are likely to be defaulters, involves denial of justice and fair play, and this is made the more glaring by the proviso that owners of only those plots of land, the assessed value of the houses whereon should be less than Rs 200 per annum, should be subjected to the risk, and not those lands which bear more highly assessed property. In other words, the Municipality should collect directly from those who are substantial and from whom it is easy to collect, and through the agency of the landlord from those who are poor and from whom it is consequently difficult to realize, though he is not to be remunerated for his trouble, risk, and responsibility. If it be a duty on the part of landlords to pay the taxes due for the property of their tenants, it should apply to all landlords alike without reference to the value of the houses on their lands. In equity, however, it applies to none, and none therefore should be subjected to so unequal a law. It is true that the existing law has a provision of this kind with reference to the police and lighting rates, limited to houses assessed at or under an annual value of Rs. 100, but it is founded on no principle of justice, and its operation has proved oppressive. The loss sustained by landlords in realising through their own servants and the Small Cause Court the rate due to the Municipality from the owners of small houses, which the Justices cannot realise satisfactorily through the more summary process of warrant, distraint, and sale, is great; and to apply the rule to all kinds of taxes and rates would increase the loss manifold. A percentage of loss is inevitable in collecting money from a large number of rate-payers, and there is no principle of equity and justice under which the payee may be allowed to shift that loss in certain cases on third parties. This injustice we feel will be made the more oppressive on account of the difficulties under which the landlord labors in realising his legitimate rent. The complaint is that the recent ruling of the High Court that a hut is removable, but immovable for purposes of distraint, has interposed great difficulty in the way of the recovery of rent, and it cannot therefore be just to make him liable for all the occupier's rates, and to direct him to recover his dues from the tenant as an addition to rent. Nor will the evil be confined to landlords alone; tenants will equally suffer from it, inasmuch as the poorer and more ignorant classes of tenants will be subjected to extortion and oppression at the hands of unscrupulous landlords and their servants. It is generally believed that under the existing law many landlords realize from their tenants the whole of the water-rate instead of the three-fourths prescribed by it. The duty of realising the rates and taxes belongs legitimately to the Municipality, which has a large and highly paid establishment for the recovery of arrears, and we see no reason why it should be relieved of its legitimate duty.

III.—Unoccupied lands are at present not assessed. There are lands in the town which have rarely been occupied, and it is not to be supposed that the owner would wilfully leave them unoccupied if he could find tenants. As the Bill provides, the owner must keep them in good order This obligation, we are of opinion, would be a sufficient motive to him for letting them out. It would press unduly upon the owner, if he were made to pay half rates for unoccupied lands, which derive no benefit from the Municipality and entail no additional duty on it, and which lie unoccupid from no fault of his. We may add that however necessary the bustí regulations may be, they are stringent and may lead to desertion from the town, and in that case it would be a double hardship to the owner if he should lose rent and be made to pay the rates.

IV.—It is provided that the supply of water for domestic consumption may be charged at the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee whenever it is in excess of the quantity covered by the amount of the water-rate paid by the occupier so calculated; and that the Justices, that is the Chairman, may put on a water meter for the ascertainment of such quantity. The object of this provision is to prevent wanton waste of water. We are fully alive to the necessity of checking waste, but we believe that infinitely more water is wasted on the streets than in private houses, by the bursting of service pipes, and by reason of defective stand-posts and of wayfarers neglecting to close them, than by reason of defective fittings in houses, or neglect in securing water—not to say that the necessity of keeping houses dry operates as a check upon many householders; but as regards private houses, the regulation of the size of the ferrule, the periodical inspection of fittings by municipal officers, and the penalties prescribed for the occupier and plumber in case of neglect to prevent waste, are calculated to promote to a considerable extent economy in the use of water. It might be that the introduction of the water meter would not be made general; but as the whole matter would be left to the discretion of the executive, the temptation for having a general recourse to it might prove too great for them, if they should find the scheme remunerative. But to charge for water for domestic consumption in excess of regulation supply when the supply is obtained by a heavy compulsory taxation, we hold is on principle unsound and unfair. In respect of the water-supply the Justices resemble a large co-operative society, each member of which contributes towards the object according to a fixed assessment, on the understanding that he will take such a supply as he may require for domestic consumption. If the Justices are empowered to make an additional charge on the pretext of greater consumption by one person than by another, then the principle of compulsory taxation ought, in all fairness, to be abandoned, and the system of taxation according to consumption ought to be substituted instead. Then if a charge is to be made for excess consumption, justice requires that a proportionate reduction should be allowed to those rate-payers who might not consume the regulation quantity. Besides, the rate of one thousand gallons to the rupee is founded on no correct principle. The Justices are not a trading body; and we are of opinion that it would not be consistent with right principle to allow them to charge a fancy price for water for domestic consumption from those whose contributions have secured the supply and who have a common interest in it. The actual cost of the water is less than four annas per one thousand gallons; and we think all charges in excess of that rate, or whatever the cost price may be, would amount to an extraordinary indirect tax, which, as long as the express understanding is that the water-supply is intended for the ordinary domestic consumption of the rate-payers and the public purposes of conservancy and the watering of roads, would be unjust. The Municipality is not and should not be let at liberty to look to gain by sale of water as long as the aforesaid domestic and public purposes for which the water-rate is imposed are not met. As for the unfiltered supply, it cannot be available at all hours, inasmuch as it will not be given at constant pressure—not to say that the two-fold supply would entail upon the house-owner double cost in laying on the water.

Then latrines and water-closets are not to be provided with constant supply of water, but should be provided with cisterns. As a diffuse supply of water is essential to the successful working of the drainage system, we are not satisfied that the cisterns would answer the purpose. To compel the house-owners to connect their privies with the new sewers and to stint them the supply of water would be inconsistent. Besides, privies in native houses, we are informed, are too small for the convenient admission of the cistern; and as such houses have generally several privies, the cost to the owner or occupier for introducing the system of cisterns would be great. Indeed, taking the charges for water—firstly, for connection for filtered supply; secondly, for unfiltered supply; thirdly, for cisterns; and, fourthly, for domestic supply in excess of regulation quantity—we are of opinion that the pressure of taxation would fall very heavily upon the poorer classes of tax-payers. It is also open to question whether it is consistent with the functions of the legislature to provide for cisterns when the system has not been discussed or adopted by the Justices.

V.—We object to the provisions made for the passing of the police budget. They are calculated to reduce the Justices to the position of message-bearer only. As the Bill is framed, the Justices are simply to receive the budget from the Commissioner of Police and to transmit the same to the Lieutenant-Governor. This change in the law is recommended on the ground that the regulation, management, and control of the police ought to be vested in the Government. Such is now practically the case. The Commissioner of Police under orders of Government determines the strength and organization of the police; and although the Justices have power to reduce or cancel any part of the police budget, they have never exercised that power to the detriment of the efficiency of the police. The existence of the power has, however, a wholesome influence on the Commissioner of Police and conduces to the advantage of the town. If the Justices have never exercised the power in question, they may do so at any time, and this circumstance tends to make him cautious, moderate, and economical. The Justices are responsible to the rate-payers for the due application of the funds they collect; and as they are charged with the collection of the police rate, it is both necessary and meet that they should have a voice in the administration of the police fund. It was urged that should the Justices and the local Government disagree on any point, things would come to a dead-lock. Such a crisis has never arisen, though the power under notice has been vested in the Justices since 1866; but should such a crisis arise, the difference might be settled by the Government of India, whose decision should be final, as the control of the police is vested in it in the last degree. The majority of the Committee, did not, however, agree to this proposal. This is a constitutional question of great importance, and we are of opinion that if the legislature is not prepared to continue the power hitherto possessed by the Justices, the corporation should be relieved of the invidious duty of imposing and collecting the police rate, in the disbursement of which it is to be allowed no control. In London, the city police, which is analogous to the metropolitan police of Calcutta, is, we believe, completely under the control of the City Corporation. If it be the object of the Government to give the rate-payers the privilege of self-government, it cannot be consistent with that object to deprive the Justices of their present power to control police expenditure.

VI.—While we support the provisions made for the clearance and improvement of bustis, we do not consider it fair to compel the owner of the land to construct privies for the benefit of the occupier. There should be a broad line of distinction between the sanitary requirements of the land owned by the landlord and those of private houses built thereon by tenants. The former obligation belongs to the landlord, and the latter to the tenant; and the respective duties of the two parties cannot be confounded without entailing injustice on one or the other. The practice in this town is for the tenant to build his own habitation and the appurtenances belonging thereto; and as tenants, particularly with families, do not frequent a common latrine, the landlord would be put to considerable cost in building a privy for each tenant. The improvement of the bustis will entail heavy expenses upon the owner, and it cannot be fair to saddle him with this cost. Where common latrines may be needed, the owner may be required to provide them, but not otherwise.

We object to this provision, the more because we are convinced that no cost for improvement will be incurred except with a view to realize a return; and if the tenants be made to pay the interest on the outlay by way of increased rent, the evil will recoil on them in a way which those who wish to benefit them cannot but feel to be grievous. Living for poor people in the town has already become very difficult, and the multiplication of taxes and outlay on improvements cannot but increase that evil. Sanitary improvement, however salutary, is dearly purchased where the means of subsistence are injuriously reduced; and it is the bounden duty of the legislature, in our opinion, to prevent so serious a mischief. The idea that the owners of lands will themselves defray the cost of all improvements from purely sanitary or humane motives is delusive. The effect of such improvements is sure sooner or later to tell against the tenants, who contribute by way of rent the means which the owners are called upon to lay out, and we desire that this truism may not be lost sight of in revising the municipal law. We are constrained to say that it has been overlooked in the matters above set forth, and in several other minor subjects.

As material alterations have been introduced in the Bill, we would recommend that the amended Bill with the Report of the Select Committee and this Dissent be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

Preamble.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be cited as "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1875."

Short title.

It shall come into force on the first day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, which date is hereinafter referred to as the commencement of this Act.

Commencement.

No such appeal shall be heard unless the amount of the license assessed as aforesaid has been deposited with the Justices.

If no appeal be made within the time limited as aforesaid, the decision of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall be final.

Justices may require list of persons in any house.

57. The Justices may, by a notice in writing under their common seal, require the occupier of any house to forward to them a list in writing signed by him of the names of all persons residing in such house, and of their respective professions, trades, and occupations.

58. Whoever being the occupier of any house, fails to forward such list when required to do so under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding hundred rupees.

the class under which he is assessed; and the sum paid by him in respect of his license; and such list shall be kept in the office of the Justices, and be open to public inspection at all reasonable times.

61. Whoever keeps or is in possession of a cart not duly registered as required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three times the amount payable by him in respect of such registration, exclusive of the amount so payable; and whoever, being the owner or driver of any cart, shall fail to affix the registration number required by the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five rupees

Fee for registration.

62. The registration of carts, under the last preceding section, shall be made and the numbers assigned half-yearly, on or after the first day of January and the first day of July in each year, upon such days as the Justices shall appoint, and a fee of four rupees shall be paid for each registration.

The Justices may in their discretion remit any portion of the fee so payable if they are satisfied that the cart hereinbefore required to be registered has been kept or used as in the last preceding section mentioned for a portion of the half-year only.

When any registered cart is transferred within any half-year, it shall be registered anew in the name of the person to whom it has been transferred; and a fee of four annas shall be paid for every such last mentioned registration.

One-sixth of the total net proceeds of the fees half-yearly received by the Justices for the registration of carts, after deducting charges incurred in and about such registration, shall be paid half-yearly by the Justices to the municipality of the Suburbs, and one-twelfth of such proceeds to the municipality of Howrah.

Provided that it shall be in the discretion of the Local Government, from time to time, to alter the proportion of the said proceeds required by this section to be paid by the Justices to the municipalities of the Suburbs and of Howrah respectively, and to prescribe such other proportions as to it shall seem proper.

(b) which are the property of the Justices, the Municipal Commissioners of the Suburbs, or of Howrah.

(c) or which are kept at any place more than eight miles distant from Government House, and are only temporarily and casually used within the Town, the Suburbs, or Howrah.

On failure to register, the Justices may seize and sell cart and animals.

64. If any person owns or keeps any cart hereinbefore required to be registered, without having caused the same to be registered, the Justices or any Officer authorized by them in that behalf, may seize such cart (provided the same be not employed at the time of the seizure in the conveyance of passengers or goods), together with the animals or cattle drawing the same, and may detain them;

and all Police Officers shall, on the application of the Justices or their Officers as aforesaid, seize and detain any such cart, animals, or cattle.

If the cart, animals, or cattle so seized be not claimed within ten days, they may be sold by auction by order of a Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, and the proceeds of such sale may be applied to the expenses incurred on account of the seizure, detention, and sale; and the surplus (if any), if not claimed within a further period of twenty days, shall be paid to the Municipal Fund of Calcutta.

(b) a Water-rate, not exceeding six per cent. when the houses and land are situated in streets supplied with filtered water in the manner provided by section one hundred and six, and not exceeding five per cent. when the houses and lands are situated in streets not so supplied.

(c) a Police rate, not exceeding three per cent.;

(d) a Lighting rate, not exceeding two per cent.

The House-rate, Water rate, and Drainage-rate shall be payable by the owners of the houses and land.

The Police and Lighting rates shall be payable by the occupiers of the houses and land.

All the rates hereinbefore mentioned shall be payable by quarterly instalments.

The House-rate shall be payable on the first of April, the first of July, the first of October, and the first of January, for the quarters immediately preceding those dates.

The Police, Lighting, and Water-rates shall be payable in advance on the dates above mentioned for the current quarters.

PART II.—Of the Owner's Rates.

If assessment be made at a higher annual value than the amount paid by the occupier, owner may recover difference from him.

66. If the annual value of any land as assessed under Chapter V, shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him and the sum at which he would have been assessed had he been rated only upon the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

Owner of land to be deemed owner of house thereon situate

67. For the purposes of the House-rate and Water-rate, the owner of any land upon which any house is situated shall be deemed to be the owner of such house, and shall be liable to the House-rate and Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

68. Where any house or land, whereon the rate is assessed under section sixty-five, has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person assessed to the said rate shall be entitled to a remission of so much thereof, not exceeding one-half of the rate for that year, as shall be proportionate to the number of days such house or land has been vacant, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Provided that no remission shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

Owners paying Water-rate to be repaid three-fourths by occupiers.

69. Whenever the person from or by whom the Water-rate shall have been recovered or paid shall not be the occupier of the house or land in respect of which the Water-rate shall have been assessed, such person may, if there be but one occupier of such house or land, recover from such occupier three-fourths of the Water-rate so paid, and if there be more than one occupier, may recover from each of such occupiers, such sum as shall bear to three-fourths of the entire amount of Water-rate so paid, the same proportion as the value of the portion of such house or land in the occupation of such occupier, bears to the entire value of such house or land.

Owner of land on which house situate when entitled to recover house-rate and water-rate from owner of house.

70. Whenever the owner of any land on which any house is situated shall not be the owner of such house, and shall have paid the House-rate or Water-rate for such land and for such house, he may recover from the owner of such house the entire amount of the House-rate or Water-rate payable in respect of such house.

Power to recover sums payable under last two sections as rent.

71 Every person who, under either of the two last preceding sections, or under section sixty-six, may be entitled to recover any sum from any occupier or other person, may recover such sum from the person liable to pay the same as if the same were rent payable by such person for the house or land in respect of which such sum is payable.

Person sub-letting to different persons to be deemed occupier.

72. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the Water-rate has or may sublet the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Three-fourths of rate remitted for unoccupied house or land.

73. Three-fourths of the Water-rate payable in respect of any house or land shall be remitted for the period during which such house or land may remain unoccupied, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices.

Refund of Water-rate to owners of unoccupied house or land.

74. Whenever any quarterly instalment of Water-rate shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such Water-rate shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices three-fourths of such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of the delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Rate payable for house or land becoming occupied.

75. Whenever any house or land, which shall have been unoccupied, shall be occupied during any quarter, there shall be forthwith payable in respect of such house or land, such amount of Water-rate as shall bear to the entire quarterly instalment of Water-rate for such house or land, the same proportion as the residue of such quarter, after such house or land shall be occupied, bears to an entire quarter.

Refund to occupier on termination of occupation.

76. Whenever the occupier of any house or land shall, pending any quarter, cease to occupy the house or land, he shall be liable to repay to the person by whom the Water-rate of the house or land is payable, such part only of the quarterly instalment of Water-rate payable in respect of such quarter, as shall bear to three-fourths of such quarterly instalment the same proportion as the period which shall have elapsed from the first day of such quarter till he cease to occupy shall bear to the entire quarter, and in case he shall have repaid to the person who shall have paid such quarterly instalment to the Justices any sum greater than such part, he shall be entitled to recover from such person any sum which he may have paid in excess of such part, or to deduct the same from any rent due to such person.

PART III.—Of the Occupier's Rates.

Refund of Police and Lighting rate when house ceases to be occupied

77 The Police-rate and the Lighting-rate shall be payable by the occupier of the house or land on which the said rates shall have been assessed, and the said rates shall be payable in advance by the said occupier on the dates mentioned in section sixty-five.

Whenever any quarterly instalment of the said rates shall have been paid in respect of any house or land, and such house or land shall, during the quarter for which such instalment shall have been paid, cease to be occupied, the person who shall have paid such instalment shall be entitled to be repaid by the Justices such sum as shall bear to the amount paid by him the same proportion which the residue of the quarter bears to an entire quarter, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Justices of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Justices;

Provided that no refund shall be made unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

78. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is of less assessed annual value than two hundred rupees, the Justices may impose the Police and Lighting-rates upon the owner of such house, or upon the owner of the land on which such house is situated.

Owner to recover from occupier rates paid by owner.

79. If the Police and Lighting-rates are paid by the owner of any house or land under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier the entire amount of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

80. Every owner who, under the provisions of the last preceding section, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him by the occupier in respect of such portion of the house as may be in his occupation.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

Annual value of house or land how to be ascertained.

81. The estimated gross annual rent at which any house or land, liable to rate under this Act, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, shall, for the purposes of any rate to be imposed under this Act, be held and be deemed to be the annual value of such house or land.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereupon.

Provided that all the unoccupied land, roads, and slopes of the Port Commissioners shall be rated at the rent for which the said land, roads, or slopes might be reasonably expected to let, in the same manner as if the said land, roads, and slopes were used for other than public purposes, and belonged to persons other than a public body.

Annual value to be assessed by the Justices; assessment to remain in force for six years.

82. All assessments made by the Justices prior to the passing of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such assessments, the annual value at which any house or land is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Justices, and such land shall be assessed upon the value so fixed for six years from the date on which it is so fixed.

When substantial improvement made Justices may re-assess.

83. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in the last preceding section, any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house or land, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though such period has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment.

When substantial injury done Justices may re-assess.

84. If, during the currency of any period mentioned in section eighty-two, any such house or land shall receive substantial injury through fire, cyclone, the act of God, or civil commotion, the Justices shall, as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house or land, cause such house or land to be again assessed, even though the current period of assessment has not expired, and such last mentioned assessment shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of assessment;

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of assessment, to the house or land which shall have been again assessed as aforesaid, the Justices may cause such house or land to be again assessed as under section eighty-three.

Annual value assessed to be entered in a book.

85. The annual value assessed by the Justices as hereinbefore provided, shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Justices, wherein shall also be written in distinct columns—

(a) the name of the owner;

(b) the name of the occupier, if the occupier is the person liable to pay the rate;

(c) a designation of the property, sufficient to identify the same, together with the name and number of the street (if any) in which it is situated;

(d) the amount of the rate assessed thereon; and

(e) the amount of the rate assessed on the house and on the land respectively, whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land.

The book required to be kept under this section is hereinafter called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier."

New valuation or measurement to be made.

86. The Justices shall from time to time make a valuation or measurement of all houses and land within the Town, and for such purpose may divide the Town into such and so many districts as they may think fit, and proceed to make a separate valuation or measurement district by district, and shall enter the same in the assessment book.

Returns may be required for purpose of valuation.

87. The Justices may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to furnish them with returns of the measurements and of the rent or annual value thereof; and the Justices, or any person authorized by them in that behalf, may at any time between the hour of seven in the forenoon and sunset enter on to, and inspect, survey, and measure such house or land.

Penalty.

88. Whoever refuses or fails to furnish any such return for the space of one week from the day on which he shall have been required so to do, or knowingly makes a false or incorrect return, and whoever hinders, obstructs, or prevents any Justice of the Peace, or any person appointed by the Justices as aforesaid, from entering or inspecting or measuring any such house or land, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees for every such offence.

Public notice of valuation and measurement to be given.

89. When the valuation or measurement of any of the districts of the Town, into which it may have been divided by the Justices, shall have been completed, the Justices shall give public notice thereof, and of the place where the assessment book, or a copy thereof, may be inspected, by advertisement in at least two of the English daily newspapers, and in two vernacular newspapers, published within the Town, and also by placards posted up in conspicuous places throughout such district of the Town; and the person in whose custody the assessment book may be, shall permit every person being the owner or occupier of any house or land included in the assessment or measurement, or the agent of such owner or occupier, to inspect the book and to make extracts therefrom without payment of any fee, and every person not being such owner or occupier, to inspect and make extracts, in like manner, on payment of a fee of one rupee.

Notice when valuation made for first time or increased.

90. The Justices shall, in all cases in which any house or land is for the first time assessed, or in which the valuation or measurement of any house or land previously assessed is increased, give special notice thereof to the owners or occupiers of the same, and when the valuation is increased as aforesaid, the said notice shall state the grounds of such increase.

Appeals.

91. Appeals against any assessment made by the Justices under this Chapter shall lie

(a) to not less than three Justices of the Peace, other than executive officers of the Justices;

(b) to the Court of Small Causes.

Notice to be given by person appealing.

92. Any person desiring to appeal against any assessment made under this chapter, shall, within fifteen days of the notice referred to in section eighty-nine, deliver at the office of the Justices a notice in writing, stating the grounds of appeal, and also informing the Justices whether he intends to appeal under clause (a) or (b) of the last preceding section.

No appeal shall lie as hereinbefore provided unless the amount of the house-rate for one quarter, under the assessment about to expire, has been deposited with the Justices;

and unless the appeal is preferred by the person who, at the time the appeal is made, shall be recorded in the said book as the owner of the house or land to which the appeal refers, or by the occupier thereof, or by the agent of either of them.

Notice of day for hearing appeals.

93. The Justices shall give notice of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the publication of such notice, when they will proceed to hear the appeals under clause (a).

Every appeal under clause (b) shall be presented to the Small Cause Court within seven days from the date of the delivery of the notice at the office of the Justices under the last preceding section.

Assessment by Justices when to be final.

94. The assessment by the Justices of any rate, when no appeal therefrom is made as hereinbefore provided, and the adjudication of any appeal under the two last preceding sections, shall be final and conclusive.

Assessments to be entered in assessment book.

95. The assessments made by the Justices in accordance with the provisions of section eighty-six, subject to such alterations as may from time to time thereafter be duly made on appeal, shall be entered in the assessment book, and the rate calculated on the said assessment shall, subject to such alterations as aforesaid, be deemed to be the rate for the whole period for which the assessment is made, and this period shall be calculated from the commencement of the quarter succeeding that in which any such amendment shall be so authenticated; and until such date the old assessment shall continue in force, notwithstanding that the period for which the old assessment was made may have expired.

Alteration or amendment of assessment.

96. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman may at any time amend the assessment book by inserting therein the name of any person whose name ought to be so inserted, or by inserting any house or land liable to the rate, after giving notice, to any person interested in the making of the amendment, of a day, not being less than fifteen days from the date of the service of such notice, when such amendment is to be made; or by striking out the name of any person or any house or land not liable to the rate, or reducing the amount of the assessment, without notice:

and if any amendment shall be made, in cases where notice is required, the same shall be deemed to have been made on the expiration of fifteen days after service of the said notice; and any person interested in such amendment may appeal by application in writing to the Justices, to be left at their office three clear days before the day fixed in the said notice for such amendment; and the provisions of sections ninety-one and ninety-two, shall, so far as may be practicable, apply to such appeal.

New assessment book need not be prepared every three years.

97. It shall not be necessary to prepare a new assessment book at the expiration of each period of assessment, but the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting,

Provided that sections eighty-seven, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four and ninety-five shall, as far as may be practicable, be applicable to such valuation or measurement and assessment, and to the assessment book or books in which it is contained.

CHAPTER VI.

OF LEVYING THE RATES.

Bills to be presented.

98. When any rate is due, the Justices shall cause to be presented, to the person liable to the payment thereof, a bill for the sum due, which shall also contain a statement of the period, and a description of the property for which the rate is charged.

Provided that whenever any rate is payable by the owner of the land, and the said owner is not the owner of the house situated on the said land, the assessment on the land and on the house shall be separately entered in the said bill.

Notice of demand

99. If the bill is not paid by the person liable to pay the same within seven days from the presentation thereof, the Justices may cause to be served upon such person a notice of demand, in the form contained in the third schedule, or to the like effect; and if he shall not, within seven days from the service of such notice of demand, pay the sum due, or show sufficient cause, to the satisfaction of the Justices, for non-payment of the same, such sum, with all costs, may be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaultar, or if the defaultar be the occupier of any house or land in respect of which a rate is due, by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, under a warrant in the form contained in the fourth schedule, or to the like effect, to be issued for that purpose by the Justices.

Distress.

For every notice of demand under this section which the Justices shall cause to be served upon any person, a fee, not exceeding one rupee, shall be paid by such person.

Inventory—notice of distress.

100. The officer charged with the execution of a warrant of distress under the last preceding section shall make an inventory of the moveable property seized under such warrant, and shall at the time give a notice in writing, in the form contained in the fifth schedule, to the person in possession thereof at the time of the seizure, that the said moveable property will be sold as therein mentioned.

Sale.

101. If the warrant is not in the meantime discharged or suspended by the Justices, the moveable property seized shall be sold under the orders of the Justices, who shall apply the proceeds, or such part thereof as may be necessary, in discharge of the said arrears and costs; and the surplus, if any, shall be returned, on demand, to the person in possession of the moveable property at the time of the seizure.

All sales of property under this section shall, so far as may be practicable, be regulated by the procedure now in force or hereafter to be in force, of the Court of Small Causes with respect to sale after distress.

Fees shall be payable upon distraints under this Act according to the rates set forth in the Table of Fees in the fifth schedule.

Goods of defaulter, wherever found, may be distrained.

102. The moveable property of any person from whom any rate is due may be distrained, wherever the same may be found, for default in payment of the money due from him.

Rate due from owner may be recovered from occupier, and deducted by him from his rent.

103. If the sum due on account of any rate from the owner of any house or land remains unpaid after notice of demand has been duly served, the Justices may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of the house or land, and, on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the house or land, and, in such case, the occupier may deduct, from the next and following payments of his rent, the amount which may be so paid by, or recovered from, him.

Distress not unlawful for want of form.

104. No distress levied under this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the notice, schedule, summons, notice of demand, warrant of distress, inventory, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall such party be deemed a trespasser on account of any irregularity committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by such irregularity may recover full satisfaction for any special damage sustained by them in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Justices may sue, instead of proceeding by distress.

105. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realize by distress and sale the whole or any part of the sum due in respect of any rate, the Justices may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE WATER-SUPPLY.

The Justices to provide water-supply

106. The Justices shall provide a supply of water within the Town, and shall for that purpose cause such mains and pipes to be laid, and such tanks, reservoirs, or other works to be made and constructed, as shall be necessary for the supply of filtered water in all the chief public streets of the Town, and shall also erect, in all such streets, sufficient and convenient stand-pipes or pumps for the gratuitous use of the inhabitants of the Town for domestic purposes.

The said stand-pipes or pumps shall be so placed that there shall not be any portion of any such chief street at a greater distance than one hundred and fifty yards from some such stand-pipe or pump.

What are not domestic purposes.

107. A supply of water for domestic purposes shall not include a supply of water for animals, or for washing carriages, where such animals or carriages are kept for sale or hire, or a supply for any trade, manufacture, or business, or for fountains, or for watering gardens or roads, or for any ornamental or mechanical purpose.

Pressure at which water must be kept.

108. The Justices shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and nine in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain in their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than ten feet for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall daily, from the hour of seven in the forenoon to nine in the forenoon, and from the hour of five in the afternoon to six in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced, to a height of not less than fifty feet.

Supply for business.

109. The Justices may supply water through a meter, for purposes other than domestic purposes, provided that the person requiring such supply make application to the Justices in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Justices may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Justices in meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works, of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Justices.

Householder entitled to supply of water for domestic use.

110. The occupier of every house shall be entitled to have, free of further charge, one thousand gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Justices as Water rate on account of such house, to be supplied from the service pipes of the Justices for domestic use through a ferrule of such size as the Justices may determine. If the Justices have reason to believe that the occupier of any house consumes more filtered water than he is entitled to as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Justices to provide a water-meter at their own expense, and attach the same to the water-pipes of the said house; and any water which may be used over and above the quantity to which the occupier is entitled as aforesaid, shall be paid for by him at the rate of one rupee for every thousand gallons.

Provided that no charge shall be made by the Justices for unfiltered water supplied under the next succeeding section.

Justices may provide filtered or unfiltered water for latrines.

111. It shall be at the option of the Justices to provide filtered or unfiltered water for all latrines and water-closets; and wherever filtered water has been already supplied to such latrines or water-closets, it shall be lawful for the Justices, at their own expense, and not otherwise, to stop the supply of filtered water, and in lieu thereof to provide unfiltered water for such latrines and water-closets.

All latrines to be provided with cistern.

112. All latrines and water-closets now supplied, or hereafter to be supplied, with water, filtered or unfiltered, shall be provided with a cistern of such size and description as the Justices shall direct; and all such cisterns shall be put up at the cost of the owner of the house or land so supplied with water.

Communication-pipes, &c., to be made of required dimensions and at expense of householder

113. Every person paying the Water rate hereinbefore mentioned shall be entitled to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Justices, for bringing into his house or land a reasonable supply of water for domestic use; provided that the Justices shall be at liberty to cut off the supply of water to any house or land during the time the said house or land is unoccupied.

The communication-pipes leading the water from the service pipes of the Justices into the house of any rate-payer, and the pipes and works within the house connected therewith, shall be of such character, dimensions, and material as the Justices shall fix and approve; and shall be made and constructed at the expense of the person requiring the same.

Communication-pipes, &c, must be made to satisfaction of Officer of the Justices.

243. If any house, or wall, or anything affixed thereon, be deemed by the Justices to be in a ruinous state, or likely to fall, or in any way dangerous to the inhabitants of such house or to the neighbouring houses, or to the occupiers thereof, or to passengers, they shall immediately, if it appears to them to be necessary, cause a proper hoard or fence to be put up for the protection of passengers, and shall cause notice in writing to be given to the owner, if he be known and resident within the limits of their jurisdiction, and shall also cause such notice to be put on the door or other conspicuous part of such house, or otherwise to be given to the occupier thereof (if any), requiring such owner or occupier forthwith to take down, repair, or secure, such house, wall, or thing affixed thereon as the case shall require.

If such owner or occupier do not begin to take down, repair, or secure the same within three days after such notice, and complete such work with due diligence, the Justices shall cause all or so much of such house, wall, or thing as they shall think necessary, to be taken down, repaired, or otherwise secured; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE ACT IN HOWRAH DURING THE YEAR 1874-75.

No. 301, dated Burdwan, the 22nd June 1875.

Memo. by—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

COPY forwarded to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Judicial Department for information.

Dated Howrah, the 9th June 1875.

From—F. W. V. PETERSON, ESQ., C.S., Chairman of the Municipal Commissioners of Howrah,

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

Jute Warehouses.

IN accordance with the provisions of section 31 of Act II of 1872 (B.C.), I have the honor to submit the following report on the working of the Jute Warehouses and Fire Brigade Act in this Municipality for the official year ending 31st March 1875.

2. During the year there were 52 Jute and Cotton Warehouses in the town, but only 28 of these were licensed, 9 were used only for storing screwed jute and cotton, and 15 were not used at all. A classified statement of the licensed Jute Warehouses is given in the Appendix A. annexed hereto.

3. Two new Jute Warehouses were constructed, of which the plans were submitted to the Commissioners in accordance with section 7 of the Act, and the buildings having been found to possess the requirements laid down in the law, were passed.

4. The total income during the year amounted to Rs. 13,482-10-9, of which the following are details :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Balance of funds on 1st April 1874	3,802	1	9
License fees*	8,675	0	0
Proceeds of sale of Fire Brigade stock‡	260	0	0
Total ...	13,482	10	9

5. The Commissioners anticipated a net income of Rs. 15,000 during the year, the estimate being based on the fees leviable on all the warehouses in the town that were used for jute and cotton purposes, but, as explained before, a large number of them (chiefly screw-houses) were not licensed. The reason for this was that many steam presses were set up which undertook the work at much lower rates than the hand screws, and also pressed bales of cotton and jute to smaller dimensions, for which better prices were secured in the market. It appears, too, that from some cause or other there was a very great decrease in the jute trade during the year under report. It was the same with the cotton trade, so far as this part of the country was concerned, and the explanation offered of this is that the merchants found it more convenient and economical to send this material to Bombay for shipment than to bring it down here and ship in Calcutta.

6. The expenditure on the inspection of Jute Warehouses amounted to Rs. 3,096-11, which is made up as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Special Committee's inspection fees	144	0	0
Inspection Establishment.
1 Inspector	2,780	0	0
2 Peons	164	15	3
Contingencies	57	11	9
Total ...	3,096	11	0

7. Appendix B contains the prosecutions instituted under the Act.

8. From the statement of prosecutions, it will be perceived that the number of cases is small as compared with that of the previous year; this is owing to the simple fact that traders were more careful, and did not turn every 8th or 10th shop into a jute depôt as they did in the preceding year, and for which 17 of them were fined.

Fire Brigade.

9. The operation of the Jute Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act came into practical effect in Howrah in August 1873, i. e. it was from that date that the Commissioners commenced to derive an income from this source.

10. As stated in the last report, the Commissioners possessed one large and one small engine. During the year 3 more were purchased and brought out from England at a cost of Rs. 3,163-15-8, which amount was paid out of the balance of the funds of the preceding year; thus raising to five the number of efficient engines at the disposal of the Municipality.

11. The organization of a regular brigade commenced in April 1874, when the following staff was appointed :—

1 Coachman,
2 Syces, and
28 Khalassees.

Subsequently, on the arrival of the new engines from England, a complete establishment was entertained, consisting of—

1 Foreman,
4 Tindals,
44 Khalassees,
2 Coachmen, and
4 Syces.

12. Four fire-engine stations were established in the town: one at each of the three police stations, consisting of one small engine, worked and drawn by 8 men and one tindal, and one at the office, consisting of the large engine, drawn by horses, and worked by 20 men and a tindal, and of one small auxiliary engine.

13. When the station at the office was first opened, two pairs of horses were maintained—one to draw the van containing the men, and the other the fire-engine. This arrangement was, however, found to be very expensive, and steps were at once taken to make alterations in the carriage of the large engine, so as to accommodate all the men. The engine was handed over to Messrs. Burn and Company, and the necessary alterations were carried out by them at a cost of Rs. 150. With this improved arrangement one pair of horses was found sufficient, and accordingly the Commissioners disposed of the second pair.

* Of this, the sum of Rs. 100 was for the arrears of the previous year.
† Of this amount Rs. 110 appertained to the preceding year, and Rs. 330 to this year.
‡ For an explanation of this item see para. 13.

14. As soon as a full brigade was formed, all the men were systematically trained for the work, and the stations were regularly visited by the foreman.

15. A fire-watch was regularly kept up at the top of the kutchery building which commanded an extensive view of the town, and information of all fires was promptly given to the several stations. An abstract shewing the number of fires (together with certain information regarding them) which occurred during the year is given in Appendix C.

16. The following is an abstract of the expenditure in the Fire-brigade Department during the year :—

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer, 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—The following rules for the guidance of Revenue Officers in certain matters connected with the enforcement of the Land Acquisition Act X of 1870, have been sanctioned by the Governor-General of India in Council, and are published for general information, in conformity with section 59 of the Act, and in supersession of the rules published at page 1921 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd of November 1870:—

WHEREAS the basis of compensation to be awarded for revenue-paying lands taken up under the provisions of Act X of 1870 is intended by the said Act to be the actual price for which the land, subject to all its burdens, and among others to the burden of the payment of land revenue, would sell in the market, it is necessary that the exact amount of the revenue demand should be ascertained and recorded before the award of compensation can be determined; and whereas under the provisions of the existing law the revenue authorities, and none other, can regulate the amount of the revenue charge to be enforced against an estate, or a portion of an estate; and whereas some of the rules already promulgated under section 59 of the said Act proceed on assumptions which are at variance with the principle above enunciated, the following revised rules are issued by the Government of Bengal, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, in supersession of those previously in force:—

I—Wherever any revenue-paying land shall be acquired under the Act, the proprietor shall, except as provided in Rule VI, be relieved of liability to pay revenue to the extent of the Government demand upon the said land, and such relief shall have effect from the date on which the Collector may take possession of the land on account of Government.

II.—In such cases the Collector shall, before making a tender, or a reference to a court regarding compensation, ascertain in accordance with the following rule, and record the amount of Government revenue which is to be taken as payable in respect of the acquired portion, and shall, in event of a reference being made to a court, furnish the court, at the time of making the reference, with particulars of the amount of the share so ascertained and recorded.

III.—If the land to be acquired be an entire estate or tenure assessed with a specific amount of revenue, the whole of such amount shall be remitted.

IV.—If the land be not liable for a specific amount of revenue, but be a portion of an estate or tenure which is liable for a specific amount, the proportion of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the land taken shall be ascertained under the following rules:—

1*st*.—When an estate has, within twenty years next preceding the date of commencement of proceedings for acquisition of any land situate thereon, been subjected to a detailed settlement, or has formed portion of an estate brought under division under Regulation XIX of 1814, made after inquiry into and record of the assets of the estate, the Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the said land shall bear to the assets of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the assets of the whole estate, as shown in the settlement or division proceedings.

2*nd*.—When there may have been no such settlement or division as aforesaid, then if the area of the estate is known with accuracy, the amount of Government revenue to be deemed payable in respect of the portion of the land taken shall bear to the area of the said land the same proportion as the Government revenue of the whole estate bears to the area of the whole estate.

3*rd*.—When the Government revenue deemed payable in respect of the land taken cannot be determined by either of the above rules, one-fourth of the net rent (i.e. the gross rental less a deduction of 10 per cent. for the expenses of collection) of the said land shall be taken to be the amount of Government revenue thereon chargeable.

V.—In determining the amount of compensation to be tendered, the Collector shall take into consideration the fact that the land is acquired subject to the burden of the payment of Government revenue.

VI.—In the event of the proprietor declining to accept an abatement of revenue, such circumstance shall not entitle him to any compensation over and above the amount tendered on the original basis of calculation. In cases, however, in which the area of the portion of land acquired does not exceed more than one-twentieth part of the area of the estate, it shall be competent to the revenue authorities, if the proprietor of the estate so desire, to pay to the proprietor the computed value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of such portion, on the condition of his continuing to pay the revenue of the entire estate without abatement; provided that in computing the value of the revenue so assigned, the basis of calculation shall not exceed the number of years purchase (if known) upon which the market value of the proprietor's profits, i.e. the tender of compensation, has been determined. Thus, if the market value of the said profits has been computed at 12 years' purchase, the capitalised value of the revenue deemed payable in respect of the portion of land acquired shall be calculated at not more than 12 years' purchase of the amount of revenue in question.

VII.—When there is any doubt whether the land to be acquired is part of a revenue-paying estate, or is revenue-free, the Collector shall, before making the reference to the court, which under the circumstances he would be required to make by section 15 of the Act, determine the amount of revenue which would be deemed payable in respect of the land acquired, in the event of the land being adjudged by the court to be a portion of the revenue paying estate of which it is alleged to form a part.

VIII.—To enable the Collector to calculate accurately the additional compensation to be given under section 42 of the Act, and to enable him to keep up fully and clearly his registers of all lands occupied and compensation paid for them, the Collector shall invariably record separately his finding under the first head of section 24 of the Act, which concerns the market value of the land, and also the specific portion of the compensation which he may award for any houses, trees, or crops upon the land.

IX.—The procedure laid down for a reference under section 15 shall be held applicable to a reference under section 43.

X.—The procedure to be followed in the apportionment of the compensation awarded on account of lands taken up for temporary occupation shall be in accordancewith the provisions of Part IV of the Act.

XI.—On the date on which payment of compensation in any case may become due under section 41 of the Act, the Collector shall tender the amount to such of the persons entitled to receive it as may be present at his office in person, or by agent duly authorized to receive the same, informing them at the same time that in the event of their refusal to accept the amount tendered, no claim to interest will be entertained. Should any such person be absent and have no authorized agent at the Collector's court, the Collector shall serve a notice upon him, calling upon him to attend in person or by agent, within one week of his receipt of the notice, to receive the amount due to him; and warning him that on failure to appear within the period abovenamed no interest whatever will be paid to him. Should such person neglect to appear within the time specified, the Collector shall, on being satisfied of the due service of the notice, invest the amount of the compensation money due to such person in Government securities, and hold the same in deposit until the amount shall be applied for by the person entitled to it.

On the application of such person, the Collector shall give him the option of receiving the Government securities plus any cash balance which has been too small for investment, or the sum which would have been paid to him had he come according to notice. The Collector shall follow the same course in regard to any compensation money which may be refused by a person entitled to receive it, provided that such investment shall be limited to even sums of Rs. 500, or multiples of Rs. 500. The amount of compensation, if less than Rs. 500, and any fractional part, if the compensation is above that sum, shall be held by the Collector in deposit.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department.

READ—

RESOLUTION.—Questions having recently arisen as to the extent to which officers in the service of Government are permitted to connect themselves with the Press, the Governor-General in Council thinks it desirable that the existing orders on the subject should be clearly understood :—

I.—No officer in the service of Government is permitted, without the previous sanction in writing of the Government under which he immediately serves, to become the proprietor, either in whole or in part, of any newspaper or periodical publication, or to edit or manage any such newspaper or publication. Such sanction will only be given in the case of newspapers or publications mainly devoted to the discussion of topics not of a political character, such for instance as art, science, or literature. The sanction will be liable to be withdrawn at the discretion of the Government.

II.—Officers in the service of Government are not prohibited from contributing to the public Press; but their position makes it incumbent upon them to confine themselves within the limits of temperate and reasonable discussion, and they are prohibited from making public, without the previous sanction of Government, any documents, papers, or information of which they may become possessed in their official capacity. These rules have been hitherto in most cases honorably observed. In case of a departure from them, or if the Government should consider the connexion of any officer with the Press to be contrary to the public interests, his liberty to contribute will be withdrawn.

III.—The Government of India will decide, in case of doubt, whether any engagements of officers with the Press are consistent with the discharge of their duties to the Government.

IV.—Nothing in this Resolution is intended to relax the provisions of any regulations on this subject which now apply to the Army.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, and circulated to Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 1330*G.*—Simla, the 6th July 1875.—Notification.—General.—The following revised rules for giving effect to Article IX of the Treaty between the British Government and His Highness the Maharaja of Jummoo and Kashmir of 2nd May 1870, in respect to the refund of duty on goods exported from British territory to Kashmir, or Central Asia vid Kashmir, having received the sanction of His Excellency the Governor-General in Council, are published for general information :—

I.—The places agreed upon between the Punjab Government and the Maharaja of Kashmir as the places where goods may be cleared and sealed for transmission in bond under these rules are Calcutta, Bombay, and Amritsar. Goods intended for Central Asia may be declared and sealed at these three places, and also at Sultanpur in the Kullu tahsil of the Kangra district.

II.—Any merchant trading on his own account, and any merchant or agent trading on account of the Maharaja of Kashmir, is entitled to claim refund of duty under these rules in the manner hereinafter described.

III.—The goods intended for export to Kashmir or Central Asia shall be declared on invoices, and opportunity shall be given to the Collector or Deputy Commissioner, or the official at Sultanpur appointed on that behalf, to inspect them as required. The packages shall be sealed in presence of the Collector or Deputy Commissioner, or an officer authorised by him, or in the case of packages declared at Sultanpur in the presence of the official appointed on that behalf.

IV.—Goods sealed at any of the places mentioned in Rule I must not break bulk until the seals shall have been examined and certificates attested by one of the officials described in Rule IX; otherwise all claim to refund of duty will be forfeited.

V.—Goods intended for Kashmir or Central Asia, but contained in packages which it is necessary or desired to open on the route up-country from the seaports, may more conveniently be declared, sealed, &c., at Amritsar or Sultanpur.

VI.—The duty of which a refund is claimable under these rules is the customs duty specified in the schedules of the Indian Tariff Act in force for the time being. The amount of such duty shall be calculated at the values assigned to goods in those schedules.

VII.—In the case of goods sealed and declared at Calcutta or Bombay, the officers empowered to grant certificates, and in the case of goods sealed and declared at Amritsar the Deputy Commissioner, and in the case of goods sealed and declared at Sultanpur the official appointed on that behalf at Sultanpur, will furnish the applicant with a certificate in the annexed form (A), specifying the numbers on the packages sealed by him or under his orders, the kind of goods, the gross weight, the destination, and the amount of duty to be refunded in the event of the goods reaching Srinagar, Jummoo or Leh, as the case may be, intact. The officers appointed to grant certificates should be furnished with the customs import tariff of fixed values, and with regard to ad valorem goods should be cautioned to investigate the claim as to drawback so as not to give drawback on the actual value of goods as laid down, say, at Amritsar or Sultanpur, which would include the cost of carriage from the seaport at those places. Drawback should not be given on more than the customs tariff value at the port of importation.

The officers empowered to grant certificates will keep a register of such certificates in serial order (B).

VIII.—When the certificate described in the preceding section shall have been granted, and the goods duly sealed, they may be conveyed by any route the applicant chooses.

IX.—The holder of a certificate granted under Rule VII will only be entitled to claim a refund on such certificate after it has been attested either—

(1) By the customs official* of His Highness the Maharaja on arrival of the goods at Jummoo or Srinagar of His Highness' dominions, or

(2) By the British Joint Commissioner at Leh on arrival of the goods at Leh.

When any of the abovenamed officials are called upon to attest the certificate, they will examine the packages to see that the seals are untampered with, and that the number and weight of packages correspond with the certificate accorded.

X.—The owner or his agent may then present this certificate either to the British Joint Commissioner at Leh, or in the case of goods sealed and declared at Calcutta or Bombay to the Collector of Calcutta or Bombay respectively, or in the case of goods sealed and declared at Amritsar to the Deputy Commissioner at Amritsar, and obtain payment of the amount of duty stated therein. No refunds will be paid at Sultanpur.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th July 1875.—Under Section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1871, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to approve of the following amended rules of the Registration Rules published at pages 1438 and 628 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th December 1873 and 25th March 1874, in modification of Rules 125, 129, and 145 :—

Rule 125.—A permanent advance, not exceeding Rs. 200, will be allowed for each District Registrar on account of (1) contingencies, (2) service postage, and (3) refund of registration fees; but he need not draw the full advance of Rs. 200 where his ordinary expenses fall much below that amount. The Registrar will apportion the amount drawn according to the requirements of each subordinate office, care being taken that for Rural Offices a sum is allowed sufficient to meet charges for refunds only; while in the case of other Sub-Registry Offices, it should be such as to cover charges for contingencies as well as refunds. In cases of the dismissal or death of Rural Sub-Registrars, the District Registrar will be held responsible for the amount of the advances made by him. At the close of each official year the District Registrar will send an acknowledgment of the entire advance to the Accountant-General, Bengal, in A. G. B. form No. 151, of which a supply should be kept at hand.

Rule 129.—All official letters and covers sent by post from any Sub-Registry or District Registry office must be prepaid by service labels. These labels will be supplied to Sub-Registrars (on application) by District Registrars, who will disallow unreasonable and excessive demands. A monthly statement of the distribution of service labels should be submitted by each District Registrar for the information of the Inspector-General. The cost of these labels will be met from the consolidated advance mentioned in Rule 125. All bills for bearing covers must be accompanied by the covers on which the payments were made as vouchers. Service labels will be purchased by District Registrars as they require them, the expenditure being included in their monthly contingent bill, supported by the Treasury Officer's receipt as vouchers.

Rule 133.—The advance received by a Sub-Registrar will never be repaid into the Treasury, but recouped from time to time, when necessary, by the submission to the Registrar of an abstract bill or bills supported by needful vouchers. On the first Office day after the 25th March in each year, the officer receiving the advance will forward an acknowledgment of its receipt to the District Registrar. Whenever there is a change of incumbency, the relieving officer shall also address to the Registrar an acknowledgment in the following form :—

relieving officer.

And I the relieving officer acknowledge to have received Rupees of the permanent advance of Rupees , and that the full amount of such advance is due from and to be accounted for by me.

Dated the 18 . relieving officer.

Rule 145.—When the expenditure during any month on account of contingencies, service postage, and refunds, in any Registrar's Office exceeds the amount of the permanent advance, the amount expended may be drawn by an abstract bill or bills (see Accountant-General's form No. 119) submitted during the month under the Registrar's signature. But in such cases a detailed bill (see Accountant-General's form No. 138), accompanied by vouchers, must also be submitted to the Inspector-General at the end of the month.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend Act XI of 1849, Act XXI of 1856, and Act XXIII of 1860, together with the amended Bill, is by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, to which the Bill to amend Act XI of 1849, Act XXI of 1856, and Act XXIII of 1860 was referred, have the honor to make the following report:—

Memorial of the Bengal Temperance Society, dated 17th March 1873.
Petition of the licensed vendors of liquors of Calcutta and suburbs, dated 22nd March 1873, with 99 signatures.
From R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge, Calcutta Court of Small Causes, dated 3rd April 1873.
From Commissioner of Burdwan, dated 26th August 1873, and enclosure.
From R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge, Calcutta Court of Small Causes, dated 15th May 1875.
Minute by A. Money, Esq., C.S., Member of the Board of Revenue, dated 25th January 1875.
Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated 18th February 1875.
To Secretary to Board of Revenue, dated 22nd February 1875.
From Secretary to Government of India, Financial Department, dated 29th April 1875.
From Officiating Secretary, Board of Revenue, dated 29th December 1874.
From Baboo Bhoobun Mohun Sircar, Licentiate in Medicine and Surgery, dated 31st May 1875.
Memorandum by R. S. T. MacEwen, Esq., Judge of the Court of Small Causes, Calcutta, dated 16th June 1875.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 14th July 1875.

The Bill, which deals with the amendment of the abkaree administration in Bengal, was first referred to a Select Committee of this Council in the early part of 1873, but that Committee recommended that the further consideration of it should be postponed until sufficient materials for a complete revision of the law had been collected. In the interval that has elapsed petitions were presented to the Government, and a correspondence between the Government and the Board of Revenue ensued.

We have considered the papers noted in the margin.

We have remedied some defects in Act XI of 1849 (for securing the abkaree revenue of Calcutta) by the introduction of some new sections into that Act. We have made it illegal for any person to manufacture spirituous and fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs without a license from the Collector of Calcutta; we have provided for the confiscation of materials and implements used in illicit manufacture; we have given additional powers to abkaree officers in respect of the seizure of such liquors and drugs, and in respect of search and entry; and have provided a more convenient form of procedure for the payment of rewards to informers and captors.

Sections 4 and 5 of the amended Bill confer certain powers on the Commissioner of Police and on police officers which before were exclusively confined to the Collector and to abkaree officers.

Section 6 is introduced with the object of getting rid of the short Act III of 1856 from the Statute Book, which is accordingly repealed.

Section 7 introduces several amendments into Act XXI of 1856, which deals with the abkaree administration in the mofussil. The Board of Revenue is empowered to make rules subjecting the cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced to supervision. Persons imprisoned under Section 73 of Act XXI of 1856, or on account of the non-payment of any fine levied under that Act, may be confined either in the civil or in the criminal jail. And a more convenient form of procedure for the payment of rewards to informers and captors is substituted, as in the case of Act XI of 1849.

Section 8 enacts that all the provisions of Act XXI of 1856, which relate to puchwai, shall apply to any fermented liquors other than those specified in that Act. The reason for the introduction of this section is that other fermented liquors are manufactured which escape the operation of the Act. The Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to exempt any fermented liquor from the provisions of the Act within any specified tract of country.

Section 9 corrects a verbal inaccuracy in Section 40 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1866.

Section 10 prohibits the cultivation of plants from which intoxicating drugs are produced without a license from the Collector.

Section 11 directs that Magistrates shall follow the provisions of Sections 67, 68, 69, and 70 of the Indian Penal Code in awarding a period of imprisonment in default of payment of fines, and adopts the provision of Section 307 of the Criminal Procedure Code for the levy of fines.

Sections 12 and 13 embody the provisions of Section 12 of 24 George II., Cap. 40 (The Tippling Act), and 25 and 26 Vic., Cap. 38, the adoption of which was suggested by Mr. R. S. T. MacEwen, Third Judge of the Small Cause Court, and is approved by a majority of the Committee. The object of these sections is to discourage tavern-keepers from giving credit for small amounts of liquor consumed on the premises, and so to put a check on what is known as tippling. An exception is made in favor of hotel-keepers suing for liquors consumed by persons residing on the premises. These sections apply to Calcutta, the Suburbs, and Howrah only.

We have considered the propriety of making wholesale dealers in Calcutta take out licenses, a change suggested by Mr. A. Money; but on ascertaining the practice in the other presidency towns, we have not thought it advisable to adopt the suggestion.

We have also considered the proposal for subjecting chemists' shops and dispensaries to supervision and inspection with a view to check the sale of intoxicating drinks; but it appeared to us that the law as it now stands is sufficiently stringent to meet the evil, and the majority of the Committee do not therefore recommend any further legislation in this direction.

We recommend that the Bill be passed as now presented by us.

From Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, dated 5th February 1875
From Superintendent of Revenue Survey, Upper Circle, dated 14th April 1875
From Settlement Officer, Midnapore, dated 19th April 1875.
Demi official letter from Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, Midnapore, dated 24th March 1875
From Commissioner of Burdwan, dated 22nd April 1875
From Collector of Midnapore, dated 28th April 1875
From Officiating Collector of Hooghly, dated 6th May 1875
From Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, dated 30th April 1875
From Collector of Midnapore, dated 8th June 1875
From Officiating Senior Superintendent of Survey, dated 7th June 1875
From Commissioner of Patna, dated 17th June 1875.
From Officiating Collector of Hooghly, dated 22nd June 1875.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th July 1875

We have considered the papers noted in the margin which were laid before us.

We have struck out the definitions of the words "Lieutenant-Governor" and "Board" as unnecessary (Section 1).

We have amplified the definition of the word "Estate."

We have defined the word "Survey" (Section 1).

We have made considerable changes in the form of the Bill

We have recognized the appointment of a Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents of Survey (Section 4).

With a view to expediting proceedings, we have inserted sections (11, 12, and 13) empowering the Collector to require the attendance of persons interested within a specified time, for the purpose of signing and admitting the correctness of maps or papers prepared under the Act, or giving notice of objection to such maps or papers. We have laid down the procedure to be observed by the Collector where objections are stated, and have provided that a zemindar making an objection after the time allowed will have to bear the costs of further inquiry.

We have exempted rent-free holdings, of which the annual value is less than five rupees, from liability to pay any portion of expenses incurred in erecting boundary marks (Section 17).

We have provided that the Collector shall cause boundary marks to be put up by his own employés, instead of requiring occupants to put them up; but that he may cause them to be put up by occupants with their consent (Section 21).

No tenure-holder is made liable to pay any portion of the expenses incurred by the erection of boundary marks on an estate, unless some portion of his tenure is situated within 1,500 feet of some such boundary mark.

We have simplified the procedure of Part IV for the apportionment of expenses on estates and tenures, and have provided for a summary apportionment of expenses between the zemindar and the tenure-holders, which the Collector may adopt whenever he has sufficient information to enable him to make such apportionment, whether derived from papers compiled for the purposes of the road cess, from inquiries made in the course of proceedings under the Act, or otherwise (Sections 31, 32, and 33).

In Part V we have clearly defined the powers of the Collector in respect to determining disputed boundaries, and also in respect to relaying boundaries which have been demarcated and mapped on previous occasions by competent authority, when it shall appear to him desirable to do so. We have omitted the reference to the powers exercised under Regulation VII of 1822.

We have provided for the imposition and levy of a daily fine in the case of persons delaying the proceedings by failing to comply with requisitions made under the Act (Section 51).

We have clearly defined the powers of control and the appellate jurisdiction of the different revenue officers (Sections 58, 59, and 60).

We have provided that no suit shall be brought to set aside any order of a Collector Superintendent of Survey, Assistant Superintendent, or Deputy Collector, in a boundary dispute, unless an appeal has been presented against the order (Section 62).

We have omitted the proviso of Section 32 of the Bill as first published, to the effect that suits to set aside the orders of Commissioners and Collectors must be instituted within six months of the date of the orders. The effect of this omission is to allow twelve months as the period within which such suits must be instituted, as they will now come under the Indian Limitation Act, being suits to set aside "any act of an officer of Government in his official capacity, not herein otherwise expressly provided for," as defined in Schedule ii (16) of that Act.

We have allowed the Board of Revenue to lay down rules, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, for the preparation of maps and registers, and for the collection of any information in respect of any land to be surveyed under the Act.

We have made other alterations in form and words.

Provided that if within the said seven days such duly authorized agent deposits with the Collector the necessary expenses of making copies of the said maps or papers, the Collector shall order such copies to be prepared, and as soon as they are prepared, shall cause a notice to that effect to be posted in his office, and the said agent shall be allowed fifteen days from the posting of such notice for the purpose of signing or stating objections under this section.

Procedure when objection is stated.

Whenever any person on whom a notice has been served as required by section eleven, but who has failed to sign the maps and papers, or to give in his objections in writing within the time prescribed, shall prefer any subsequent objection against the correctness of any maps or papers in respect of which such notice was served on him, the Collector shall require him to deposit the estimated costs of any further inquiry which it may be necessary to make in respect of his objection; and if the said person shall fail to deposit such costs within the time specified by the Collector, he shall be deemed for all purposes of this Act to have admitted the correctness of the said map and papers. If the costs of any inquiry which may be deemed necessary be deposited, the Collector shall make such further inquiry at the expense of the person so objecting; and if the objection shall seem to the Collector not to be well founded, he may pass such order as he shall think fit in respect of the recovery from the objector of any sum expended by the Collector on the enquiry in excess of the sum deposited, and of any necessary expenses incurred by any other person on account of such inquiry.

Provided that no person on whom a notice has been served under section eleven, and who has failed to state his objection in writing within the time prescribed under that section, but who shall prefer any subsequent objection, shall, under any circumstances, be entitled to recover the expenses which he is required to deposit before any further inquiry is made in respect of such subsequent objection.

PART III.

OF BOUNDARY MARKS.

Collector may erect temporary boundary marks.

14. The Collector may cause to be erected temporary boundary marks of such materials, and in such numbers and manner as he may direct, on any lands to be surveyed under this Act; and may require any occupant of land to maintain and keep in repair such marks, or any boundary marks, until any survey operations shall be concluded and a final award given as to any disputed boundary, or until permanent boundary marks may be erected in lieu thereof as hereinafter provided.

Collector may erect permanent boundary marks.

15. The Collector may at any time cause to be erected, on any land which is to be, or which has been surveyed under this Act, permanent boundary marks of such materials, and in such number and manner, as he may determine to be sufficient to distinguish the boundaries of the estates, tenures, mouzahs, or fields for which the same are to be erected.

Provided that seven days before he proceeds to the erection of any permanent boundary marks, the Collector shall, for the information of all concerned, cause to be posted in his office, and in the mâl cutcherry, or at some other convenient place on every estate concerned, a specification of the number and character of the marks which he proposes to erect on the estate and an estimate of their cost.

Apportionment of expenses.

16. All expenses incurred by the Collector in erecting temporary or permanent boundary marks under this Act shall, in manner hereinafter provided, be apportioned among, and levied from, the zemindars and tenure-holders on their estates;

Provided that no tenure-holder shall be liable to pay any portion of the expenses incurred by the erection of boundary marks on an estate, unless some portion of his tenure is situated within fifteen hundred feet of some such boundary mark.

Lands not subject to rent to be deemed to be part of a tenure.

17. All lands held without payment of rent, not being entered on the Collector's register of revenue-free tenures of the district, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they may be included; and if they be not included within the local boundary of any tenure, then to be a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are included, and if they be not included within the local boundaries of any one estate, then to be a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector, in whose district such conterminous estate is situated, shall, by an order under his seal, appoint.

Provided that no rent-free holding of which the annual value is less than five rupees, shall be liable to pay any portion of the expenses of erecting boundary marks under this Act.

Procedure when occupant fails to maintain boundary mark.

18. If any occupant on whom a requisition has been made under section fourteen, fails to maintain, or keep in repair, any temporary boundary mark, the Collector may maintain, keep in repair, or restore any such boundary mark, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recovered as provided in section fifty-seven from the person so failing to maintain, or keep in repair, any such boundary mark.

Zemindar, &c., bound to preserve boundary-marks and give notice to Collector when they are injured.

19. Every zemindar, tenure-holder and farmer of land shall be legally bound to preserve, as far as lies in his power, such of the permanent boundary marks lawfully erected on his estate, tenure, or farm, or on the boundary between his estate, tenure, or farm, and any other estate tenure, or farm, as may be assigned to him in that respect entirely, or jointly with other persons, under the provisions of section twenty-nine, and shall give immediate notice to the Collector if any such marks are injured, destroyed, or removed, or require repairs.

Collector may re-erect injured boundary mark and recover expenses from zemindar, &c.

20. Whenever it shall come to the notice of the Collector that any permanent boundary mark erected under the provisions of this Act, has been injured, destroyed, or removed, or requires repairs, the Collector may cause such boundary mark to be re-erected, restored, or repaired, and may recover any expenses incurred in respect of such re-erection, restoration, or repair in such proportions as he shall think fit from the zemindars and tenure-holders to whom such boundary mark may have been assigned in that respect under the provisions of section twenty-nine, and all such expenses shall be recoverable as provided in section fifty-seven.

Collector may cause boundary mark to be erected by occupant of land with his consent.

21. Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to prohibit the Collector from causing any temporary or permanent marks to be erected, maintained or repaired by any occupant of land, under the directions of the said Collector, and with the consent of such occupant.

The Collector shall repay to such occupant the expenses incurred in such erection or repair, and such expenses shall be apportioned and recovered as provided in Part IV.

PART IV.

OF THE APPORTIONMENT AND RECOVERY OF EXPENSES.

Collector to prepare statement of all expenses incurred in respect of boundary marks.

22. Upon the completion of the erection of boundary marks on any tract of land of which the survey may have been ordered, or on any convenient portion thereof, the Collector shall forthwith prepare a statement of all expenses incurred in respect of such boundary marks.

Contents of the statement.

23. Such statement shall show the total number of marks of each description which have been erected on such tract, or portion of such tract, the aggregate cost of erecting all the marks of each description, the names of the estates and mouzahs within, or on the boundaries of which any marks have been erected, and the total number of marks of each description erected within or on the boundary of each estate.

24. Upon the completion of such statement, the Collector shall provisionally apportion the aggregate expenses of erecting the marks among the estates specified, with reference to the number of boundary marks of each description which have been erected within or on the boundary of each estate.

Collector to apportion the cost of erecting marks among the estates.

25. So soon as the provisional apportionment shall have been made as required by the last preceding section, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served on the zemindar of every estate on which the expenses have been apportioned,

Notice to be served.

(a) specifying the sum which has been apportioned on his estate, and as far as can be calculated, the sum which he will be required to pay on account of the service of notices on him under this section and section twenty-nine;

(b) informing him that the said statement is open to inspection in the office of the Collector;

(c) calling on him to appear in person, or by agent properly authorized, at the office of the Collector on a date to be specified in the notice (not being less than two months after the issue of the notice), on which date the Collector will proceed to consider any objections which may be made to the provisional apportionment of expenses,

(d) warning him that if he does not appear on the date fixed in pursuance of the notice he will be deemed to have waived all objections to the share of the expenses apportioned to his estate; and (unless as otherwise hereinafter provided in sections thirty-one, thirty-two, and thirty-three)

(e) informing him that under this Act he is entitled to recover a portion of the amount which shall be finally made payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six, from such tenure-holders on his estate as are made liable to bear a portion of such expenses by sections sixteen and seventeen of this Act, (of which sections a copy shall be annexed to the notice); and that in order to enable the Collector to apportion the said amount among the said tenure-holders, he may give in a list of all such tenures as defined in this Act, held directly from him, with a specification of the number of boundary marks of each description which are erected within or on the boundary of each tenure; and

(f) warning him that if he fails to give in a list of tenures as aforesaid on or before the said date, he will be deemed to have given up all claim to recover from the tenure-holders any part of the amount for which he may be held liable under section twenty-six of this Act.

26. On the date fixed in such notice, the Collector shall proceed to consider all objections which may be made to the provisional apportionment, and to make such final apportionment of the expenses as shall seem to him fit; in making such final apportionment, the costs of serving all notices under section twenty-five shall be distributed rateably among the estates concerned, in proportion to the share of the expenses of erecting boundary marks which may be apportioned to each estate; and the amount so finally apportioned as payable in respect of each estate, together with the costs of serving notices rateably distributed as aforesaid, shall be due to the Collector from the zemindars of such estates.

Collector to make final apportionment.

27. Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding section, the Collector may postpone the final apportionment if it shall appear to him that a notice under section twenty-five has not been served on the zemindar of any estate which should be made liable for a portion of the expenses, or for any other sufficient reason.

Collector may postpone final apportionment.

28. Any zemindar failing to appear on the date fixed in the notice served on him under section twenty-five will be deemed to have waived all objections to the payment of the amount apportioned to his estate, and will not be entitled to prefer any objections thereto on any subsequent date; and any zemindar failing to give in a list of tenures (when called upon under section twenty-five to give in such list), on or before such date, will be deemed to have given up all claim to recover from the tenure-holders any part of the amount which may have been apportioned as payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six.

Zemindar failing to appear will be deemed to have waived all objections.

29. So soon as the expenses shall have been finally apportioned under section twenty-six among the estates concerned as hereinbefore provided, the Collector shall issue a notice in respect of every estate, specifying the amount finally apportioned as payable in respect of the estate, and requiring the zemindar to pay such amount to the Collector, together with the costs of serving such notice, within one month of the issue of the notice. If such amount be not paid to the Collector within such period, the same, with interest, at such rate, not exceeding six per centum per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time determine, may be levied as provided in section fifty-seven.

Collector to issue a notice specifying amount finally apportioned.

The notice issued under this section shall assign to the zemindar, or to the zemindar jointly with tenure-holders, the boundary marks which they are legally bound to preserve under the provisions of section nineteen, and in respect of which they will be held liable to pay the costs of re-erection, maintenance, and repair, under the provisions of section twenty.

30. If the zemindar of any estate shall give in a list of tenures, as referred to in section twenty-five, with an application to the Collector to apportion between his estate and the tenures the amount which has been apportioned as payable in respect of his estate as aforesaid, the Collector shall proceed to make a provisional apportionment of the said amount between the zemindar and the tenure-holders, to serve notices on the said tenure-holders in the manner provided in section twenty-five, and to make a final apportionment among the said zemindar and tenure-holders in the manner provided in sections twenty-six and twenty-seven; and the provisions of section twenty-eight shall be applicable to such tenure-holders.

Provided that no separate notice shall be served under this section in respect of the provisional or final apportionment of the sum payable in respect of any tenure, if such sum be less than two rupees; but in respect of all such sums it shall be sufficient to publish a list showing the sums apportioned as payable. Such list shall be published by being posted at the office of the Subdivisional Officer and at a conspicuous place in some village within which lands appertaining to the tenure are situate.

Summary apportionment between zemindar and tenure-holders.

31. Notwithstanding any thing in this Part contained, whenever the Collector may consider that he has sufficient information (whether derived from papers compiled for the purposes of the road cess, from enquiries made in the course of proceedings under this Act, or otherwise), to enable him in a summary way to make an apportionment of any expenses recoverable under this Act in respect of any estate, between the zemindars of and the holders of tenures in such estate, the Collector may, as soon as possible after he shall have made a provisional apportionment under section twenty-four of the sum payable in respect of such estate, and without calling on the zemindar to give in any list of tenures as provided in clause (e) of section twenty-five, proceed to make a provisional apportionment between the zemindars and the tenure-holders of such estates of the sum which has been provisionally apportioned under section twenty-four as payable in respect of the estate.

Notice to be served on zemindar when provisional apportionment has been made summarily.

32. Whenever any provisional apportionment of the sum payable between the zemindars and the tenure-holders may have been made summarily, as provided in the last preceding section, the notice to be served on the zemindar under section twenty-five, shall inform the zemindar, in addition to the particulars specified in clauses (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the said section, and instead of those specified in clauses (e) and (f), that under this Act he is entitled to recover a portion of the amount which shall be finally apportioned as payable in respect of his estate under section twenty-six, from the tenure-holders on his estate; and

and shall warn him

that if he fails to prefer any objection to such provisional apportionment on or before the date specified, he will be deemed to have given up all right to prefer any such objection at any future time; and that the Collector will proceed to make such apportionment final, or to make any modifications in it which he may think fit; provided that the sum finally made payable by the zemindar shall not exceed the sum apportioned upon him in the said provisional apportionment between the zemindars and the tenure-holders.

Procedure on provisional apportionment.

33. As soon as a provisional apportionment between the zemindar and the tenure-holders shall have been made summarily as provided in section thirty-one, the Collector shall proceed to serve notices on the tenure-holders concerned in the manner provided in section thirty, and to do all other things as if the said provisional apportionment upon tenure-holders had been made on a list given in by the zemindar under section thirty.

Mode of apportionment among tenures.

34. In apportioning the amount among the zemindar and the tenure-holders, the Collector shall first deduct such sum as he shall consider to be fairly payable by the zemindar in respect of lands not included in any tenure, and in respect of his interest in lands which are included in tenures; and in apportioning the remainder among the tenures, he shall take into consideration the numbers of pillars erected within or on the boundary of each tenure, the extent of each tenure, and the distance at which it is situated from the boundary marks; but no tenure shall be made liable for any portion of the sum so apportioned, unless some part of it be situated within fifteen hundred feet from some boundary mark.

Notice of apportionment in respect of tenures.

35. So soon as the final apportionment among tenure-holders under section thirty shall be completed, the Collector shall cause to be issued notices to each of the said tenure-holders, stating the amount payable in respect of each of their tenures, with interest (if any) calculated at the annual rate of six per centum from the date on which the zemindar paid to the Collector the sum which was apportioned on his estate under section twenty-six, and the cost of serving upon the tenure-holder the notice under this section, and calling upon him to pay the total amount so due to the zemindar of the estate of which the tenure is a part, within one month of the date of the notice.

Provided that no separate notice shall be served under this section on any tenure-holder who is required to pay a sum of less than two rupees as his share of the expenses apportioned under this Act; but in respect of such sums it shall be sufficient to publish a list in the manner prescribed by section thirty, and no costs incurred in respect of the publication of any such list shall be recoverable from any person mentioned therein as liable to pay less than two rupees.

Collector not to issue notices to tenure-holders until zemindars have deposited costs.

36. Notwithstanding anything contained in section thirty-five, the Collector shall not issue the notices therein mentioned to the tenure-holders until the zemindars concerned shall have deposited with the Collector the full amount of the costs of serving all the notices, and of publishing the lists as required by that section.

Apportionment between tenure-holder and holder of subordinate tenure.

37. The provisions of sections twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-four and thirty-five shall be applicable, as far as possible, to every case in which any tenure-holder, who has been made liable for the payment of any share of expenses under this Act, may apply to the Collector to apportion the amount for which he has been made liable, between himself and the holders of subordinate tenures direct from himself; and the provisions of sections thirty-one, thirty-two and thirty-three, regarding the procedure for making a provisional apportionment in a summary way between zemindar and the tenure-holders on his estate, shall be applicable, as far as possible, to the provisional apportionment of expenses between the holder of a tenure and the holders of under-tenures within his tenure; provided always that no such apportionment shall be made in respect of ryots who have a right of occupancy only, and whose rent is not fixed in perpetuity.

Recovery of sums payable to zemindar.

38. Every zemindar or tenure-holder, to whom any sum is payable under the preceding sections, may recover the same with interest as aforesaid in the manner provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of arrears of rent in respect of the tenure for which the sum is due.

Recovery of sums expended by Government since 1st November 1874.

39. The provisions of this Part shall apply to all sums expended by the Government since the first day of November one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four in erecting boundary marks.

PART V.

BOUNDARY DISPUTES.

Procedure in case of dispute as to any boundary.

40. If it shall come to the notice of the Collector, in the course of a survey under this Act, that a dispute exists as to any boundary which should be surveyed, the Collector, after holding such enquiry as he may deem necessary, may determine such boundary as hereinafter provided.

Powers of Collector when boundary not determined by Court or laid down by Revenue Survey.

41. The Collector shall determine the boundary according to actual possession, and cause it to be secured by boundary marks; and the order of the Collector under this section shall, until it be reversed or modified by competent authority, have the force of an order of any Civil Court declaring the parties to be in possession of the land in accordance with the boundary as determined by the Collector.

Power of Collector to take possession of land in dispute.

42. If after holding the necessary enquiry, the Collector is unable to discover which party was in possession of the disputed land when he instituted the enquiry under this section, the Collector may take possession of the land in dispute, and retain possession thereof until some party shall have established his right to the said land.

Power to refer to arbitration

43. Whenever the Collector thinks it necessary to decide a dispute as to any boundary under the last preceding section, he may, with the consent of the parties concerned, refer the same to arbitration.

The procedure laid down in Chapter VI of Act, VIII of 1859 (the Code of Civil Procedure) shall, so far as may be practicable, be applicable to disputes so referred to arbitration.

Powers of a Collector when boundary determined by Court or by Revenue Survey.

44. If the boundary regarding which the dispute exists as mentioned in section forty shall at any previous time have been determined by any Court of competent jurisdiction; or shall have been laid down and shown on a map in the course of any previous Revenue Survey or Settlement, and no objection to the boundary as then laid down and mapped shall have been preferred before any authority competent to decide on such objection;

whenever the dispute relates to the boundary of an estate which is liable for revenue, or to any other boundary by which the interests of the Government may be affected, the Collector shall, and whenever the dispute relates to any other boundary, the Collector may, if he thinks fit, relay, as nearly as may be possible, the boundary as previously determined or laid down and shown on the map, and cause such boundary to be shown on the survey map, with an explanatory note to the same;

provided that the relaying and record of a boundary by the Collector under this section shall not affect the possession of any land by any party; and shall be in addition to the determination and record of the boundary according to actual possession required by section forty-one.

Nothing in this section contained shall be understood to prohibit the Collector from deviating from a boundary as held by actual possession or as shown on a former map, and laying down a new boundary, if all the parties concerned agree to such new boundary, on the ground that the boundary held by actual possession, or as shown on the former map, was incorrect, and if it appears to the Collector that there is no objection to the adoption of such new boundary.

The reason for every such deviation shall be recorded in the Collector's proceedings.

Power of Collector at any time when doubt or dispute exists as to any boundary.

45. If it shall come to the notice of the Collector at any time, or in any manner, that a doubt or dispute exists in respect to any boundary

(a) which has at any time been determined by a competent Court; or

(b) which has been laid down and shown on a map, in the course of a previous Revenue Survey or Settlemnt, or other proceeding of a revenue officer for any special purpose, and against which no objection has been preferred to any authority competent to decide upon such objection; or the Collector may, if he thinks it desirable for any reason that the boundary so determined or laid down shall be relaid, proceed to relay the boundary in the manner prescribed in section forty-four of this Act, and for the purpose of so relaying the boundary he may make any enquiries and surveys which may be necessary, and such enquiries and surveys shall be deemed to be proceedings under section six, and the Collector shall exercise in respect thereof all powers which he may exercise in respect of enquiries and surveys under that section.

(c) which has been laid down by a Survey under this Act,

In certain cases Collector may require occupant of conterminous lands to erect marks.

46 Whenever the Collector shall have determined a boundary which was in dispute, and the order shall have become final, and whenever a boundary which has been supplied by the survey officers, or has been determined under this Act, has been altered by a decree of any Civil Court, which has become final, and whenever it shall come to the notice of the Collector that any boundary has been determined by a competent Court or authority, the Collector may cause such marks as he may think fit to be erected in order to secure the boundary permanently, and the provisions of Parts III and IV shall, so far as is possible, be applicable to boundary marks which are erected under this section, and to the apportionment of the cost thereof.

PART VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Joint zemindars to be subject to every liability imposed on single zemindars.

47. Whenever any estate or tenure is held jointly by two or more zemindars or tenure-holders, all such zemindars and tenure-holders shall be jointly and severally liable in respect of every liability imposed on zemindars or tenure-holders respectively by this Act;

And any shareholder in any estate or tenure who may have paid the amount finally apportioned to such estate or tenure, may recover from his co-sharers such sums as may be payable in respect of their shares as arrears of rent, or may take credit for such sums in any adjustment of accounts between himself and his co-sharers.

Service of notice.

48. Every notice in and by this Act required to be served on any person may be served—

(1) by delivering the same to the person to whom it is directed, or on failure of such service, by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the house in which the said person resides, or by delivering the said notice to a general agent of the person to whom such notice is directed; or

(2) by sending a registered letter containing such notice directed to the said person at his usual place of abode, or to the place where he may be known to reside; or

(3) by posting a copy of the notice at any mál cutcherry of the estate or tenure of the person to whom the notice is directed; or if no such mál cutcherry be found, on some conspicuous place on the said estate or tenure to which such notice relates, and by delivering, in the case of estates paying their annual revenue by four instalments, another copy thereof to any agent who shall have paid an instalment of revenue next after the preparation of such notice. In all cases where two or more persons are holders of an estate or tenure, service of notice under this clause shall be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons.

No proceedings under this Act to be affected by any mistake or misdescription.

49. No proceedings under this Act shall be affected by reason of any mistake in the name of any person thereby rendered liable to pay any sum of money, or in the description of any estate or tenure or land in respect of which he is rendered liable to pay, or by reason of any other informality, provided the directions of this Act be in substance and effect complied with; and no proceedings under this Act shall be affected by reason of the omission to serve any notice on any zemindar whose name is not recorded on the Collector's registers as owner of the estate in respect of which the notice is required to be served.

Power of Collector to enforce attendance of witnesses.

50. For the purpose of any enquiry under this Act, the Collector shall, in addition to every power conferred specially by this Act, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and compel the production of documents by the same means (as far as may be), and in the same manner, as is provided in the case of a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure.

Daily fine for failure to comply with requisition in notice.

51. If any person shall fail to comply with a requisition contained in any special notice served under section seven of this Act, or in any notice served for the purpose of any inquiry under Part V of this Act, within the time specified in such notice, the Collector may impose upon him such daily fine as he may think fit, not exceeding fifty rupees, and such fine shall be payable daily until the requisition is complied with; and the Collector may proceed from time to time to levy any amount which has become due in respect of any such fine, notwithstanding that an appeal against the order imposing such fine may be pending:

Provided that whenever the amount levied under any such order shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner of the Division, and no further levy in respect of such fine shall be made otherwise than by authority of the said Commissioner.

Penalty for failing to give notice of injury to boundary mark.

52. Any person, being bound by the provisions of section nineteen to give notice to the Collector in respect of any boundary mark having been injured, destroyed, or removed, or requiring repairs, who shall fail to give such notice, shall be liable to a fine, not exceeding one hundred rupees, to be imposed by order of the Collector.

Penalty for removing boundary marks.

53. Any person convicted before a Collector of wilfully erasing, removing, or damaging any boundary mark (not being a landmark fixed by the authority of a public servant within the meaning of section four hundred and thirty-four of the Indian Penal Code) which has been lawfully erected, may be ordered by the convicting officer to pay such sum, not exceeding two hundred rupees, for each mark so erased, removed, or damaged, as the said officer may think fit in addition to such sum as may be necessary to defray the expense of restoring the boundary mark so erased, removed, or damaged.

54. The Collector may award any portion of a fine imposed under either of the two last preceding sections, and which may be realised, to any person who may have given information leading to the imposition of the fine.

Collector may award portion of fine to informer.

55. A fine under sections fifty-one, fifty-two, and fifty-three may be levied, as far as may be practicable, in the manner provided in section three hundred and seven of the Code of Criminal Procedure, but if no moveable property belonging to the person from whom the fine is due is found in the district within which the order was passed, then such fine may be levied as if it were an arrear of revenue.

Levy of fine.

56. Whenever the person erasing, removing, or damaging any boundary mark cannot be discovered, or if for any other reason it is found impracticable to recover from him the sum which he has been so ordered to pay, the boundary mark shall be restored or repaired by the Collector, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be recovered from the occupants of such of the conterminous lands, and in such proportions as to the Collector may seem fit.

When person removing boundary mark cannot be found, Collector may repair.

57. Every amount which may become due to the Collector under the provisions of this Act in respect of any expenses incurred, or of any notices served, or of any costs payable by any party in an appeal, shall be deemed to be a demand under section two of Bengal Act VII of 1868 (an Act to make further provision for the recovery of arrears of Land Revenue and Public Demands recoverable as arrears of Land Revenue) and shall be leviable as such.

Every amount due deemed to be a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868.

58. ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPALITY FOR THE YEAR 1874.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 20th July 1875.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipality for the year 1874, submitted by the Secretary to the Justices with his letter No. 1816, dated 11th instant.

Read again—

The Administration Report for the year 1873, with the Government Resolution thereon.

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipality now submitted is, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe, a favorable one as regards the financial results of the year. The total sum at the disposal of the Justices for police and municipal purposes amounted to Rs. 46,12,464, compared with Rs. 44,96,118 in 1873, as shown in the following table :—

	1873 Rs.	1874 Rs.
Revenue account income	24,98,300	26,68,395
Capital account receipts	11,95,774	12,59,618
Suspense account	1,00,141	1,45,879
Cash balances	7,01,903	5,38,572
Total ...	44,96,118	46,12,464

2. The improvement which these figures show in the ordinary income of the Municipality is due chiefly to an increase in the receipts under the heads of "police rate," "water rate," "rent," "jute warehouses," and "miscellaneous," and to the revenue now derived from the municipal markets, which, in the year under review, exceeded half a lakh of rupees.

3. While the collections on account of "house rate" were somewhat more than was estimated in the budget, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that they were less than in the year previous by Rs. 19,644. That this is not attributable to any remissness on the part of the collecting establishment is shown by the fact that the arrears outstanding at the close of the year amounted only to Rs. 18,724, of which Rs. 7,000 are merely nominally due. The assessments in a considerable part of the town were revised during the year with some advantage, it would seem, from a financial point of view: and though some complaints arose at one time, still the Lieutenant-Governor does not gather that any hardship has ultimately resulted from the proceedings; any inequalities in the assessments having been remedied when brought to light on appeal.

4. As regards the other rates also levied by the Municipality, the collections were in excess of what was anticipated. Including those made on account of the house rate, they are stated to have amounted to Rs 18,71,155, against a budget estimate of Rs. 18,41,965; while the total amount remaining unrealized at the close of the year was Rs. 51,558. These results are favorable to the system adopted of paying the collecting establishment by a percentage on the amount realized by them.

5. The receipts on account of licenses on professions, trades, and callings, and for carriages and horses, slightly exceeded those of the previous year; and Sir Richard Temple is glad to observe that while collections have increased, there has been a considerable decrease during the year under review in the number of prosecutions for not taking out licenses.

6. Comparing results with those of the previous year, it appears that the total expenditure of the Justices, including that on police, was as follows:—

	1873	1874
	Rs.	Rs.
Revenue account expenditure	25,19,433	26,13,922
Capital account expenditure	14,48,123	15,04,490
Total ...	39,67,556	41,18,412

Deducting the total expenditure from the total amount available, the balance in the hands of the Justices at the close of the year appears to have amounted to Rs. 4,94,052, against Rs. 5,28,562 at the close of 1873. Adding, however, to the revenue account expenditure stated above a sum of Rs. 4,50,791 provided for in the budget, but not disbursed till after the close of the year, it would seem not only that the amount really at the credit of the Municipality was very inconsiderable, but that the ordinary expenditure of the Justices exceeded their ordinary income by no less than Rs. 3,96,318.

7. To meet the extraordinary or capital account expenditure, it became necessary for the Justices to add a sum of Rs. 12,20,000 to their debt, which now amounts to Rs. 1,46,60,600, against an accumulation of Rs. 14,88,317 only in the Sinking Fund. Including payments to this fund, the charges on account of the debt incurred amount to no less than Rs. 10,04,740 annually. Having to provide for the payment of this sum, the Justices are necessarily prevented from carrying out many minor improvements in the town which are obviously desirable. Still the Lieutenant-Governor thinks (and he is glad to learn that the opinion is gaining ground among the ratepayers) that the money spent has been well applied.

8. In reviewing the circumstances under which the introduction of a complete system of drainage into Calcutta was determined upon, the Chairman of the Justices notices prominently the fact that at first the difficulty and expense of the work were much under-rated. In the twenty years which have elapsed since the first scheme was drawn out, much may have occurred to change the conditions under which the work has been executed; and the Lieutenant-Governor accepts the statement that no more economical plan could have been devised than that which has so far been carried out. The length of sewers constructed in the year under review was 44,283 lineal feet, and the total expenditure Rs. 5,37,635. Sir Richard Temple observes that it is anticipated that the whole of that portion of the works, the undertaking of which, at a total cost of Rs. 21,20,242, was determined on in 1871, will be completed by the middle of the current year. It is clear, however, that further provision will be necessary to guard against the floods which are stated to have proved a source of inconvenience in several streets, and to be due in part to obstructions caused by the new drainage works. This may be an additional reason for completing these according to Mr. Clarke's original design. When the detailed estimates now under preparation for the construction of the 3rd class sewers are ready, the Lieutenant-Governor will be happy to learn what determination the Justices have come to in the matter, and to receive any proposals they may have to make for the purpose of providing funds to meet the cost of any further works which it may be desired to undertake. The completion of the drainage works in the native part of the town is, no doubt, an object of prime importance.

9. Excluding interest and contributions to the Sinking Fund, the total expenditure in connection with the water-supply of the town during the year was Rs. 2,86,981, of which Rs. 36,839 were spent in providing an additional pumping engine at Tallah, and Rs. 21,334 on the Chandpal Ghât works, which supply unfiltered water for conservancy purposes. Notwithstanding the completion during the year of the subsidiary scheme at a total cost of Rs. 2,38,224, it is found that the demand for filtered water still continues to increase, and often exceeds the supply which the works were designed to provide. If the constant supply system is to be maintained, the present demand would seem to require a further outlay of some 23 lakhs of rupees, and the question whether additional works are to be undertaken is now under the consideration of the Justices. The Lieutenant-Governor, though quite aware of the need for a larger quantity of filtered water, would be disposed to make further efforts to meet this requirement without undertaking costly additional works, which must, if executed, add to the already heavy charges on account of the municipal debt. By increasing the number of filters at Pultah, which can be made at no great expense, it is probable that some relief will be afforded. At any rate, before further expenditure is incurred, which might necessitate additional taxation, the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see some practical measures devised, and submitted, if necessary, for the sanction of the Legislature, to check the present waste of water which is complained of.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor congratulates the Justices on the completion, at a total cost of Rs. 6,50,000, of the new Municipal Market. He is glad to learn that the receipts derived from it, and from the Dhurrumtollah Market, are sufficient to cover all expenses, including interest on the money borrowed, and contribution to the Sinking Fund. The improvements which the Maharajah of Burdwan has carried out in the Tiretta Bazar are satisfactory and commendable, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that they may be followed by the completion of the works which the Health Officer alludes to as necessary to render the bazar a perfect one.

11. A somewhat increased sum was devoted during the year under review to the ordinary purposes of conservancy and road-making. The thanks are due to Mr. E. S. Gubboy for the liberality which has rendered the very marked improvements carried out in Lindsay Street possible. He will watch with interest the effect, as regards sanitary improvements in the town, of the amalgamation which has been carried out since the close of the year of the Drainage and Conservancy Departments. The Justices have already been apprised of the importance attached, as well by the Home as by the Indian Government, to the introduction of some measure of sanitation. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Justices will now devote their attention to this important subject in connection with the improvement of the native villages within the town. He cannot express too strongly his conviction that the condition of these native villages in the heart of the city is unworthy of our municipal administration: that the evil is one which ought not to be—indeed cannot be—tolerated much longer. He is sanguine that the Justices themselves appreciate the necessity of devising some remedy. In meeting the difficulties before them, they may rely on every assistance which it is in his power to afford them.

12. No attempt was made during the year to work the Municipal Tramway, the failure of which, from a financial point of view, was reported in 1873. The question of the terms on which private parties should be permitted to undertake the task of supplying Calcutta with a complete system of tramways has continued to be a subject of discussion, and no final conclusion of the matter has yet been possible, partly owing to a difficulty in reconciling the claims of the Port Commissioners with those of the Municipality. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the matter is one in which he may find it possible to effect an arrangement satisfactory to both parties.

13. From the report of the number of prosecutions under the Jute Act, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that its provisions would seem to have been enforced with sufficient strictness. He trusts that, by the amendments recently made in the law, a sufficient measure of relief has been given to those who found matter for complaint in the original Act.

14. The number of fires which occurred during the year is stated to have been twenty-two. It is satisfactory to find that four only of these happened in Calcutta. The Lieutenant-Governor would, however, have been glad had the means of judging in some measure of the efficiency and usefulness of the Fire Brigade been afforded him by a statement of the number of cases, especially in the suburbs, where it arrived in time to be of any material assistance in extinguishing the fire or in saving property.

15. Sir Richard Temple notices with much pleasure the assiduity with which certain of the Justices, and notably Mr. A. M. Vardon, have devoted themselves to the disposal of municipal cases. It is also gratifying to him to find that there has been no abatement in the interest taken by the Justices as a body in the control and management of all municipal measures having any bearing on the financial arrangements of the year. He trusts that in the future, as in the past year, no ground of complaint will exist with regard to friction in the relations of the Chairman with the Justices. Mr. Hogg deserves much credit for the large measure in which he has secured to himself the support of the Justices generally, and the thanks of Government are due to him for the continued success of his administration during the past year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

R. L. MANGLES,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS DURING THE YEAR 1874.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

Calcutta, the 20th July 1875.

READ—

The Annual Report by the Commissioner of Police on the Police Administration of the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs during the year 1874; also the Annual Reports of the Police Magistrates of the Town of Calcutta for the same year.

Read again—

The reports of the previous year and the orders passed thereon.

The number of offences, cognizable as well as non-cognizable, reported in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta during the past three years is shown in the report now submitted by the Commissioner of Police to have been as follows:—

				1872.	1873.	1874.
Town	...	...	...	38,879	39,169	29,833
Suburbs	...	...	...	8,659	9,153	7,821
		Total	...	47,538	48,322	37,654

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find from these figures that the increase in crime, which was noticed in reviewing the report for 1873, has not been sustained during the past year. He observes that Mr. Hogg attributes the decrease of 10,068 cases which has occurred, on the whole, chiefly to instructions issued by him enjoining moderation on the part of the Police in the exercise of the very wide powers of arrest given to them by the Police Acts. Manifestly, it is very desirable, in a crowded city like Calcutta, to prevent persons being arrested without adequate reason (the word adequate is emphasized, because it is presumed that there will always be some reason, more or less, whenever an arrest is made). Anything like a tendency to indiscriminate arresting would inspire the urban population with a dread of authority which is really established for the public convenience. The Lieutenant-Governor can readily believe that Mr. Hogg has done well in issuing these instructions. Their effect is most apparent on a reference to the number of persons tried in Calcutta for offences under chapter XIV of the Indian Penal Code, which fell from 6,476 in 1873 to 3,742 during the past year. In reviewing the report for 1873, the Lieutenant-Governor noticed that the intervention of the Police in these cases required some explanation. It is now stated that the power to arrest in them is exercised by the Police under the provisions of Act XXI of 1864. This Act was passed with the view merely of enabling the Police Magistrates to punish cases of nuisance summarily, and it seems very doubtful to the Lieutenant-Governor whether it really confers on the Police the power of arrest claimed. Under any circumstances, it seems to him that in cases of simple nuisance, the immediate arrest of the offender should very seldom be necessary. In the Suburbs, where the Police have to be guided in this matter by the provisions of section 93 of the Criminal Procedure Code, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the number of persons charged with the offences in question was very insignificant compared with the number charged in Calcutta; and he thinks that it would be sufficient if, in the Town, the Police were, in these and other petty cases, to arrest only where the offence is committed in their view, and the name of the offender is unknown and cannot be ascertained. These, in fact, are the requirements of section 237, Act VI (B.C.) of 1863; but from an examination of the returns of the past and previous years, it would appear to be doubtful whether the requirements of the law have been strictly adhered to, even as regards cases under the Conservancy Acts. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the Commissioner of Police will give his continued attention to the matter. It is to be added, however, that, in a large city, the prevention of nuisances committed by individuals is a matter of public importance, and that, in cases where such nuisances are committed in sight of the Police, or where such offender may be brought to the Police on credible testimony, and his name and residence cannot be ascertained, it is desirable that the Police should exercise any power of arrest which they may lawfully possess.

2. Distinguishing crime as cognizable or non-cognizable, and according as it was triable under the Penal Code, or under miscellaneous Acts, the chief results for the past year, for both Town and Suburbs, were as follows:—

	Cognizable.		Non-cognizable.		Total
	Penal Code.	Miscellaneous.	Penal Code.	Miscellaneous.
Cases	6,706	11,919	8,957	13,079	37,654
Number of persons summoned	6,418	15,618	6,467	9,840	38,343
Convictions	3,605	8,812	3,775	9,032	24,524

These figures, taken in connection with Mr. Hogg's explanation noted above, are satisfactory as showing that the number of persons brought to trial was 38,343 only, against 58,290 in the previous year, and of persons convicted 24,524 only, against 38,558. The fact that, of 9,840 persons appearing before the courts charged with non-cognizable offences under miscellaneous Acts, 9,032 were convicted, bears favorable testimony to the discretion with which prosecutions under these Acts have been instituted.

3. The total number of persons and cases shewn by the Police Magistrates in their returns to have been disposed of by them were as follows:—

	Number of cases instituted.	Total number of persons put on trial.	Acquitted.	Convicted.	Committed.
Northern Division	5,337	7,884	1,134	6,366	170
Southern „	6,933	7,125	1,154	5,894	73
Total ...	12,270	15,009	2,488	12,260	243

Compared with the previous year, these figures show the large decrease of 7,390 in the number of cases instituted, of 11,377 in the number of persons brought to trial, and of 9,885 in the number of persons convicted. While the business of both courts has fallen off, the decrease is most apparent in that of the Northern Division. The Lieutenant-Governor would hope that the increase in the number of committals to 243, against 182 in the previous year, may be the result of a desire on the part of the Magistrates to deal more strictly with old offenders.

4. Cognizable crime.—The report of the Commissioner of Police shows the number of cognizable offences reported during the year in both Town and Suburbs, including cases under miscellaneous Acts, as well as under the Penal Code, to have been 18,618, or a little less than the number reported in 1871; but while in that year more than two-thirds of the persons arrested in such cases were convicted, in the past year the proportion was very little over one-half. This result is in some measure attributable to the large increase in the number of persons released without trial, which rose to 8,195 in 1874, against 6,737 in the previous year. As the number of false cases preferred was only 1,803, against 2,348 in the previous year, the reason for this increase must be otherwise accounted for, and it is to be found probably in the fact that the Commissioner of Police appears to have exercised his discretion more freely in discharging persons accused in petty cases with a warning against a repetition of the offence, instead of pressing such cases.

5. In Calcutta itself the total number of cognizable offences accepted as true was only 13,561, against 17,778 in the previous year. It is satisfactory to find that the decrease has been marked under every class of crime, except minor offences against the person and against property, where a slight increase is observable. The number of cases of murder was 2 only, against 7 in the previous year; of these, one occurred on the high seas and was followed by the conviction of four of the offenders. For the failure to secure a conviction in the other case, where a child was murdered for the sake of her ornaments, the Police are in no way responsible. While the acquittal of the accused is much to be regretted, the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied to observe that they were subsequently successfully prosecuted for stealing the ornaments. Of culpable homicide there was but one case, and in this a conviction was obtained. The other case reported was one of attempt only by a lunatic, in which injury was caused to no one. The defect in the law which the Commissioner of Police notices with regard to a case of unnatural offence, in which the Police Magistrate was unable to secure the attendance of the witnesses before the Sessions, will, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, be remedied, should the Bill now before Council to regulate the procedure of Police Courts in Presidency towns be passed.

6. Another benefit to be anticipated from the proposed law is the power which it will give the Police to deal effectually with notorious thieves. The movements of these are at present subject to no legal control, and to this may fairly be attributed in part the increase observable in the returns of thefts. The difficulty noticed by Mr. Hogg in dealing with cases of thefts by servants is a serious one: but the Police cannot be held responsible when persons without characters and complete strangers are engaged as domestic servants.

7. The following table gives the number of cases of thefts, burglaries, and house-trespass taken together, which have occurred during the past three years in the Town and Suburbs respectively, with the amount of property stolen and recovered:—

	True Cases.		Detected.		Amount Stolen.		Amount Recovered.
	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.	Calcutta.	Suburbs.
	Rs	Rs.	Rs	Rs.	Rs	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1872	2,577	1,392	716	413	1,12,913	42,600	44,205	17,603
1873	2,141	1,470	812	370	99,597	21,175	52,346	9,354
1874	2,196	1,304	907	434	1,46,662	24,505	90,386	9,579

While the large increase in the amount of property stolen is to be regretted, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that an increased measure of success has attended the operations of the Police in detecting the criminals, and that the percentage of stolen property recovered amounted to 55·17 in the Town and to 39·09 in the Suburbs.

8. In the Suburbs, also, there has been a decrease, though not so marked as in the Town, in the number of cognizable offences accepted as true. It is to be regretted that the efforts made to trace the criminals in two out of the four murders which occurred were unsuccessful. Dacoity and robbery may be said to be now non-existent in the Suburbs. Serious crime of other kinds was rare during the past year, and cases of theft and house-breaking, which, though less numerous than formerly, are still of frequent occurrence, were dealt with with greater success than usual.

9. Non-cognizable crime.—The chief offences classed in the returns under this head, which were dealt with by the Police in Calcutta, were forgery, cheating, and offences under the Arms' and Post Office Acts. The result of the prosecution of the Burmans who smuggled arms to Akyab is doubtless discouraging to the Police, but His Honor trusts will not lead them to relax that vigilance which is so necessary to the proper enforcement of the rules under the Arms' Act. The Commissioner of Police is to be congratulated on the successful issue of the investigation of the case where a whole bag of registered letters was stolen by a Post Office clerk, whose subsequent conviction appears to have been chiefly due to the exertions of Inspector R. Reid. There is nothing calling for notice in the returns of non-cognizable crime in the Suburbs. There is little variation in the number of assault and conservancy cases, which form the bulk of the offences reported. On the whole, a slight decrease of 554 cases is observable compared with the previous year.

10. Shipping Act.—The Lieutenant-Governor observes with the greatest regret that the Magistrate of the Southern Division reports that the seamen of the merchant service are becoming more troublesome than formerly, and that cases of refusal of duty and absence without leave are common. He admits, however, that, in one case, the allegation of the men that the vessel was not in a fit state to proceed to sea was well founded. The Lieutenant-Governor fears that in other cases allegations to this effect have been made by the offenders, and though not accepted by the Magistrate, they might have been true for all that, inasmuch as there are not sufficient means of testing them. A copy of the Magistrate's remarks, pointing out that in the absence of a survey prior to leaving port the seamen have no guarantee that the vessels they ship in are good and seaworthy, will be forwarded to the General Department (Marine) of this Government for immediate consideration, inasmuch as the matter is, in the Lieutenant-Governor's estimation, one of grave and urgent importance. As compared with the previous year, there is a slight increase in the number of persons brought to trial and convicted.

11. Arms' Act.—It is satisfactory to find that the rules prescribed by the Government of India have had the desired effect of restricting the importation of cheap fire-arms, and that the rules have generally worked well and are found amply sufficient for all purposes. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad also to learn that the registers of the Calcutta dealers are now kept with tolerable accuracy and are carefully checked. The question whether or not the rules should be rigidly enforced as regards the trade in lead and saltpetre is under the consideration of the Government of India.

12. Strength and Cost of the Police.—There was no change made in the strength or cost of the Calcutta Police during the year. A slight reduction was effected in the River Police, and in the Suburbs the strength of the lower grades has been brought down to the sanctioned scale. It is satisfactory to find that the number of dismissals from the force has largely decreased. The number of minor departmental punishments inflicted, however, continues to be great. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that though the endeavours made to increase the number of Bengallee constables have not been altogether satisfactory in their results, still a considerable number of men of education and promise have been enlisted. He desires that the enlisting of Bengallee constables may continue to receive consideration.

13. Old Offenders.—In reviewing the report for 1873, the Lieutenant-Governor impressed upon the Police Magistrates the necessity of their assisting in the suppression of habitual crime by committing to the High Court old offenders who may be found to be persevering in their evil courses. The table showing that no less than 291 persons previously convicted were dealt with summarily during the year would seem to indicate that the Magistrates have paid but insufficient attention to those instructions. Sir Richard Temple must insist upon the Magistrates adopting the course pointed out to them in this respect in future. Meanwhile, he will be glad to receive separately an explanation which they may have to offer of the apparent failure to resort sufficiently to committal.

14. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor has to express his approval of the manner in which the administration of the Police has been conducted throughout the year by Mr. Stuart Hogg, and, under his orders, by Mr. J. Lambert, the Deputy Commissioner of Police, and he desires that an expression of the approbation of Government may be conveyed to the subordinate officers who are mentioned in the report as having discharged their duties in an efficient manner.

No.	District and date of return	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan, July 19,* '75	·95	Rainfall at Culna ·77, Jehanabad 3·19, Raneegunge 3·25, Bood-bood ·82, and Cutwa 2·74 inches. High wind and stormy weather on the 14th and 15th instant. Barometer fell about ·30. Crops thriving, and not injured by the stormy weather. Health fair.
2	Bankoora, „ 17, „	1·06	Slight showers, generally accompanied by wind. Rain is much wanted for transplanting rice; other crops are doing well.
3	Beerbhoom, „ 17, „	1·91	Showery weather. State and prospects of crops continue good.
4	Midnapore, „ 17, „	3·49	Very stormy on Wednesday and Thursday morning. The rainfall increases as one goes south, and apparently there was a storm out at sea. Hardly any of the crops are advanced enough to be seriously injured by the storm. At Contai, however, the rainfall (over seven inches) is reported to threaten some damage to the young rice.
5	Hooghly, „ 16, „	2·57	Wind north, then north-east, then east, and very strong for about 50 hours. Every appearance of a cyclone at some distance. No damage reported. Fine since morning of the 15th instant. State and prospects of crops are very good.
	Howrah, „ 17, „	6·24	There has been heavy rain during the week. All crops are in a satisfactory condition. The storm did no injury to the crops.
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN. 6	24-Pergunnahs, July 19,† '75	6·49	During the first five days of the week the weather has been incessantly wet, with strong winds blowing from the north-east; during the last two days it has been dry and exceedingly clear. A large quantity of rain fell during the week, especially in sub-divisions Barripore and Diamond Harbour, which and the storm have done some injury to seedlings and the early rice coming out in ears. Transplantation of aman or late rice, going on rapidly. Desultory cases of cholera reported from Satkhira, Barripore, and Bussirhat. Fever on the increase at Diamond Harbour and decrease at Barripore.
7	Nuddea, „ 17, „	1·32	Strong wind from the north-east, on the 13th, 14th, and 15th instant. Some rain has fallen. Rice crops are promising. The early rice may almost be said to be safe. The prospects of indigo are no better than they were last week.
8	Jessore, „ 17, „	3·77	Weather cloudy, with seasonable rain. A stormy wind from the north-east prevailed on Tuesday and Wednesday, but on Thursday it veered round to the east, thence to the south-east. The strong wind and heavy rain have damaged the early rice and also indigo to some extent. Transplanting of the aman, or late rice, continues. Prospects generally are good.
9	Moorshedabad, „ 17, „	1·10	Weather hot and fair. Some rain has fallen. Aous, or early rice plants, in flower in parts of Jungypore. Transplantation of aman, or late rice plant, still going on in Rampore Haut and Jungypore. The late high wind has done some harm to the aous rice crop in the Sudder division. Sugarcane, indigo, and mulberry are good. Cholera still present in Soojagunge, Gorabazar, Gokurn, and Kallyangunge thanas. Slight fall in prices.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN. 10	Dinagepore, „ 16, „	Nil	There was no rain during the week at the head-quarters. Elsewhere only slight showers fell. Nowhere more than ·18 inch fell. Weather dry and very hot, with a high east wind. The bhadoi and sugarcane crops are promising well; bhadoi is being cut in Thakoorgon; jute is also being cut. The transplanting of hemanti, or late rice, and the preparation of soil, are actively carried on. Rain is wanted. There has been little or none during the last week. No mischief, however, has been done as yet. This was written on the 14th instant. The bhadoi has already been damaged, and if the rain holds off much longer, will be seriously injured.
11	Maldah, „ 17, „	0·08	Weather sunny and dry; rain on 1st and 8th day of the week; the other days were warm, with no rain. Fair crop of indigo expected. Its cutting has commenced. Bhadoi crop expected to be fair.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet, are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Deppe's tables, as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky; a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines, and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 386.

The 27th July 1875.

UNDER Section 89 of Act X of 1871, the following annual accounts and reports of the District Road Committees of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, Purneah, and Sonthal Pergunnahs, of works done and in progress during the past cess year 1873-74, together with the review thereon by the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, are published for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Captain, M.S.C.,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

Report of the Monghyr District Road Committee for the year 1873-74.

THE Executive Engineer's report, showing the actual work done and money expended during the year, has been submitted, and I propose now to make, on behalf of the Road Cess Committee, the following remarks on the working of the road cess and the general state of the district roads.

The marginally noted gentlemen formed the Road Cess Committee during the year. Those gentlemen who live at or near the station are very regular in their attendance at the meetings; but those who live at a distance, although occasionally present, are little more than sleeping members. It is a subject for regret that Shah Abdool Hossein, by far the most active zemindar in the district, lives fifty miles from Monghyr, as on the few occasions when he has attended his suggestions have been invariably sound and valuable. The presence of two lines of railway in the district, which pass through the most important places, however, enable the members of the Committee to go about the country in luxury, without having recourse to the ordinary roads, and consequently Major Waller, the District Superintendent of Police and I, are the only members who know much from inspection what is the actual state of the roads. Last year, during the season of scarcity, as I had only been recently appointed Magistrate, I rode over all the roads in the district and carefully inspected them, but I came to the conclusion that as roads are chiefly intended for wheeled traffic, the only satisfactory method of inspection was driving over them. One is apt to overlook obstructions easily surmounted on horse-back, but which make the road almost impassable for carts, particularly when dragged by the half-starved bullocks usually exhibited in Behar. I accordingly procured a wheeled conveyance of the kind known as a "bamboo cart," and during the recent cold weather have driven over every road that I inspected. I find, as I anticipated, that my knowledge of the state of the roads is complete, and I think that the bullocks and their drivers will have no cause to regret my present mode of inspection.

E. Lockwood, Officiating Magistrate and Chairman, H. J. Newbery, Vice-Chairman, Major H. E. Waller, Baboo Gungapershad Shah, Abdul Hossein, H. Dear, Esq., Maharaja Sir Joy Mungul Singh, K.C.S.I., Baboo Ram Proshad Dass, and Taz Ali, recently appointed members at the end of the year under report.

I first drove over the road from Monghyr to Kharuckpore vid Barriarpore. This road, which last year was unmetalled, and, in consequence of the pitfalls and wave-like inundations, only to be ridden over at a foot-pace, is now metalled, and, as far as Barriarpore, would make a good bicycle race-course.

I was so much impressed last year by the amount of traffic which I saw on it, that I was determined to put this road in good order. The road from Barriarpore to Kharuckpore, although metalled, is in an unsatisfactory state. I never ride or drive over it but my horse loses a shoe, and Mr. Roberts, the manager of the Durbhanga raj, tells a similar story. The reason is that close to the roadside extensive iron works were carried on in old days, and an immense amount of slag is burried a few yards below the ground, and is easily procureable. The Engineer, whoever he was some years ago, could not resist utilising this metal, but in a slovenly manner he neglected to break it up into small pieces. Consequently the sharp points crop up everywhere, and make the road very awkward for horses' feet.

It was suggested to me that these moles should be broken off, but I have determined to have the road entirely remetalled as soon as possible.

For two miles beyond Barriarpore the road runs through lowlying country, and during the rains the flood extends on either side as far as the eye can reach. If the east wind blows, a ripple or rather waves dash against the bank in such a manner as almost to wash it away in a few hours if left unprotected.

The Engineer has now, however, procured huge stones from the adjacent hills, and we are walling up the bank, sowing pampas grass in the interstices of the stones. This road opens out the Kharuckpore pergunnah, celebrated for the finest rice in the country, for wood cut in the Kharuckpore hills (which supplies the town of Monghyr with fuel), and other commodities too numerous to mention.

The bridges and culverts on this road are in good order, and the timber bridge near Barriarpore stands so well that I see no necessity for supplanting it with masonry.

I next drove over the road from Kharuckpore to Gangta, made by the Kharuckpore Raj, and which opens out a fine country. The road is unmetalled, but well bridged.

I took a note of every obstruction on the way, and Mr. Roberts has since kindly had these put to order.

This road communicates with the Jamooe station on the chord line, and I think it would be worth the while of passengers for Calcutta to drive from this vid Gungta and catch the train at Jamooe. It would save the trouble of going round by Luckeeserai. I have driven over a portion of the road between Gungta and Jamooe. I was glad to find that a European has been appointed by the special department to put this road in good repair, but it struck me the overseer is rather too young and inexperienced to do the work effectually. Last year I took a good deal of trouble about this road, and a very little labour now will make it first rate.

A road is much wanted between Kharuckpore and Arsisgunge (7 miles). I rode over this part of the country a short time ago, and wondered why a road has not been made there. I should have had one made myself there last year, only the rice crops being good the people were well off, and work was not much required.

The Rajah, Lilanund Singh, will give the land, and directly we have money and leisure the road must be made.

The next road which I notice is that from Monghyr to Seetakoond vid Pirpahar. This road, so much frequented by sight-seers and pilgrims, has been a standing disgrace to the ferry fund and road cess, which could be tolerated no longer, so it is now being repaired and metalled with stones from the adjacent hills

The Patna road last year received much attention from the Committee. It runs through low inundated land between the Ganges and the railway. I went over it on several occasions last year, and the earthwork afforded a vast amount of labour to the famine-stricken people from the neighbouring rice pergunnahs. I have recently been over it, and my determination to accomplish the journey on wheels was received by the special department which has charge of it with considerable amusement. I however accomplished the journey in safety, riding as far as Surjgurra and driving the rest of the way.

It took me ten hours to come thirty miles, and my notes by the way have already been submitted. They may be briefly stated as follows. This road requires no more earthwork anywhere; surface repairs only are necessary. The high flood last year has breached the road in many places where there ought to have been waterway. These gaps should be merely rounded off to admit the passage of carts. It is useless building up the bank again, for it will certainly be washed away during the rains.

Light wooden bridges are necessary all along the road, and until these are made, the road must remain impassable during the rains.

It is satisfactory, however, to think that travellers have the railroad on one side and the river on the other, so that there is no necessity even to build wooden bridges on this road—at least until other more urgent work is accomplished. The Engineer in charge, early in November, should drive over this road accompanied by a gang of coolies, in order to round off the water-worn edges of the breaches. The road will thus in a few days become first-rate for fair-weather traffic; but leaving it, as I found it last month, to take care of itself, it must remain impassable alike during the dry and rainy seasons.

The next road which demands notice is that between Luckeeserai and Jamooe (20 miles). I have lately driven over it, and found it in capital order, except where it was under repair.

It is a very common fault for slovenly overseers to pile up loose earthwork on these roads without giving a thought as to how carts are to pass, and thus put a stop to all wheeled traffic just at the very time when the roads are most needed; and I find it necessary to have the following note entered in the first page of overseer's field-book:—"When you repair a road, make ample provision for traffic, either by completing each yard as you proceed, or by clearing a good leek by the roadside. Any breach of this rule coming to the Magistrate's knowledge will be severely noticed."

In England such breach of professional knowledge and smartness would probably meet with condign punishment from the hands of carters themselves, but in India the gariwans humbly resign themselves to what they consider their fate.

I found a small spring of pure water close to the roadside at Luckunpari village, and have requested the Engineer to build a small pucca trough there for the use of travellers and cattle.

The road between Jamooe and Mullypore stations is in fair order. I hope eventually we may bridge the two intervening streams, but the matter is of no great importance at present.

I next drove over the road between Jamooe and the Buttea Pass in Chakae. This road is under the Jamooe Branch Committee. All it requires, like the Patna road, is a gang of coolies to round off breaches and the river banks to make generally a first-class road. The gravelly nature of the soil in Gidhour and Chakae forms a high road whenever the jungle is cleared away.

The famine road from Jamooe to Sekundra, towards Nowadah, and from Sekundra to Luckeeserai, only require smoothing down and having wooden bridges at intervals to make them serviceable to the people and open out the neighbouring country. These roads, which are now under the special department, are not subject to much inundation, and the repairs are easily effected. This part of the country is now fully opened out, and very little remains to be done to make communication perfect.

I went over the Sekundra and Luckeeserai road several times during the year; and if the overseers will only strictly observe the above-mentioned golden rule which I have given them, this road will remain a very good one.

The Gyreack road has for years been a bugbear to the Engineers connected with it. Like the Patna road, it is subjected to the Ganges flood. At present it forms a capital cold-weather flush road, and with a very little trouble might be made as good for all seasons. A light railway on this road would probably pay better than elsewhere on the district.

I have lately been over the Rajrah and Sooroojgurah road. This is a metalled road, and is in good order. The wooden bridge at the 3rd mile is exactly the kind of bridge wanted on various parts of the adjacent Patna road. It is light, strong, cheap, and effective. I noticed that the flood had come to within a few inches of the top of the bridge—20 feet high—and the consequent rush of water must have been immense.

I now go on to the road north of the Ganges; and here road making is very difficult and an unsatisfactory undertaking. I am inclined to think that it was a mistake to have any earth-work here at all. The rush of the Ganges, Gunduck, and other streams in flood is so overwhelming that unless the roads are bridged at almost every point, they are breached year by year, and what is built up one year is washed away the next. But still the Mozufferpore is a very important road, and I propose, during this cold weather, coming to some definite conclusion regarding it. It has been proposed to make an embankment south of the road, not only to protect it, but also to secure a bhadoi harvest for the ryots; but this proposal, though good in theory, would, I suspect, prove futile in practice. It would, I think, be almost as easy to bank up the Atlantic as to stop the Ganges in this part of the country.

A good deal of money was spent on this road during the famine, and the work gave work to the coolies, but every time I went over it I felt that money was being spent for a doubtful advantage.

The bridge over the Lakho nullah has stood well; and I may remark here that all the bridges built by Baboo Ram Ratan Mozomdar are first-class; my unit of comparison being the bridges on the East Indian Railway. This officer has the merit, which I find of very rare occurrence, that of knowing a good brick from a bad one—and bad bricks and mortar are instantly condemned by him. The other roads north of the Ganges are fair-weather roads only, the country being under water during the rains. That from Manjhoul to Khagria is in very good order, and it was repaired to some extent during the year. I got faster over this road than over any other road in the district. The new road from Bucktearpore to Bullia, which was made during the year under review, is a good work, and it saved many a poor coolie from starving. This road forms an exception to my above statement, that all the roads north of the Gunduck are fair-weather roads only; for it runs through a rice country not deeply inundated, and its bank is above high water-mark during the rains.

There is also a road which we made from Khagria towards Gogree during the famine. I went over it on several occasions, and indeed drew out the line myself. It is a very useful work so far as it goes, forming an embankment to keep the flood from Khagria.

There is still a good deal to be done in this district by the Road Cess Committee; but if we accomplish as much in future years as we have already accomplished since the Act came into force, we shall have means of communication all over the country, and, as regards roads, be second to no other district in Bengal.

E. LOCKWOOD,

Offg. Magistrate and Chairman, D. R. C.

No. 139R., dated Monghyr, the 1st May 1875.

From—E. LOCKWOOD, Esq., Chairman, District Road Fund Committee, Monghyr,

To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

WITH reference to his No. 35P.W., dated 29th ultimo.

The first work to be done this year is to make a good pucca road from Monghyr to Seetakoond vid Pirpahar. The work is in hand, and will, I hope, soon be finished. This road much used by pilgrims and visitors to Monghyr.

2 The members of the Committee have not made up their minds what to do on the Patna and Tirhoot roads. They are waiting until our proposed Engineer, Mr. King, is appointed, to settle something definite regarding these roads. At all events the roads will be made first rate fair-weather roads. We are also waiting to see if any part of the Tirhoot road is taken for the imperial railway.

3. The Kharuckpore road will be remetalled and the banks walled. There is some talk of the Durbhunga Raj officers taking over this work; we shall be very glad if they will take it. The work is sure to be well done.

4. We do not propose to metal any more roads at present. I am constantly driving over the district, and prefer the kutcha roads to metalled roads, unless they can be kept in first rate order. The fact is the country carts with the light wooden wheels only turn up the metal, but fail to crush it into the ground again.

5. The Gungta famine road will be bridged with wooden bridges and completed during the year, as will all the other roads in the Jumooe district. For my part I prefer wooden to brick bridges.

6. We shall send a pioneer in a bamboo cart over the Chakae road A few coolies can put this road in first rate order. The geological formation being gneiss and metamorphic rocks. A road appears wherever the jungle is cleared away. Left to itself, this road after the rains is impassable, but a few coolies can make it good enough for a tandem or bicycle.

There is nothing like a tour in a bamboo cart to find out weak places in roads; every jolt and every bump is a black mark against the overseer; whereas in a palkee or riding such things are not noticed.

The Bucktearpore road is bridged and in first-rate order. We shall see that it is kept so.

Our attention will this year also be particularly turned towards making use of the indigo planters, all of whom are interested in having good roads and understand the work.

Directly Mr. King arrives, which I trust he may do soon, I shall go carefully over the position of affairs with him, and I have no doubt our roads will be in first rate order.

We do not intend to make any new roads during the year; our object is to place those at present existing in thorough repair.

REPORT FOR THE CESS YEAR 1873-74.

No. 29, dated Bhagulpore, the 12th December 1874.

From—V. TAYLOR, Esq., Chairman, District Road Fund Committee, Bhagulpore,
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report of the working of the Road Fund Committee for the cess year 1873-74.

2. The Committee.—The year opened with a gloomy prospect of the future. The early cessation of rain in the autumnal months caused anxiety about the prospect of rice harvest in this as in many other districts of Bengal and Behar; Government sharing the anxiety of the people, and desirous of mitigating and averting, if possible, the effects of the drought which it was anticipated would result in severe distress, if not in actual famine in several districts, issued instructions for the organization and conduct of relief works in the districts that were believed to be distressed. By these instructions (vide Calcutta Gazette, dated the 10th December 1873, page 1627) all district roads were to be considered as relief works, and all relief works were placed under a special supervising department. These instructions were understood as superseding the action and control of the Committee in respect of the district roads. Relief roads were opened without the Committee being consulted; and although its functions were in theory revived by Government letter No. 79—S.R., dated 12th January 1874, forwarded with Commissioner's No. 1318—S.R., dated 20th January 1874, practically it had nothing to do with relief roads. Several roads which were included in the estimate prepared by the Committee were classed as relief works, and in respect of them the new system of supervision also applied. But though the Committee's action was actually suspended for a time (and it was practically so in respect of all relief roads during the year under review), its books and establishments were used for keeping the accounts of all relief works whether in the shape of roads, bunds, or tanks, and the district and relief accounts kept together. Money also passed through its hands, but the Committee acted as a mere channel for receiving and crediting all relief grants in its books, and then making them over to the Public Works Department. Although the Committee has not had the opportunity of rendering such assistance to Government as was in its power by supervising and controlling the conduct and expenditure of all district works at a time when Government was most anxious to alleviate distress among the people, it has the satisfaction of observing that it has been of some use, however slight, inasmuch as its works and establishment have been made serviceable for the purposes of famine relief.

3. There was a slight change in the personnel of the Committee during the past year. Moulvi Hossain Ali, a member, resigned, and Baboo Radha Churn Gangooly, a zemindar, was appointed in his place.

4 The following gentlemen were members of the Committee at the end of the year :—

1. V. Taylor, Esq., Magistrate and Collector, Chairman.
2. The Senior Covenanted Officer under the Magistrate.
3. Major W. Gordon, District Superintendent of Police.
4. W. Graham, Esq., indigo planter and manager of an indigo concern.
5. Baboo Hurbullub Narain Singh, zemindar.
6. James Hennessy, Esq., indigo planter and zemindar.

7. Branch Road Cess Committees.—Branch road cess committees were appointed during the year—one at each of the sub-divisions in the district; but they appear not to have commenced actual operations. The distress interfered with the action of the District Committee as well as the branch committees.

8. Statement of Roads.—The statement and supplementary statement of roads prepared last year were classified in accordance with Government Circular Order No. 56, dated 18th August 1873. There was great delay in submitting the classified list, which was done only on the 2nd of October last, after the expiry of the year, although the order for classification was received on the 30th August 1873; but as the Committee had to depend entirely on the District Engineer for a properly classified list, the Committee was powerless in the matter. The list forwarded by the Executive Engineers, North and South, were incorrect, and had to be sent back for rectification, and the revised lists were also somewhat inaccurate, but the necessary corrections were made in the Committee office, and they were duly submitted to the Commissioner. By this classification the roads are divided into four classes.

Under 1st class come metalled roads.
,, 2nd ,, ,, raised roads, unmetalled and bridged.
,, 3nd ,, are included raised roads, unmetalled, not bridged:
,, 4th are included all roads not metalled or raised.

The result of this Classification is given below:—

Name of Class.	Number of roads included in it.	Mileage.	Number of bridges
1st Class ...	4	45½	134
2nd „ ...	20	219	140
3rd „ ...	10	164	No column in class 3 for bridges.
4th „ ...	17 besides village roads.	254	Ditto ditto.

9. Estimate of Income and Expenditure.—The estimate for the year 1873-74 was prepared at a meeting held on 30th July 1873. The estimated receipts were Rs. 99,505-15 4, and the expenditure Rs 95,772, leaving a balance of Rs. 3,733-15-4. This estimate was unanimously passed by the Committee and approved by the Commissioner. The annual account gives the difference between the estimates and actuals on each head of receipt and disbursement. The total result is shown in the margin The difference is very great on both sides of the account, as the actual receipts were much more than the estimated figures, on account of extraordinary grants from Government for relief purposes and sales of rice given out to laborers being included in them; and similarly the relief expenditure has swollen the actual expenditure. The balance at the end of the year is Rs 69 079-7-6, but the actual balance is likely to be much more when the relief expenditure has been adjusted, as much money belonging to the District Road Fund was diverted to relief works. The estimate for the current year was also passed at a meeting held on the 22nd August 1874.

Actual ditto ...	2,39,141	8	9
Actual ditto	3,06,221	0	3

10. Declaration of the rate of cess.—At a meeting of the Committee held on 5th September 1874 the rate of cess leviable for the ensuing year was fixed at half the maximum rates on lands and houses. This was also the rate at which the cess was levied in the year under review.

11. Review of the heads of income.—The year opened with a large balance of Rs. 11,716 inclusive of outstanding advances other than those in the hands of the District Engineer. The road cess was collected this year at half the maximum rates, and yielded an income of Rs. 46,380-12-2. This is exclusive of the cess on houses, no collections on account of which are shown in the treasury accounts, although the cess was leviable on them. The actual collection of the cess on lands is about Rs. 8,000 less than the estimated amount; but in view of the novel nature of the rate, the distress occasioned by the failure of crops, and the suspension of collection in a part of the district by the orders of Government, the collection made reflects credit on the Deputy Collector and his establishment in charge of it, and on the landholders who have met this demand with more promptitude than could reasonably be expected. The one per cent. road fund was also collected this year The collection from ferries is much less than the estimated sum, and this was the case last year also. The Committee is not in a position to account for the backwardness of it, as the collection is not in its hands. The ordinary grant from Government for the year was Rs. 20,000, but grants for relief were largely made. They were for roads, bunds, and tanks. The total amount of this extraordinary grant is Rs. 1,64,192. Besides this express grant, there is an indirect grant amounting to Rs. 66,001-0-7 shown in the accounts of the Public Works Department, which have been incorporated with those kept by the Committee from the sale of rice distributed to labourers working under that department. They have been entered as deposit with a view to square accounts; for the whole of this sum is shown on the expenditure side as paid for work. There are some minor items of receipt, among which the Committee notices, with satisfaction, that the actual miscellaneous receipts are more than the estimate.

12. Review of the heads of expenditure.—The expenditure on account of collection establishment and Committee's control, inclusive of the salary of clerks entertained in some Government offices chargeable to the district road cess fund, as also that of contingencies of the road cess Deputy Collectors and Committee's offices, is within the estimate; the expenditure on account of contingencies being less than half of the estimated sum. The outlay on district works, both original and repair, by which those included in the year's estimate, and also those that remained unfinished at the end of the year 1872-73, are only meant as distinguished from relief works which were not included in the estimate, and in several instances not given in the statement of roads passed by the Committee, was Rs. 55,994-14. Out of this sum, Rs. 48,441 were from the allotment of the year for roads, amounting to Rs. 88,685, and the remainder from the previous year's allotments. This result is very poor, seeing that only a little more than half of the total allotted sum was expended on legitimate road fund work; and thus several roads provided for by the Committee could not be touched, and others could only partly be done.

13. By far the largest expenditure was on account of relief works, original and repairs. They, together with the establishment employed on them, tools and plant, and a small sum embezzled, cost Rs. 2,47,265-3-7. Out of this, Rs. 56,559-12-7 were for tanks and Rs. 12,205-0-6 for a bund in a Government estate. The Committee had no concern with this expenditure and with the corresponding receipts, but they have been referred to in this report, as the annual account embraces them, and some explanation of the items may be deemed requisite.

14. The Committee had had to pay nothing yet for the service of the District Engineer and his ordinary establishment; but it would seem that the Government contemplates charging the District Road Cess Fund for this service. The Committee has not however been informed yet of the intentions of Government in this matter.

15. Works.—Something about the works done has already been said when reviewing the items of expenditure, but what has been stated is by no means exhaustive. The two causeways on the Bhagulpore and Bowsee road were completed. The Committee allotted a large sum, viz. Rs. 10,868 (by transferring it from this road), to the repairing of the broken bridges on the Sooltangunge and Arjusgunge road—a very urgent work; but it is to be regretted that only Rs. 4,711 were expended on it up to September last. The Committee had unfortunately no separate agency of its own for executing the district works, and was entirely dependent on the Public Works Department for their prosecution, with the exception of some minor works, the agency in regard to which was separate. It may be that frequent changes of Executive Engineers and the pressure of relief interfered with the prosecution of legitimate district works. Sometime before the end of the year the district was divided into two charges, and additional hands were placed under the District Engineer for coping with additional work entailed by relief operations. At any rate, the experience of two successive years proves that the district works cannot be successfully prosecuted without the entertainment of work establishment directly under the Committee; and it is anxiously looking for the time when it may be enabled to have its own Engineer and working staff, as it believes is contemplated in the Road Cess Act. The separate agency spoken of consisted of the service of Mr. J. Heneesy, a member of the Committee, and of the Sub-divisonal Officers at Madhipara and Soopole. Mr. Hennessy expended a sum of very nearly Rs. 2,000 on two roads on the north of the Ganges for the Committee, and it is likely to continue them this year. The best thanks of the Committee are due to him: for though his labours may not be quite disinterested, as the roads are in his zemindaree, they cannot fail to be useful to the ratepayers about that part. Mr. Martin, the Sub-divisional Officer of Muddehpoora, expended Rs. 990-9-3 on the Muddehpoora and Atkela road; but it was not included in the year's estimate; and Mr. Smith, Rs. 100 on the Soopole sub-divisional station roads.

16. The report of work done and in progress forwarded with this office letter No. 29, dated 12th item, gives very detailed information of the roads and other works done last year, and supplies the particulars required by Government order No. 3357, dated 23rd July 1873. It, and the statement marked A. accompanying it, may be considered a part of the report. The allotment and expenditure were divided into too periods: namely (1) prior to and (2) for the year under review. The estimate for each work of it was estimated for: the allotment made for the year 1874-75; what is proposed to be done during the current year, and the progress on each work up to the month of September last, copied from the progress report forwarded by the Executive Engineers, are all exhibited in the one statement. It will show that several important roads were neglected, and on others only portions of the allotments given by the Committee were used.

17. The attention of the District Engineer was drawn to this slow progress, but without any good result. The Special Superintending Engineer for Relief Works appears to have stopped many roads included in the Committee's budget estimate, and when a reference was made to him by the Executive Engineer, in consequence of the communication received from the Committee, he made the following observation among others:—"The Vice-Chairman appears to have forgotten that all district works were declared by order of Government famine works, and that as Special Superintending Engineer of Famine Works it is my duty to advise both with the Commissioner and Collector as to the works that should be carried on." This, however, was a misapprehension of the Special Superintending Engineer, as the Vice-Chairman's letter did not refer to purely famine works, but rather to those that were included in the Committee's budget, and in regard to which provision had been made by it; the District Engineer being only requested to work to the extent of the provisions made.

18. The district and famine works were, during the year under review, in charge of the Executive Engineer of the district for a time. Later on in the year the district was divided into two charges, north and south, presided over by one Executive Engineer each, and subsequently the relief works were placed under a special department. Perhaps the last arrangement, if inaugurated from the beginning, would have left the Committee to deal more successfully with district works than they have been.

19. Mr. Barnfather filled the office of District Engineer for a very short time in the beginning of the year: he knows the district well. The office was then filled successively by Messrs. Grant, Sibold, and Atkinson.

The Committeee cannot express any opinion of the work done by each of these officers respectively, as there are not sufficient materials in its office; but Messrs. Grant and Sibold appear to have done much; Mr. Grant especially having worked exceedingly well. Mr. Sibold recommended the giving of a bonus to his accountant, Baboo Sree Kissen Bose, for closing the relief accounts; but as the supervision of famine expenditure was not in the hands of the Committee, it is beyond its power to give effect to this recommendation.

20. Adjustment of Famine Accounts.—The adjustment of the relief accounts is a question of great importance, and one in which the Committee is much interested. The account cannot be considered to have been closed yet, for receipts and disbursements on account of famine relief are shown in the accounts of the current year. Apart from the question of the legality of appropriating the district road cess fund to purposes unconnected with the Act, and in a manner not contemplated by it, has to be considered the propriety of burdening that fund with famine charges. The distress was not general throughout the district, but was confined to certain parts, and the relief works were mainly opened on the north of it, where the collection of the cess, moreover, was suspended. It is hardly fair to the large body of ratepayers that the bulk of the cess money should be expended in a certain locality—much less so when that portion did not contribute to the income. The Committee therefore kept its accounts in a manner which, in its opinion, was based on principles of equity and fairness. It had provided for the prosecution of important works in the estimate before there were any indications of distress both in the north and south of the district; and all expenditure on roads provided for by it, although subsequently classified as relief works not exceeding the allotment made for them, were charged to road cess fund; and all expenditure on them beyond the allotted sums, as also on other roads started for purposes of relief, were marked F, as indicating famine relief with a view to subsequent adjustment. Against this expenditure may be set off the extraordinary grant made by the Government and the proceeds from sale of rice, and by this process the true state of the relief accounts may be disclosed This mode of accounting would leave a large balance in favor of the Committee at the end of the year, and it is hoped that the money will be held to be available for the current year.

Correspondence —The Committee wrote 300 letters and received 205.

Miscellaneous.—The head clerk and accountant of the Committee's office received an increase of salary for giving satisfaction in the performance of his duties. The Monghyr Road Cess Committee has admitted the claim of the Committee to a refund of the cost of valuation, and instructed the treasury officer of this district to place a sum of Rs. 866-6-6 to its credit; but the treasury officer has not yet shown it in the accounts. A further sum is also recoverable from the Monghyr Committee for the toll bar on Ghorghat nullah; and although it was asked to make the remittance on account of it, the Committee has not yet received the money.

The Committee is entitled to a proportionate amount from the Monghyr district fund for the cost of collection of cess creditable to the Monghyr district, and this matter will shortly be represented to the Commissioner on the subject.

23. Conclusion.—The Committee has endeavoured, as much as it lay in its power, to work with success the District Road Cess Act. Its failure, if in any way, must be set down to the exceptional circumstances of the year under review, and to the want of an independent agency of its own for the execution of work. I would specially commend to notice the zeal of the Vice-Chairman, and the interest taken by him in everything connected with the work he has to do; and I may remark that the Road Cess Committee in this district is a real Committee, and one of the most satisfactory that I have ever had any connection with.

3. The following changes occurred in the Committee during the year. Mr. J. W. Badcock was elected Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee, in the absence of Mr. F. Wyer, when he was appointed the Magistrate-Collector of Maldah for three months. After this Mr. F. Wyer took charge of the office till 27th April 1874. Subsequently Mr. H. P. Mulock was appointed Vice-Chairman and remained till 3rd October 1874. Messrs. H. Cave and G. J. Burnell, Baboos Monohur Dass and Bishen Chand, were elected during the year; and we lost one member, Mirza Mahomed Hossein, by death.

4. The following table shows the names of members, the number of sittings during the year, and their attendance :—

6. There were six meetings during the year, and I presided at each save two, when I was out in camp In every meeting there was a quorum except one, which was held on 22nd November 1873 to pass the annual accounts of the district road fund for 1872-73. The accounts were passed at a subsequent meeting. Ten days' notice was given, the business to be transacted at each meeting was duly notified, and no business which had not been previously notified was submitted for the consideration of the committee.

7 The following were the principal subjects which engaged the attention of the committee :—

(a.) To examine and pass the annual accounts for the cess year 1872-73

(b.) To advance money from the district road fund to the headmen of the villages for repairs of village roads, &c.

(c.) To pass the estimate of receipts and expenditure prepared by the Vice-Chairman for the year 1874-75, to determine the rate of cesses to be levied, to pass the supplementary classified statement under section 68, and to elect new members under section 49.

8. The meetings were not so regularly attended by the members as could be wished; most of them, however, live at long distances from the station, and owing to the difficulties of locomotion in the rainy season and to the pressing nature of their private business cannot come in often.

Most of the members interest themselves in attending to the repairs of roads in their neighbourhood.

9. There were two branch road cess committees appointed at the two sub-divisions; the branch committee of Kishengunge held a meeting on the 27th October 1873 for the purpose of taking into consideration which of the village roads in Kishengunge sub-division should be repaired. This committee work well; the Arrareah arrangements are not so forward owing to the sub-divisional officer keeping all relief works in his own hand

10. The supplementary classified statements under section 68 of the Road Cess Act were prepared this year by Mr H. P. Mulock, and were passed at the committee and forwarded to you. The statement under section 70 of the above Act was prepared by me in August 1873, for the expenditure of the year under review, principally from the estimates proposed by Mr. Anley for repairs of district roads and bridges. It consisted of the following items of expenditure :—

Repairs	31,885	12	0
Village roads	11,000	0	0
Famine reserve	4,000	0	0
Reserve for original works	18,468	8	0
Total ...	71,886	4	0

The above sum was also the estimate of the annual receipts from all sources of income. This estimate was unanimously passed by the committee and approved of by you in August 1873.

Review under the heads of income.

11. The accounts of the fund opened on the 1st of October 1873 with a deficit of Rs. 759-12-7, and with Rs. 1,482-11-0 as outstanding advances in the hands of the several indigo planters and the District Engineer, who undertook the repairs of the several roads under their supervision in the cess year 1872-73. The total income from several sources during the year, amounted to Rs. 2,99,409-9-5, the details of which are shown below :—

Particulars of receipts	Amount as per budget estimate. Rs.	A.	P.	Amount actually received. Rs.	A	P
Net balance of 1872-73	.....			722	14	5
Cess on lands	53,156	4	0	33,532	8	1
„ houses	2,250	0	0	17	4	0
Other cesses	150	0	0	119	13	5
Ferry tolls	1,330	0	0	923	4	0
Government grant	15,000	0	0	2,60,000	0	0
Fines and refunds	.. ...			4,093	9	6
Miscellaneous receipts	.....			0	4	0
Total ...	71,886	4	0	2,99,409	9	5

(a.)—This was the first year that cesses under the Road Cess Act were based at three-fourths of the maximum rate and were available for expenditure. The reason of this year's deficiency in the collections of cesses on lands and houses is that the cesses were remitted in the pergunnahs named in the margin, as per your No. A—16Ct., dated Camp Purneah, the 27th February 1874, on account of the scarcity and on account of which Government gave an increased grant as will appear from the figures shown against item "Government grant."

Asjah, Badaur, Hawli, Kattybar, Sreepore | Kudwa, Maldwar, Jappore, Sultanpore

(b.)—Under the head "fines and refunds" a very large amount is shown owing to the re-credit of Rs. 3,919-13-4 shown as actual expenditure under head "Repairs" in the second and third quarter of the year under review.

Review under the heads of expenditure.

12. The total expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 3,41,320-13-3. Rs. 41,911-3-10 were expended in excess of the receipts of the year. The Executive Engineer of the Purneah district exceeded the amount placed to his credit by the Road Cess Committee by Rs. 58,518-8-11. Part II of the annual accounts shows in sufficient details the amounts budgetted and actually expended on each head of expenditure.

(a.) Rs. 3,723-5-5 were expended on account of contingencies and office establishment entertained under the Road Cess Deputy Collector and the Vice Chairman.

(b.) Rs. 17,643-1-7 were expended on working and office establishments employed by the District Engineer for carrying out the relief and the ordinary district works. Considering the amount of work done in the last year on account of famine, the expenditure of Rs. 17,643-1-7 on working establishment is moderate.

(c.) No bridges were constructed this year except some petty repairs done to three or four old existing bridges which requires no comment.

(d.) Rs 2,68,050-1-3 were expended on original works, i.e. for construction of roads by the Public Works Department. All of them were unmetalled and are as follows :—

Road No. 1, Purneah to Keat Gomah, length 40 miles.—Rs. 11,410-13-8 In cash Rs. 5,870-15-0 and Rs. 5,539-14-8 in grain were expended for 3,170,435 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 28,863 square feet, and turfing 762,842 square feet, and clearing jungle 1,276,797 square feet.

This road has been well laid out by the Executive Engineer, on the railway principle of renewing a high bank in a straight line between two given points, it will be completed by the special Public Works Department officer.

Road No. 2, Nathpore to Atwaree, length 86 miles—Rs. 98,131-6-6. In cash Rs. 90,539-11-1 in grain Rs. 7,591-11-5 were expended for 284,829 cubic feet earthwork, dressing and turfing 1,435,709 square feet.

This is entirely a relief work, the earthwork being in a great measure finished, but as the road runs right west and east across the drainage of the country, a large number of bridges will be required; as this is the great emigration road, it is to be expected that imperial funds will be allowed for its completion.

Road No. 4, Kishengunge to Nekmard, length 15 miles.—Rs. 13,464-13-7. In cash Rs. 7,976-14-9 and in grain Rs. 5,487-14-10 were expended for 4,597,210 cubic feet earthwork and turfing 802,587 square feet.

This will be a useful work, it is being completed by the special department. In my opinion the embankments are unnecessarily high.

Road No. 5, Joorkele to Dengra, length 44 miles.—Rs. 35,482-11-7. In cash Rs 28,949-6-1 and in grain Rs 6,533-5-6 were expended for 8,929,843 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,273,423 square feet, and turfing 1,069,256 square feet. Works were in progress up to 26th mile.

The above remarks on road No. 4 apply to this.

Road No. 6, Dengra ghat to Bhapla Jajpore, length 18 miles.—Rs. 18,418-15-6. In cash Rs. 12,476-5-9 and in grain Rs. 5,942-9-9 were expended for 5,200,449 cubic feet earthwork, turfing 891,875 square feet, and dressing 2,249,220 square feet.

This is partly an old district road, it has been straightened and improved by the famine Public Works Department officers and continued from Raneegunge to Bhapla as a new work. The line has not been well chosen.

Road No. 7, Bulrampore to Tarapore, length 19 miles.—Rs. 49,103-1-4. In cash Rs. 33,985-5-11 and in grain Rs. 15,117-11-5 were expended for 14,143,108 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,273,423 square feet, and turfing 1,069,256 square feet.

This road, a relief work, runs partly along an old bund; the earthwork has been nearly finished out. Some bridges will be wanted.

Road No. 8, Maldah to Harin Khoree, length 20 miles.—Rs. 230-1-2 were expended on preliminary survey operations.

This road will not be made: The country is unsuitable.

Road No. 9, Kudha to Barsoe, length 16 miles.—Rs. 28,266-9-10. In cash Rs. 24,598-15-6 and in grain Rs. 3,667- 0-4 were expended for 8,816,824 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 1,207,153 square feet, and turfing 423,650 square feet. A large amount of earthwork has been thrown up here, but as the line of country was not well chosen, I fear that the road will not be a success.

Road No. $\frac{10}{9}$ Chownagara to Bulrampore, length 9 miles.—Rs. 7,319-14-7. In cash Rs. 4,942-6-2 and in grain Rs. 2,377-8-5 were expended for 2,236,316 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 23,000 square feet, and turfing 807,050 square feet. A continuation of road No. 7 will be a useful work, as being finished by the special department. Rs. 158-15-3 were also, before the regular work began, expended on petty surface repairs.

Road No. R, Bahadoorgunge to Tarapore, length about 10 miles.—Rs. 4,418-5-10. In cash Rs. 2,758-10-3 and in grain Rs. 1,659-11-7 were expended for 1,791,553 cubic feet, earthwork and turfing 159,450 square feet. This is now under the Department Public Works; will be kept up as a useful fair-weather road.

Road from Dalmalpore to Jhola.—Rs. 100-4-2 were expended on this road for preliminary survey operations, but no work was undertaken. These complete the roads classed as original works undertaken by the Department Public Works' officers, who expended Rs. 1,043-9-6 for construction of rice golahs for storing grains for payment to the coolies employed on all the roads, and Rs. 659-6 for the construction of inspection bungalows for officers who superintended the works.

13. The total expenditure by the committee and the Department Public Works under the head of "repairs and maintenance" was Rs. 43,654-7-9, and the works were undertaken by the District Engineer, the sub-divisional officer of Kishengunge and Arrareah, and several indigo planters and other gentlemen both Europeans and natives.

I.—By District Engineer.

The following are the details of all the roads repaired by the District Engineer:—

Road No. 16, Purneah to Kudha, length 20 miles.—Rs. 11,840-6-4. In cash Rs. 9,983-5-3 and in grain Rs. 1,857-1-1 were expended for 276,3204 cubic feet earthwork, dressing 550,400 square feet, and turfing 292,825 square feet. The part of this road lying furthest from the station has been well done during the famine time, the remaining portion is now under repair by the special ex-engineer.

Road No. 35, Saifgunge to Mokenderpore, length 15 miles.—Rs. 2,209-6-2. In cash Rs. 2,032-3-11 and in grain Rs. 177-2-3 were expended for 927,500 cubic feet earthwork. Dressing and turfing 54,000 square feet, but better work was done on this road; it has not been taken up by the special department and is now made over to the charge of an indigo planter.

Road No. 23, Kishengunge to Bahadoorgunge, length 12 miles —Rs. 3,562-6-8. In cash Rs. 3,252-4-11 and in grain Rs. 330-1-9 were expended for 1,511,733 cubic feet earthwork This road was newly laid out and well repaired by the Department Public Works' officers during the time of scarcity Road No. 3, Kishengunge to Titalya, length 40 miles.—This was only partly repaired. It is now being repaired by the sub-divisional officer at Kishengunge; Rs. 3,905-7-7 were expended for 1,451,444 cubic feet earthwork and turfing 474,900 square feet.

Road No. 12, Purneah to Mattiary, length 51 miles.—Rs. 3,721-3-7 were expended partly by the District Engineer and partly by the sub-divisional officer of Arrareah. The amount was expended on surface repairs, and this cost has put the road into very good order. No heavy embankment have been made, but a good fair-weather tract has been made just suited to the nature of the country and the wants of the people.

Road No. 10, Purneah to Nathpore, length 51 miles.—Rs. 692-10-0 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches by the District Engineer. This amount has put the road into tolerable order, but as there was not much distress in this part of the district, much money was not allotted.

Road No. 22, Kishengunge to Bheriadangi, length 3¾ miles.—Rs. 531-5-5 were expended for surface repairs including bridges. This amount has put the road in good order.

Road No. 24, Titalya to Futtehpore.—Rs. 100 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches and the road was put into fair order. Its repairs will in future be carried out by the Dinagepore authorities who have more to do with the road than we have.

Road No. ½ Illuabary to Kalleagunge, length 9 miles —Rs. 370-6-11 were expended on surface repairs in petty patches and the road was put into fair order. More money is wanted this year for bridges.

Purneah embankments.—Rs. 254-6-6 were expended for repairing them. They are considered necessary by the Department Public Works' officers. They are in good order.

II.—By Sub-divisional Officers

(a.) The sub-divisional officer of Kishengunge was advanced Rs. 1,000 for repairs of village roads in his sub-division, of which he expended Rs. 991-1-5 on the following village roads and the work, as he informs me, was most satisfactorily done by adopting the system of making advances to the headmen of villages to carry on their repair by which the expense of entertaining a staff of overseers and mohurrirs was saved :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Kalliagunge to Arlabore	100	0	0
Chakabea to Sanwar	200	0	0
Bolangha to Bujakore	52	8	0

He expended the whole amount on surface repairs; he rendered accounts of Rs. 500 within the year under review, and of the balance in the current cess year. The expenditure has put the road into fair order.

Road No. $\frac{1}{5}$, Saifgunye to Gondwara, length 16 miles.—Mr. G. W. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 340 for repairs of this road. He expended the whole amount on surface repairs, and I hope to visit these roads shortly and will inspect the work.

He rendered accounts of this money after the submission of the annual statements to you, and hence they were not accounted for in them.

Road No. $\frac{1}{5}$, Shahabgunge to Hurdah, length 2$\frac{1}{2}$ miles.—Mr. G. W. Shillingford was advanced Rs. 55 for repairs of this road. He expended the whole amount on surface repairs and the work has been done fairly.

He rendered accounts after the submission of the annual statements.

Road No. 20 Saifgunge to Horinkhoree, length 16 miles.—Mr. G. J. Burnell was advanced Rs. 835 for repairs of this road.

He expended the whole amount. The road is said by the Executive Engineer to be the best in the district.

Monihary to Hyatpore.—This is a continuation of road No. 15. Mr. W. Cumming was advanced Rs. 550 for repairs of this road. He expended Rs 451-7-0 on surface repairs and in clearing jungles. The work has been done fairly. The soil is very light and sandy and not suited for a good road.

Road No. 11, Purneah to Dhamdaha, length 20 miles.—Mr. J. N. Pyne and Mr. R. Crow were jointly advanced Rs. 515 for repairs of this road. They expended Rs. 511-8-10 and the work has been done indifferently, especially the bridge work.

Road No. $\frac{1}{5}$, Chaklah to Koary, length 10 miles.—Mr. J. L. Shillingford repaired this road and was paid Rs. 640-2-0 by the Road Cess Committee. The work has been done well.

14. Village roads.—Particular attention was paid to the state of village roads, so that the advantages of the road cess works might be diffused as widely as possible among the road cess payers. The following European and native gentlemen received the sums opposite their names for repairs of village roads for relief purposes.

They did the work most satisfactorily and took interest in it, by which the expense of keeping up a staff of overseers and mohurrirs was saved:—

15. Rs. 8,249-13-3 were expended for the purchase of kodalies for supplying the District Engineer and other gentlemen to carry on the relief works.

16. The people are becoming more reconciled to the tax on seeing that the expenditure is all made in the district and is in the hands of their local representatives.

17. The whole of the original works and other district road repairs executed by the Public Works Department were under the immediate superintendence of Mr. R. A. Cordner, deputed last year on account of scarcity and relief. My thanks are due to Mr. Cordner for the energy with which he supervised the numerous and large works started last year on account of famine relief, and to the following gentlemen, namely, Mr. J. N. MacQueen, Mr. J. A. Shillingford for undertaking the repairs of several roads and general interest they took in all road cess matters.

No. 904, dated Purneah, the 1st May 1875.

From—W. KEMBLE, Esq, Chairman, Road Cess Committee,

To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division.

WITH reference to your letter No. 35P.W. of the 29th ultimo, I have the honor to submit the sketch report as required.

2. Rs. 75,082-1 was estimated to be the receipts of the cess year 1874-75 from several sources of income, the details of which were given in the budget estimate. Of this sum, Rs. 2,784 was estimated for expenditure under head "establishment and contingencies employed on collection of revenues and committee's control;" Rs. 15,986 was kept for expenditure under head "working establishment;" and Rs. 12,615 for repairs of the following district roads:—

Of these, the roads named in the margin have been made over to Mr. Anley for repairs. The repairs of the other roads are made over to the indigo planters, sub-divisional officers of Kishengunge and Arrareah, and other members of the Committee.

Purneah to Nathpore.
„ to Sawraguddi.
„ to Hyatpore.

3. Rs. 12,000 was set aside for repairs of village roads through the headmen of villages, as this system works well and the people have an opportunity of seeing that the road cess realizations are expended in their interests.

4. Rs. 9,857 was set aside for repairs of existing bridges of the district roads. The details are given below:—

	Rs.
Repairs of four bridges on the road from Purneah to Madanchuck	1,674
„ of two „ „ „ Gondwara to Sawraguddi ...	3,237
„ of four „ „ „ Bishenpore to Gondwara ...	821
„ of one „ „ „ Purneah to Hyatpore ...	612
„ of two „ „ „ from Gondwara to Saifgunge ...	588
„ of eight „ „ „ from Purneah to Damdaha ...	2,750
„ of bridges on the Illuabary and Kalliagunge road ...	175
Total ...	9,857

In addition to above, Rs. 16,540 was set aside for completion of those bridges which will be made over to the Road Cess Committee in an incomplete state by the special department; see paragraph 3 of your letter No. 634L.F., dated 20th August 1874. It is not proposed to spend any money on bridges until a proper establishment under a competent engineer or overseer is appointed.

Rs. 5,000 was set aside as a famine reserve. This amount can be expended on the roads of the special division should they be made over to the Road Cess Committee in an unfinished state.

I regret my inability to report on the works which will have to be undertaken when the special roads have been made over to the Committee. I do not yet know how far they have been finished or what bridges will be necessary. This work should stand over till we can provide ourselves with a competent establishment.

No. 174L.F., dated Doomka, the 13th March 1875.

From—JOHN BOXWELL, Esq., Offg. Deputy Commissioner, Sonthal Pergunnahs,

To—The Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Bhagulpore Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit a report on the district works done during the cess year 1873-74.

2. The works were both original and repairs on roads, bridges, tanks, and lands.

3. All works were indiscriminately "relief" and "district."

4. The fact that to give relief was one of the principal ends, has left its mark on the works in many ways. They are costly in a double sense, laid out on a costly plan, and dear for the results, and also more incomplete than if we had been able to concentrate our energies.

5. All this is a common place of relief work, and is universally understood.

6. I go on to give a sketch of our plans and how we carried them out.

7. In the middle of the rains of 1873, before there was any idea of the quick-coming necessity, I was called on to prepare a list of works to be reserved for famine time.

8. Previously to the time I speak of, the question has been raised whether certain half-made feeder roads to the Loop Line, East Indian Railway, should be finished, or the head-quarters of the district connected by roads with the sub-divisions.

9. It was decided that these sub-divisional roads should take precedence of the feeder roads.

10. When I was asked what works should be reserved for famine, I said "the next but one set of works to be done at any time."

11. As the sub-divisional roads were the next works, and the feeder roads the next to them, I proposed that the feeder roads should be reserved for famine.

12. My meaning of course was that we should at once go on with the sub-divisional roads, and if there was no famine till they were finished, then finish the feeder roads, having in the meantime ascertained and reserved the next most pressing work.

13. However, scarcity came on the very year and work was begun on both sub-divisional and feeder roads, as well as on others in neither list. Tanks and bunds, both new and old, were dug, cleaned, and repaired.

14. It is needless to say that much more work was begun than there was any chance of finishing, and that much work was begun and left undone, to finish which would be mere waste of money.

15. I have often explained that one of the most pressing needs of the district is water storage; I am happy to say that we had very many excellent bunds made, which will spread in all directions.

16. One fine bund in the Damon near Katikund, which cost nearly Rs. 2,500 to build, and which reached the size of a lake in September, was carried away by the unusually heavy rains of last October. This is, I think, the worst piece of work I have had since I joined the district.

17. Of the sub-divisional roads, that from Doomka to Jamtara was laid out, begun and about one-fifth of the work done. That from Jarmondi to Deoghur was laid out and had a small quantity of earthwork done. Five miles of a good straight road were laid out, and the earthwork done from Moheshpore towards Doomka by Mr. Wood.

The Godda and Hansdiha road was laid out.

18. The original four feeder roads were taken in hand. That from Tinpahar to Borio was made an excellent and serviceable road with very little delay.

A little work not worth particular mention was done on the other three.

15. Seven other roads were projected and begun or finished.

1.—Deoghur to Baidya both station; 8 miles finished, excellent.

2.—Patool to Madhupore projected and finished; 3 miles, good.

3.—Godda to Peerpointee, projected and finished; about 35 miles in the district: very good in September, much damaged by the October rain.

4.—Barhait vid Borio to Sahibgunge, projected and begun, in fair progress; expensive and difficult.

5.—Godda to Borio; projected, begun, abandoned.

6.—Doomka to Mullarpore, projected, laid out, abandoned.

7.—Moheshpore to Hiranpore, projected, begun, still subject of controversy.

20. I may add here that I travelled over the line of this last road a fortnight ago The first three miles from Moheshpore are through populous cultivated country, are fairly advanced, and may be worth keeping up. It is also just possible that some people in this neighbourhood may have felt a little pressure in the scarcity.

21. The next four miles are over a shoulder of Dhorun Pahar, through rock and jungle. To the right for miles there can be seen nothing but woody hill. To the left are few rather large Sonthal villages; but I don't believe 10 acres of rice land could be found in 50 square miles of country. There is nothing but high Jurabari land.

22. It is out of the question that there can have been any distress here.

23. For the three or four miles between the Torai River and Hiranpore the country is a low flat rice plain, but at the Torai the Moheshpore and Hiranpore road joins the Pakour and Hiranpore road, on which abundance of work might have been given.

The Bhagulpore and Soory road was metalled from Doomka to the More. This was one of the best pieces of work done.

The work done on roads are shown in a table. The tanks and bundhs are too numerous and of too unequal value to be shown in such a form. They number 131.

C. F. BANSON,
For Offg. Deputy Commissioner.

No. 31P.W., dated Bhagulpore, the 28th April 1875.

From—G. N. BARLOW, Esq., C.S.I., Offg. Commr. of the Bhagulpore Division and S.P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Department Public Works.

I HAVE the honor to submit the following report on the working of the district road cess committees in the districts of this division for the year ending September 1874.

2. Copies of the annual reports and statements furnished by the committees and by the Deputty Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs are herewith submitted.

3. I very much regret the delay in submitting this report. The district reports revised under my instructions were received in this office on the dates noted in the margin; but they were not ready for submission to Government, as references had to be made regarding them and revised accounts called for from some of the districts. The last information required reached this office on the 16th instant only.

Monghyr, 3rd February 1875.
Bhagulpore, 5th January 1875.
Purneah, 8th February 1875.
Sonthal Pergunnahs, 17th March 1875.

4. It will be observed that the year commenced with a gloomy prospect as regards the condition of the crops; and as distress began to show itself, relief measures in the shape of public works were introduced by Government. When the severity became intense, relief measures on a very extensive scale were carried on under a special department, and the action of the road cess committees in consequence was much interfered with. As observed by the Chairman of the Bhagulpore Committee, all district works were at the commencement, under the orders of the Government, ordered to be considered as relief works, and all relief works were placed under the special department formed. Moreover, relief roads were, as necessity required, opened without the committees being consulted; and although their functions were in theory subsequently revived, practically they had little or nothing to do with the relief roads. Thus it came to pass that the committees' proceedings during the year were confined chiefly to keeping up the books and accounts of all relief works, and acting as a channel for receiving and crediting all relief grants in their books and making them over to the special department.

5. Committees.—There were but slight changes in the personnel of the committees. The attention of all officers having been engrossed in the famine, meetings were not held as regularly and often as they should have been. In Bhagulpore and Purneah six meetings were held during the year, and with the exception of one meeting in Purneah all the others in the two districts were attended by a quorum. In Moughyr report the number of meetings held during the year has not been stated, but it is mentioned that the members who lived at or near the station were very regular in their attendance; but in this, as in the other districts, those living at a distance were not so.

6. Branch Committees.—A branch committee was formed at each sub-division, but owing to press of work on account of the famine their work was not brought into full swing. The branch committee in the sub-division of Kishengunge, however, convened a meeting, and is said to have done well in looking after the construction and improvement of village roads.

7. Statement of roads.—The statement of roads required under the Act, and submitted with this office No. 19P.W. of the 22nd instant, under Government orders No. 56, dated 18th August 1873, in a classified form, will show the state of the roads in each district. There has been great delay in the submission of the statements, which was caused in consequence of their not having been received in a correct and complete shape. The statements for the Sonthal Pergunnahs have not yet been received, and supplementary statements of roads which were not included in the original statements, are still due from the district of Purneah. I set considerable stress upon the keeping up of these statements in a complete and clear manner.

8. Works.—The annual accounts of the district commitees, submitted with this report, will show the work done and the amount expended on each road. But as matters stood, no distinction was made except in the case of Bhagulpore district accounts between the regular district roads and the famine road works on both classes of works, and many of these originated from the necessity of giving work to the famine labourers. I shall therefore confine my remarks to the important works of both kinds.

9. MONGHYR.

(a). Class I.—Original works. Ghoregat section of the Bhagulpore and Monghyr road.—Work was taken up on this road, and a sum of Rs. 8,801 was expended in executing earthwork and turfing.

(b). Class II.—Tirhoot road and Patna road.—These two roads have always heretofore been deemed important ones. The former is undoubtedly so, as it is the only line of road running through Begooserai sub-division and leading to Tirhoot. The latter has the rail and river on either side, which somewhat detracts from its usefulness: nevertheless the Committee have always entertained the idea of completing these works; and at the time of the famine a partially complete scheme, prepared by the District Engineer for the Tirhoot road, was ready and was submitted to the Chief Engineer This officer raised objection to the scheme upon the score of difficulty and expense; but the necessity for providing employment for labour as the scarcity advanced left no choice in the matter; and with the sanction of Government the earthwork only was proceeded with throughout a portion of the line. Circumstances almost exactly similar led to the prosecution of work upon the Patna road; these two lines from their special situation affording more opportunity for heavy embankment work than is usually to be found in the case of works in the Monghyr district.

During the famine upwards of Rs. 25,000 were expended for raising and bridging the Tirhoot road. (The latter kind of work being paid for out of the road cess grant of the year).

Upwards of Rs. 11,100 were expended for raising the Patna road. Additional waterways and bridges were also provided with a view to make certain portions of it properly connected and rendered fit for communication during the flood season. With this object two bridges and two culverts on the 5th and 6th miles and two additional spans on the 20th and 21st miles were constructed and have stood well. The last season's rains, however, have made great havoc with these two lines of road, which are immediately affected by Ganges' floods. So much indeed has this been the case that the Chairman of the District Committee has announced his opinion that the general question of their construction as anything more than fair-weather roads must be reconsidered. I have accordingly ordered that no further expenditure shall be incurred upon the works until the matter is decided.

(c). Jamooe and Luckeeserai road.—One bridge on the 8th mile and 12 irrigation gullets were constructed, and another bridge on the 3rd mile was in progress and will be completed during the current year. Upwards of Rs. 2,400 were expended on these works during the year. This is perhaps the most satisfactory road in the district.

(d). Sheikpoorah road.—Upwards of Rs. 10,800 were expended for raising the whole length of this road, and it has been made over to the special department for completion It is a simple work, and will be useful.

(e.) Class III.—Gyriak road.—This road is subject to the Ganges flood throughout a portion of its length between Luckeeserai and Sheikhpoorah. At present the Chairman remarks that it forms a capital cold-weather road, and it might with very little trouble be made a good road for all seasons. As respects the latter portion of Mr. Lockwood's observation, I know professional opinion differs from his. During the famine work of last year the first section of the road from Luckeeserai was left untouched owing to the difficult nature of the work. I should like to see the line completed some day, as there would then be through communication from Monghyr to Luckeeserai vid Khurruckpore, Gungta, Jamooe, Secundra, and Sheikhpoorah; but the question must be left to be decided on its merits hereafter. A sum of Rs. 7,218 was expended on this road during the year.

(f) Mulleypore and Jamooe road.—This road is reported to be in fair order. Rs. 2,331 were expended on it for earthwork and metalling. It is the railway communication from Jamooe sub-division, and should be metalled throughout. The difficulty is the midway interruption presented by the Keul river.

(g) Secundra to Jamooe road.—A sum of Rs. 12,616 was expended on this road during the year for earthwork, turfing, and temporary bridges. This road now requires only smoothing down and wooden bridges at intervals to make it serviceable to the people and to open out the neighbouring country more fully.

(h.) Gungta to Mulleypore road.—A sum of Rs. 16,488 was expended for earthwork, turfing, &c., in this road. It completes the communication between Monghyr and the chord line through Khurruckpore.

(i.) Secundra to Luckeeserai Road.—A new road. A sum of Rs 12,017 was expended on this road for earthwork, turfing, and temporary bridges. This road, the Magistrate says, if properly maintained, will continue a good road.

(j.) North of the Ganges, upon works other than the Tirhoot road, Rs. 4,753 were expended upon an old existing line, Bhutkur to Roshra, and Rs. 5,784 on a new line from Bucktearpore in Farkyah to Bhateea on the Bhagulpore frontier. This last must be a useful work, as the country is backward and requires opening out, and the line unites with the whole sytem of Bhagulpore roads.

10. The total expenditure on original works executed during the year was Rs. 1,32,042, a greater portion of which was expended on the above roads The minor works do not call for any particular remarks.

11. Repairs.—A sum total of Rs. 19,648 was expended on repairs.

(a.) Bhagulpore road.—Rs 8,778 were expended for metalling the Bhagulpore road. The work has now been completed and opened to traffic.

(b.) Burriarpore road.—This is a railway feeder road. The repairs, executed at a cost of Rs. 1,147, were very slight, consisting of repairs to the slopes, and protecting them during the flood with stone turfing and by other means.

(c.) Kujra road.—This road, which is five miles long, was also repaired at a cost of Rs. 824, but a portion of it was washed away by flood.

BHAGULPORE.

12. The excellent report and statement of work done and in progress furnished by the Chairman and forwarded herewith gives very detailed information of the roads and other works done during the year, and requires no comment. The total expenditure on original works, both district and famine, was Rs. 2,01,031, and Rs. 39,648 were expended in repairs.

13. (a.) Class I.—Original Works.—Bhagulpore and Soory road.—This road runs over a distance of 103 miles, of which the first 42 are within this district, and require a vast outlaying to bring them into proper order. Two causeways were constructed on the 8th and 22nd miles of this road, and a sum of Rs. 10,282 was expended on them during the year.

(b) Two other original district works, viz. the road from Kutooriah to Simultolah, and the road from Banka to Kutooriah, were taken up, and Rs. 5,584 and 2,701 respectively were expended on their partial construction. The other works appearing in the report were famine works, and were worked upon for famine purposes. Besides these, several tank works were executed during the year at a total cost of Rs. 56,559-12-7.

PURNEAH.

14. In Purneah the total expenditure on original works was Rs. 2,68,050, and Rs. 43,654 were expended on repairs. The history and progress of each work in this district have been given in detail in the Chairman's report herewith sent, and need not be repeated here.

SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS.

15. The expenditure on original works in this district was Rs. 78,040, and 9,010 were expended on repairs.

(a.) Original Works.—The Bhagulpore and Soory road was metalled from Doomka to the Moor at a cost of Rs. 14,916. This was the heaviest and best piece of work in the district.

(b.) I consider the two original famine works, viz. (1) the road through the Damin-i-koh from Sahebgunge to Burhait, and (2) from Godda to Peerpointee, most useful lines of communication.

(c) The statement of works done on the several roads during the year, furnished by the Deputy Commissioner, a copy of which is herewith submitted, gives detailed informations regarding them. There were several bunds and tanks executed during the year for relief purposes, which do not call for any remarks. The bunds, as a rule, may be considered the most useful works.

16. It may suffice to observe regarding relief works that in all cases the most useful works available, local and general considerations being duly accounted, were selected and prosecuted as long as the distress required it. After cessation of the demand for labour, a special department was continued, and a moderate outlay sanctioned from Government funds to carry on and render useful the most important works thus commenced upon. The arrangements having been completed, the works, it may be concluded, will shortly revert to the district committees. I think it desirable that some orders upon this point should be issued shortly.

17. Accounts, receipts, and expenditure.—The annual accounts of receipts and disbursements submitted herewith show the different sources of income and the charges incurred in each district under the several heads. The total receipts and expenditure of each district are given below :—

18. The collection of road cess having been suspended by order of Government in certain most distressed tracts of the regulation districts, the receipts from that source fell short of the estimates under that head.

19. The results of receipts and expenditure as shown above will show that the difference is very great on both sides of the account in all the districts. The cause is attributed to the actual receipts being much more than the estimated income on account of extraordinary grants from Government for relief purposes and sales of rice given out to labourers being included in them, and similarly the relief expenditure has swollen the actual expenditure far above the receipts in some cases. But it appears that there will be an actual balance in favor of the road fund when the relief expenditure has been adjusted, as much of their money was diverted to relief works.

20. The Bhagulpore Committee, as observed in the Chairman's report, have kept their accounts in very careful detail, showing receipts and charges on account of relief works separately from those of the regular district works. They apparently are in hopes that a settlement of account may take place on the part of Govenment, when it is anticipated that the available funds will be increased by the repayment of road cess money advanced for relief works. The other district committees do not appear as yet to have observed any distinction as to monies dealt with in their accounts.

21. Rates of cess.—The cess was levied at the following rates in the several district during the year under review :—

Monghyr ... } Half the maximum rates.
Bhagulpore ... }
Purneah ... Three-fourths of ditto.

22. Establishment.—First amongst the committees in this division, the Committee of Bhagulpore were anxious to have their own establishment, and applied for some—vide my report to Government, Public Works Department, No. 400Ct, dated the 25th January last. The subject has finally been disposed of in Government resolution of the 8th March last, No. 1209, and proposition statements of establishment have been submitted for orders.

23. Offices.—The following District Engineers, who held charge of the districts mentioned opposite their names, are well spoken of by the Magistrate. They have done their work with zeal and energy :—

Baboo Ram Ruttun Mozoomdar, Monghyr.
Messrs. Grant and Sibbold, Bhagulpore.
Mr. Corduer, Purneah

And I can readily affirm that the district officers of Monghyr, Bhagulpore, and Purneah, as Chairman of the district committees, have been most zealous and earnest in the discharge of their duty.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholarlike knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 15th July 1875:—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to regulate the transport of native labourers to British Burma, and their employment therein, was referred, have the honor to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

" Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 463-105, dated 20th May 1874, and enclosures.

2. The principal alteration we have made in the Bill is one which depends upon the system of emigration adopted for British Burma, and a system has sprung up since the Bill was introduced into Council. At that time it was not supposed that funds for the promotion of emigration would be forthcoming from any body but the employers who wanted laborers, and the Bill was accordingly framed on the principle that the contract of an emigrant would be made with some individual employer for his whole term of service. Since that time, however, a considerable amount of emigration from peninsular India to British Burma has been effected under a system of contracts entered into by the emigrant directly with the Secretary of State in Council. The funds have been provided by the Government of British Burma, which is repaying itself out of the earnings of the emigrant. It has therefore been thought better to work on this hitherto successful line, and to adapt the provisions of the Bill to the system actually in existence.

3. The portions of the Bill, as now settled by us, which bear most strongly on the change of principle, are contained in sections 35 and 48. But it is obvious that many other parts of the Bill must have been modified by such a change, such as the amount of labor rate, the conditions under which emigrants are assigned to private employers, the terms of redemption of contracts, the provivision for return passages, and in particular that much of the protective machinery provided by the original Bill may be safely left to be provided by the Local Government either in the shape of statutory rules or in the shape of executive orders.

4. We now proceed to state in detail the principal alterations we have made in the Bill.

5. As the Bill now contains no clause prohibiting emigration save under the proposed Act, we have struck out the saving of contracts with native seamen, domestic servants, and, skilled artizans.

6. We have omitted from the interpretation clause the definitions of "employer," "vessel," and "master:" we have shortened the definition of "immigrant;" and we have defined "Chief Commissioner."

7. We have provided that the Emigration Agent shall be removeable at the pleasure of the Chief Commissioner, and that the Medical Inspector of Emigrants shall be remunerated as the Government of India may direct.

8. We have relieved the Emigration Agent from the duty of spontaneously instituting inquiries into the treatment of emigrants on the return voyage. He will, however, receive and enquire into any complaints actually made.

9. We have struck out the clause as to recruiters' badges, which are objected to in many parts of the country as favoring oppression and fraud.

10. We have empowered officers who have countersigned recruiters' licenses to require them to produce the licenses, and either to cancel the signature or impound the license for cancellation by the Emigration Agent.

11. Under the new system to which we have referred, it is imposible to specify in the emigrant's contract (vide section 13) the district in which he is to serve or the nature of his work, and in Burma it is unnecessary to specify the price of his food. We have, therefore, struck out the provisions relating to these matters.

12. We have provided for the medical examination of persons accompanying a recruit as his dependents.

13. We have reduced to eight annas the fee for registering a recruit, and struck out the provision for refunding it in case of his desertion.

On the latter point we are clear enough. There is no reason why, if the fee is proper to be paid for the work done, it should be repaid because of the subsequent misbehaviour of one of the parties who required the work. But it may be questioned whether the work should not be done without any fee at all. If the matter were new, we should be of opinion that the district officers might properly be called upon to discharge it gratuitously. But inasmuch as a fee is, under the General Emigration Act, charged for similar sevices, we have not ventured to omit it altogether from this Bill, though we are of opinion that a smaller one may properly be charged. We are not informed in what manner the fees are disposed of. The point is one on which the local authorities will have full information, and we shall be glad to receive advice whether it is desirable to abolish the fee altogether, or to lower it as now proposed.

14. We think that the Medical Inspector should examine in detail and individually all emigrants and their dependents immediately after their arrival at the depôt, but that any subsequent inspection by him should be of a more general character, and for the purpose mainly of seeing that there is no danger of infectious diseases. We have made provision for the case of emigrants or dependents suffering from such disease. We have struck out the penalty imposed on the Emigration Agent by section 27 of the Bill as introduced, and we have provided a procedure where a dependent is dangerously ill.

15. We have slightly modified the procedure of the Emigration Agent in registering contracts.

16. In section 35 we have declared that, when any contract has been ratified by the Emigration Agent, the emigrant shall be deemed to have contracted with him on behalf of the Chief Commissioner to proceed to British Burma, and there to labor according to the terms of his contract in any place and mode which, consistently with such terms and with the provisions of the proposed Act, the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

17. We have struck out the sections relating respectively to suits against the Emigration Agent for breach of contract and to the recovery of certain sums payable by him to emigrants.

18. We have provided that Emigration Agents shall furnish the masters of emigrant vessels with proper lists of the emigrants on board.

19. We have struck out the provision contained in section 40 of the original Bill, that the Emigration Agent is to ascertain that the emigrants are in a fit state of health to proceed to Burma. All duties of this kind should be discharged by the Medical Inspector.

20. We have made it clear that the offices of Emigration Agent and of Medical Inspector of Emigrants may be held by the same person.

21. Considering the shortness of the voyage from peninsular India to Burma, and the circumstance that the emigrants will be under the care of Government until their arrival, we have struck out the sections (35—44) of the Bill as introduced relating to emigrant vessels and the embarkation of emigrants. All that they do can be done by subsidiary rules to be framed by the Local Government.

22. In section 48 we have modified the clause relating to the assignment of immigrants, and have authorized the Chief Commissioner to make rules regulating the terms on which immigrants shall be allowed to labour on their own account. We have provided (in section 49) that, in assigning immigrants to particular employers, the Immigration Agent shall, so far as practicable, take care that they are not separated from their dependents.

23. For reasons similar to those stated in paragraph 21 of this report, we have struck out the clauses (51—65) of the Bill as introduced, relating to the transit of immigrants to the place of labour. The matter will be more fitly provided for by rules to be made by the Chief Commissioner.

24. We think that under the changed aspect of the Bill no labour rate will be wanted. The expenses will be recovered from the employers under the terms of the assignments. If they are not recoverable from any employer, we have empowered the Chief Commissioner to declare the assignment of immigrants to such employer to be void. In such case their labour will again be at the disposal of the Chief Commissioner.

25. We have struck out the clauses relating to the books to be kept and the reports to be made by Inspectors of Immigrants. These matters can, if necessary, be provided for by subsidiary rules or by simple executive orders.

26. We have also omitted the two sections (74, 75) of the Bill as introduced, which relate to the fixing of the immigrant's daily tasks and to the revision of the schedule of tasks. They are inconsistent which the conditions under which emigrants are now and will be employed in British Burma.

27. By section 60 where an Inspector finds an immigrant to be permanently unfitted for labour, he will report the case to the Local Government, which will then either provide for the employment and support of the immigrant and his dependents, or send them back to the place at which they registered.

28. Fines for breach of rules as to house accommodation will, where the persons fined are agents and fail to pay, be charged on the employers' lands and be recoverable as if they were land revenue.

29. We have struck out, as unnecessary in Burma, the clauses relating to unhealthy estates (sections 83 and 84 of the original Bill).

30. We have struck out the clauses (sections 85, 89 of the Bill as introduced) empowering the employer of an immigrant convicted of absence from labor or desertion to assign him to another employer.

31. We think it inexpedient to provide that the punishment for desertion shall in all cases be rigorous.

32. We have simplified the procedure in cases of complaints against employers. When any such complaint is frivolous and vexatious, we have provided (in section 77) a small penalty for the complainant. Compensation awarded, where wages are in arrear for more than two months, will be paid to the immigrant.

33. By sections 83 and 84 we have completely altered the redemption clauses contained in section 102 of the original Bill. The contract being made with Government, who will also in many cases be the actual employer of labour, it is intended to make it redeemable, as the present practice is, on repayment by the immigrant of the expenses properly chargeable to him according to accounts kept by the Immigration Agent. When the immigrant has been assigned to a private employer, the proper compensation to that employer for the loss of his labour will be best ascertained by the special conditions of the assignment, or by rules whenever the local Government can find its way to some general principle applicable to all cases.

34. We have struck out the clause (section 104 of original Bill) providing for a return passage for immigrants whose contracts have been completed. Such a provision is not only not required, but would be inexpedient in the case of British Burma—at all events under the contemplated system.

35. We have struck out, as useless, the section empowering the Governor-General in Council to make subsidiary rules, and we think it unnecessary to require the sanction of the Government of India to rules made by the Chief Commissioner under the proposed Act.

36. We have expressly empowered the Chief Commissioner to make rules to regulate the notice to be given, and forms to be observed, on the termination of assignments of immigrants and the terms on which contracts and assignments of service may be redeemed. We have provided a penalty for wilfully contravening any rule for the breach whereof no penalty is specially provided.

37. We have added four clauses (89, 90, 91, 92) to the Bill: the first providing for the renewal of instruments which have been lost or destroyed; the second declaring that copies made under the proposed Act shall be evidence of the contracts to which they respectively relate; the third providing for the recovery of money due under the Act from employers of immigrants; and the fourth supplying a technical defect in the contracts for service in British Burma under Government which have heretofore been entered into by emigrants from peninsular India.

38. The schedule giving a form of a pass permitting immigrants to proceed to their labour district has been struck out in consequence of the omission of the section (51) which refers to it.

39. We have made, besides these substantial changes, several transpositions and verbal amendments.

40. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication: we accordingly recommend that it be republished, as now amended, in the Gazette of India, the Calcutta Gazette, the Fort Saint George Gazette, and the British Burma Gazette, and that its further consideration should be postponed for the present.

Every such officer refusing to countersign a recruiter's license, or cancelling his signature, shall without delay report his refusal or cancellation and the grounds of it to the Emigration Agent to whose authority the recruiter is amenable.

13. Any person desiring to emigrate under this Act may enter into a contract with a recruiter to proceed to British Burma and there serve for a fixed period of not more than three years from the date of his arrival at the port of debarkation.

The medical officer shall thereupon examine the recruit, and shall either reject him or shall certify that he is in a fit state of health and able, in point of physical condition, to proceed to British Burma and to work there.

If it is intended that any persons shall accompany the recruit as his dependents, the recruiter shall also bring them before the medical officer for the purpose of obtaining certificates that they are in a fit state of health and able, in point of physical condition, to perform the journey to British Burma; and the medical officer shall examine the dependents and shall give or refuse certificates according to his opinion as to their fitness and ability.

15. Every certified recruit and every accompanying dependent shall appear with the recruiter before a Magistrate in the district or Presidency town within which the contract with the recruit was entered into.

16. The Magistrate shall thereupon inspect the instrument of contract and the medical certificate of the recruit, and shall, apart from the recruiter, examine the recruit with reference to his contract, and if it appears that the recruit understands the nature of the contract he has entered into as regards the particulars specified in section thirteen, and that he is willing to fulfil the same, the Magistrate shall register—

(a) the name, the father's name, and the age of such recruit:

(b) the name of the village or place in which he resides:

(c) the port of embarkation to which it is intended that he shall proceed:

(d) the several particulars specified in the instrument of contract made under section thirteen.

The recruit shall thereupon be deemed an emigrant under this Act.

If the Magistrate thinks that the recruit does not understand the nature of his contract, or has been induced to enter into it by fraud or misrepresentation, he shall refuse to register him.

17. On the appearance of any person claiming to be dependent on an emigrant, the Magistrate, after inspecting the medical certificate, shall, apart from the recruiter, examine such person, if able to give intelligent answers to questions as to his dependence upon the emigrant whom he is about to accompany, and as to his willingness to accompany such emigrant.

Examination of dependents on emigrants.

If the Magistrate is satisfied as to the said dependence and willingness, he shall register the dependent as a dependent on such emigrant.

But if the Magistrate sees reason to doubt such dependence or willingness, he may refuse to register the alleged dependent.

18. The Magistrate shall furnish to every emigrant an authenticated copy on substantial paper of the matters registered under sections sixteen and seventeen.

Registration of emigrants.

Such copy is hereinafter called "the emigrant's instrument" or the "immigrant's instrument."

Every recruiter by whom any emigrant or dependent is forwarded to a depôt shall, throughout the journey, provide him with proper and sufficient food and lodging.

21. Whoever, being a duly licensed recruiter, removes for the purpose of emigration any recruit before the completion of such registration as aforesaid; and whoever by means of intoxication, violence, fraud, false pretences, or misrepresentation induces any native of India to enter into a contract for labour to be performed in British Burma, or to proceed to or towards any sea-port for the purpose of proceeding to British Burma without having entered into any contract; and whoever wilfully neglects to supply any emigrant or dependent under his care with proper and sufficient food and lodging, or otherwise ill-treats such emigrant or dependent on his journey to the depôt;

Penalties for infringing provisions as to recruitment.

and whoever forwards, sends, or conveys any such emigrant or dependent with intent to contravene the provisions of this Act; shall be punished with imprisonment which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

Procedure on arrival of Emigrants at Depôt.

22 The Emigration Agent shall, within twenty-four hours after the arrival at the depot of any emigrant, give to the Medical Inspector notice in writing of such arrival

Notice of arrival of emigrants at depôt to be given to Medical Inspector Medical Inspector to examine emigrants.

23. The copy of the matters so registered and the medical certificate of every emigrant fowarded to the Emigration Agent as provided by section eighteen, shall be shown to the Medical Inspector at the port of embarkation, and all emigrants and their dependents shall be examined by the Medical Inspector immediately after their arrival at the depôt.

Inspection of depôts.

24. The Medical Inspector of emigrants shall also, at least once in every week, inspect the emigrants in the depôt, and examine into the state of the depôt and the manner in which the emigrants are therein lodged, fed, clothed, and otherwise provided for and attended to.

Treatment of emigrant or dependent suffering from infectious disease.

25. It shall be the special duty of the Medical Inspector to take care that no emigrant or dependent is suffering from any disease calculated to be dangerous to his neighbours, and to insolate or to exclude from the depôt and from embarkation persons who are so suffering.

Any person so suffering may, if the Medical Inspector thinks fit, be removed to a proper hospital for treatment.

Emigration Agent to pay return expenses of rejected emigrants.

26. If the Medical Inspector has reason to think that any emigrant is in such a state of health that his journey to British Burmah, or detention in the depôt, would be dangerous to himself or others, or that he is unfit for labour in British Burma, he shall so certify to the Emigration Agent; and in case any emigrant is in such a state of health as aforesaid, the Emigration Agent shall pay to such emigrant such sum as is necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered:

And any emigrant who, from his state of health, is, in the opinion of the Medical Inspector, unfit to undertake such journey, shall be entitled to be fed, lodged, and attended to at the port of embarkation at the expense of the Emigration Agent, until he is reported by the Medical Inspector fit to undertake such journey.

Return expenses of dependents.

27. If a dependent has accompanied such emigrant, the Emigration Agent shall pay such sum as is necessary to enable him to return to the place at which he was registered, as well as to feed and lodge him during the detention (if any) of the emigrant in the depôt.

Procedure where dependent is dangerously ill.

28. If the Medical Inspector sees reason to think that any dependent is in such a state of health that his journey to British Burma, or his detention in the depôt, would be dangerous to himself or others, he shall so certify to the Emigration Agent; and thereupon the emigrant to whom such dependent is attached shall be entitled, if he so wishes, to return as if he himself had been certified to be unfit to proceed under section twenty-six.

If the emigrant still desires to proceed, then the dependent shall be kept and be returned to the place at which he was registered as if he were an emigrant falling under section twenty-six.

Countersignature by Medical Inspector where emigrant or dependent is passed by him.

29. If the Medical Inspector sees no reason to certify in the manner provided in section twenty-six or section twenty-eight of any emigrant or dependent, he shall countersign the copy of the emigrant's instrument which is in the possession of the Emigration Agent.

Procedure in case of ill-treatment on journey.

30. If, upon the arrival of any emigrant or dependent at the depôt, it appear that he has suffered any ill-treatment, or that the recruiter has failed to provide him with proper and sufficient food and lodging during the journey to the depôt, the Local Government may order the Emigration Agent to pay him a reasonable sum by way of compensation.

Ratification of contracts of emigrants passed by Medical Inspector.

31. When the copy of an emigrant's instrument has been countersigned by the Medical Inspector under section twenty-nine, the Emigration Agent shall ratify the contract into which the emigrant has entered, by countersigning the emigrant's instrument and the authenticated copy thereof forwarded to the Emigration Agent under section eighteen.

Registration of contracts.

32. A copy of every such instrument shall be entered in a register to be kept by the Emigration Agent for the purpose, and a copy of such entry authenticated by himself shall be forwarded by him to the Emigration Agent at the port of debarkation.

Procedure if emigrant refuses to produce instrument.

33. Any emigrant who, without reasonable cause, refuses to produce his instrument when required by the Emigration Agent, or in any respect to comply with the terms of his contract, shall be punished with a fine equal in amount to the cost incurred in engaging, registering; and conveying him to the depôt, and in default of payment of such fine, with imprisonment which may extend to two months, and such emigrant may forthwith be discharged from the depôt.

A certificate signed by the Emigration Agent that reasonable cause for refusing to produce the emigrant's instrument has not been shown, shall be admissible as prima facie evidence in proceeding taken under this section.

A certificate signed by the Emigration Agent stating the cost incurred in engaging, registering, and conveying the emigrant to the depôt shall be conclusive evidence of the amount of such cost.

Every fine levied under the provisions of this section shall be paid to the Emigration Agent.

Procedure if Agent neglects to ratify contract.

34. If within thirty days after the arrival at a depôt of any emigrant, the Emigration Agent does not offer to ratify such contract in manner aforesaid, or if the Emigration Agent, without the consent of the Local Government, refuses to be bound by the contract made with the emigrant, the Local Government may order the Emigration Agent to pay to such emigrant such sum of money as is necessary to enable him, together with the dependents (if any) upon him to return to the place where he was registered, and in such case the emigrant shall be released from his contract.

35. When the contract has been ratified by the Emigration Agent, the emigrant shall be deemed to have contracted with the Secretary of State for India in Council to proceed to British Burma, and there to labour according to the terms of his contract in any place and mode which, consistently with such terms and with the provisions of this Act, the Chief Commissioner or any officer appointed by him in that behalf may from to time direct.

and on his depositing that price in the hands of the Inspector, the Inspector shall give notice to the employer that such immigrant requires him, within one week, to show cause why such immigrant should not redeem his contract for the sum so deposited; and if no sufficient cause be shown within that time or such enlarged time as the Inspector deems reasonable, he shall require the production of the immigrant's instrument and endorse thereon a certificate of redemption, and out of the sum in deposit the employer of such immigrant shall be paid the value of the unexpired term of assignment.

From and after the date of such endorsement the immigrant's contract shall be deemed to have determined.

or being required by a Telegraph Officer to deliver up any such message neglects or refuses to do so, shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or to fine, or to both.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Doubts having been raised whether under the present Telegraph Act (VIII of 1860) rules can be framed for Telegraphs established under the repealed Act XXXIV of 1854, the present Bill has been prepared with the primary object of repealing and re-enacting Act VIII of 1860, with such change as will preclude all question as to the extent of the power above referred to.

The opportunity has been taken to make certain other alterations in the law, of which the chief are as follows:—

The present law declares that Railway Companies shall permit Government to establish Telegraphs on their land, but provides no penalty for refusing such permission; the Bill (section 12) supplies this defect.

The section relating to injuries to Telegraphs has been made more specific, the wording of 24, & 25 Vic., cap. 97, section 37, being here followed.

A clause founded on sections 14 and 15 of the Police Act V of 1861 has been introduced to empower the Local Government to employ additional Police in places where mischief to Telegraphs is repeatedly committed, and to charge the inhabitants with the cost of the Police so employed

The clause imposing penalties for sending fabricated messages has been made to apply to messages sent by Telegraphs established by a Company or person licensed under the proposed Act, as well as to messages sent by Government Telegraphs.

Fraudulently retaining or wilfully secreting telegraphic messages is made penal. An analogous clause is contained in the Post Office Act (XIV of 1866), section 45.

Sections 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20 of Act VIII of 1860, which relate to fines and jurisdiction, have been omitted, as rendered unnecessary by Acts I of 1868 and X of 1872.

THE DURBAR AT DACCA.

ON Monday, the 19th July, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal held a Durbar in Dacca for the purpose of publicly presenting to Nawab Abdul Gunny, C.S.I., and his son Khajeh Ahsunoollah the usual khilluts on their being invested by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council with the titles of Nawab and Khan Bahadoor respectively.

The Durbar was held on board His Honor's yacht Rhotas, and was attended by all the officials, European and Native; by the principal zemindars, European, Armenian, and Native; and by the leading pleaders and merchants of the place.

Shortly after 5 P.M. His Honor entered, and having taken his seat, the proceedings commenced by the Commissioner presenting Nawab Abdul Gunny, Kally Narain Rai Chowdry, Bahadoor, of Bhowal, and Khajeh Ahsunoollah, Khan Bahadoor, to the Lieutenant-Governor. The Nawab and his son then withdrew to put on their dresses of honor, and the presentation of the natives was proceeded with; the officials being introduced by the Commissioner, and the zemindars, pleaders, and merchants by the Collector. On the conclusion of this ceremony, Nawab Abdul Gunny, C.S.I., and Khajeh Ahsunoollah, Khan Bahadoor, re-entered the Durbar, and were conducted, the former by the Commissioner, and the latter by the Collector, to the foot of the dais, where the sunnuds were read by Mr. C. E. Buckland, C.S., His Honor's Private Secretary.

Having tied the pearl necklaces round the necks of the Nawab and his son, His Honor addressed them as follows:—

"Nawab Khajeh Abdul Gunny, I congratulate you and your worthy son Khajeh Ahsunoollah on the distinction which has been conferred upon you both. It has afforded me pleasure, from time to time, to bring your conduct and services to the notice of the Viceroy. In common with all your friends, European and Native, I rejoice that His Excellency's selection has fallen upon you.

"In justice to you, Nawab, I will briefly recount before this assembly the facts and reasons on account of which the Government has chosen you for honorable distinction. You had but recently succeeded your father in his position and estates when the mutiny and disturbances of 1857 broke out. At a time when Dacca was threatened by mutineers and others from various quarters, when you also were threatened with personal violence and with the destruction of your property by plunder, you stood to your quarters, armed your followers, and materially contributed to the preservation of the peace in the city and neighbourhood. Subsequently, you evinced confidence in the financial stability of the Government by subscribing largely to the public loan then open.

"Subsequently, you showed munificent liberality on several occasions, such as the distress in Lancashire consequent on the American civil war; the loss of the ship Captain in European waters; the famine in the kingdom of Persia.

"During the recent famine in Bengal and Behar, although fortunately the distress did not reach Dacca in any severe form, you placed your steam vessel at the disposal of the authorities for carrying grain, you subscribed Rs. 25,000 to the Famine Relief Fund; you purchased grain at dear rates in order to dispose of it at cheap rates to your suffering fellow citizens in Dacca.

"In Dacca itself your charities and works of public utility have long been famous. You have long maintained a large almshouse, and have given stores and supplies regularly to the Mitford Hospital. You support a first-class school for poor students, with education free of charge. You contributed largely to the river embankment which is within our sight at this moment. Just one year ago you gave Rs. 1,50,000 for the construction of the water-works for this city, of which works the first stone was laid by His Excellency the Viceroy—which works I now find to be far advanced, and for the completion of which all expedition will be used. During the last year, again, you have given Rs. 20,000 for the addition of a new female ward to the Mitford Hospital, and Rs. 5,500 for the purchase of a site for the Mahomedan Madrassa, thereby showing a commendable interest in the education of your poorer co-religionists.

"In your good works you have been well seconded by your excellent son Ahsunoollah; and it is indeed an auspicious circumstance that both father and son should be to-day decorated together in the same Durbar. Ahsunoollah also has a son, who is being educated carefully in the ways of his father and grandfather. I hope that you may see your children's children growing up worthily, according to the traditions which now become hereditary in the family.

"Doubtless your good example as a citizen, a nobleman, and a landlord, will be duly appreciated by your Hindoo fellow subjects throughout the provinces under the Government of Bengal. Even more particularly will it be observed by your Mahomedan fellow subjects and co-religionists in Eastern and North-Eastern Bengal, who (irrespectively of the Mahomedans in the rest of Bengal and in Behar) number full eleven millions of souls. You are now the first man in all that great community. It is well known that though remarkable still for agricultural skill and industry, they have of late years fallen somewhat behind in the race for intellectual eminence and social progress. It is well, therefore, that they should be able to contemplate in your family an instance of men raising themselves by their own thrift, their own exertions, and their own good management, to the first position in this division of Bengal."

On the conclusion of his speech, the Lieutenant-Governor left the Durbar and the proceedings terminated.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES AT THE DACCA MADRASA.

On the 20th of July the Lieutenant-Governor distributed the prizes at the Mahomedan Madrasa at Dacca, and delivered the following address to the students and others assembled on that occasion:—

"Gentlemen, before we separate I wish to announce that Kishoree Lal Rae, Zemindar, the founder and supporter of the Jugannath School, has declared his intention of giving an annual silver medal, to be awarded to some student of the Dacca Mahomedan Madrasa, under such conditions as may be determined on by the Committee of that institution. Of course the Committee will, in awarding the medal, exercise their independent judgment. I venture, however, to suggest for their consideration whether the medal might not well be awarded for proficiency in English. During the visit which I have just paid to the class rooms, I found that while the lower classes were studying English, the upper class was mainly studying Persian and Arabic, though the latter, on being asked as to their hopes and plans for their future careers, replied that they were aspirants for Government employ. Now I must point out that, without a word of disparagement of the study of such noble languages as Arabic and Persian, these two languages cannot possibly help young men to obtain Government employment in Eastern Bengal. The same remark, too, is applicable to all other professions, such as that of the bar, of medicine, of civil engineering, and the like. The two languages in public use in Eastern Bengal are, and must continue to be, English and Bengalee. If Mahomedan youths cannot be expected to study Bengalee, still they may well learn English, as the best means for earning a livelihood and for advancing in the contests of life. Considering that in maintaining this institution we are administering the trust formed by the late Mahammad Mohsin, considering also the express wishes of the Mahomedan community, we may continue to afford the best instruction possible in Arabic, Persian, and Oordoo, which languages, according to the usages of Mahomedan society, must be properly known by every Mahomedan gentleman. But together with Arabic, Persian, and Oordoo, it is quite possible to combine instruction in English, which is the language by which, under the circumstances of Eastern Bengal, a Mahomedan can win either a competency or a position in life. In inculcating this, I am sure we are fulfilling what would have been the wish of Mahammad Mohsin had he lived to this time, inasmuch as he wisely took thought for the benefit of those who should come after him, and must have desired that the Mahomedans of Bengal should by learning and virtue be able to enter into generous competition with their Hindoo fellow subjects."

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MARINE DEPARTMENT, 1874-75.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MARINE—No. 2180

Calcutta, the 22nd July 1875.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Marine Department for 1874-75.

1. The Pilot Service.—The strength of the Pilot Service on the 31st March 1875 was—

Pilots of the covenanted service at work	Salaried pilots		7
	Free list		43
Licensed pilots at work			25
		Total ...	75
Pilots on leave	Covenanted		2
	Licensed		3
Pilots under suspension			1
		Grand Total ...	81

Since the 31st March 1874 the Pilot Service, partly owing to reductions, partly to casualties, decreased from 101 members to 81. Since the close of the year it has been further reduced by casualties to 71 pilots and 6 leadsmen. The service at present contains only 1 pilot more than the number fixed by the orders of Government as the maximum number to be maintained in future. By the same orders the number of leadsmen was fixed at 20, and proposals for recruiting the service in future are now under consideration.

2. Arrivals and Departures.—In the following statement the number and tonnage of the vessels visiting the port during 1874-75 are compared with those of 1873-74 :—

Years.	Arrivals	Tonnage.	Departures.	Tonnage.	Total arrivals and departures.	Total tonnage
1873-74	981	1,220,549	946	1,216,898	1,927	2,437,447
1874-75	957	1,300,694	961	1,301,903	1,828	2,602,597

This statement shows a decrease in the number of arrivals, an increase in that of the departures, and a total decrease of ships, taking arrivals and departures together, of 99 as compared with last year. In the Port Commissioners' report for 1874-75, the number of departures is given as 901 instead of 961 here given. The Officiating Master Attendant should explain the cause of this discrepancy, as well as that shown between the tonnage figures of the departures as given by him and by the Port Commissioners. Whichever figures, however, are accepted, the general conclusion is the same, that the number of vessels visiting the port is decreasing, while the aggregate tonnage carried by them is increasing; and the annual figures may be accepted as showing to what degree the size of the vessels employed in the Calcutta trade has increased since the opening of the Suez canal. The average tonnage of steamers and sailing vessels in 1873-74 was 1,264, against 1,423 in 1874-75; whilst the gross total tonnage in 1873-74 was 2,437,447, and in 1874-75 it was 2,602,597.

The average number of vessels per mensem which fell to the share of each pilot in the several grades of the Pilot Service during the last four years is shown in the subjoined statement —

Grades.	1871-72.		1872-73.		1873-74.		1874-75
	No.	Average.	No.	Average	No.	Average.	No.	Average
Branch Pilots	10	4·05	9	3·89	10	3·33	8	3·08
Brevet Branch Pilots	3	2·44	6	2·11	4	2·41	3	4·25
Masters	65	1·44	63	1·49	55	1·31	44	1·22
Mates	13	1 nearly	13	1·54	8	1·13	7	1·29

In 1871-72 the total number of ships which entered and left the port was, according to Appendix A, 1,889; in 1874-75 it was 1,828; giving 61 ships less in the latter year. The number of pilots decreased in the same period by 30. It seems clear from this that the averages of 1874-75, when compared with those of 1871-72, cannot be relied on altogether. It was to have been anticipated that the averages of 1874-75 would have shown a considerable improvement over those of 1871-72; but, at any rate, it was not to be expected that the position of the Branch Pilots should have altered so materially for the worse, as must have been the case if these figures are correct. It cannot be attributed to loss of tonnage, for it is well known that the number of vessels of the Branch Pilots' tonnage visiting the port has, for some time past, steadily increased, and is still increasing; and the tabular statement at the foot of page 2 of the report shows that no less than 1,604 vessels of their tonnage were piloted by the other grades of the service. The abolition of the special privileges of privileged Branch Pilots may have had some effect in producing this result, but that effect must have been very small. It would scarcely be sufficient to account for the interchange of position which has taken place between the Branch Pilots and the Brevet Branch Pilots. In order to enable him to see exactly how the question stands, the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to have a tabular statement giving the names of the Branch Pilots and Brevet Branch Pilots, the actual time run by each, and the number of ships piloted by each, for the two years 1871-72 and 1874-75. In Appendix A the total number of vessels which entered and left the port in 1874-75 is stated to be 1,828, but in the statement at the foot of page 2 of the report, the total number of vessels said to have been piloted is 1,863. This is explained by a note attached to the statement at the head of page 3, to the effect that to the former number must be added 25 pilot and light vessels.

3. Groundings, Collisions, and Marine Court.—It is satisfactory to observe that the number of groundings diminished from 68 in 1873-74, to 49 in the year under review. Out of these, there were two total losses. The number of collisions also decreased from ten to six. Although there were a few instances of inattention and carelessness on the part of pilots, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that "the conduct generally of the officers of the Pilot Service as a body has been very good," and that it has been necessary to place only one officer before the Marine Court for trial during the year. Two officers were, however, punished with suspension by Government without being brought to trial.

4. Channels of the Hooghly and River Survey.—Captain Laycock is reported to have conducted his duties ably during the year. The channels of the river are, on the whole, in a satisfactory condition; but some apprehensions exist regarding the gradual narrowing of the channels immediately below Calcutta. This subject has for some time past been under the consideration of the Government, and, as was mentioned in the review of the Port Commissioners' Annual Report, it has been referred by the Government of India to the Secretary of State, with the view of obtaining the opinion of Mr. Robertson, the Harbour Engineer, on the proposals submitted to Government by the Port Commissioners. Owing to financial considerations, the Government of India was unable to sanction the proposals for the reorganization of the River Surveying Flotilla and establishments. The Lieutenant-Governor has, however, under his consideration fresh proposals on the same subject from the Port Commissioners.

5. Vessels of the Department.—The vessels are reported to be generally in fair condition. The Comet, floating light vessel, has recently been condemned, and will be replaced by a new vessel now under construction in the Dockyard.

6. Wreck and Anchor Concern.—The income realized by the Vulcan in 1873-74 was Rs. 1,836-15-7, and the expenditure for establishment was Rs. 5,208. Her income for the past year was Rs. 7,771-13-6, and her establishment expenses Rs. 5,208. This shows a great improvement. In last year's Resolution the Officiating Master Attendant was called on to submit a complete report on the future prospects of this Department, with carefully considered suggestions as to the means which should be adopted to improve its financial position. The matter would seem, however, to have been overlooked by that officer, and he has also omitted to refer to it in the report now under consideration. It is requested that he will submit the report called for without further delay, and will explain the cause of his having omitted to do so before.

7. Miscellaneous.—The houses of refuge are reported to be in good order. One hundred and twenty-seven certificates of survey were issued under Acts V of 1862 and I of 1868; eight certificates of service, and twenty certificates of competency were granted. Ten vessels were registered under the English Merchant Shipping Act, and one under Act I of 1841. The Government Dockyard performed an unusual amount of work on account of the various requirements of the famine. Four paddle-steamers and twelve flats were built in Calcutta; all the other vessels of the famine fleet, comprising ten steamers and five flats, were put together and fitted out in the Dockyard; and a considerable quantity of work was executed for other Government Departments and for private companies.

MANUFACTURE OF CINCHONA ALKALOIDS.

RESOLUTION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 27th July 1875.

READ—

Mr. Wood's report on manufacturing cinchona products, dated 24th May 1875.

1. BEFORE entering on the review of this report, it will be advantageous to reconsider the papers regarding the cultivation of C. succirubra, or the red bark trees. In his report for the year ending 31st March 1874, Dr. King made the following remarks as to the relative values of the succirubra and calisaya:—

"The great preponderance of succirubra trees in the plantation is not due to a preference for that species over calisaya, but to the fact that the red bark tree is hardier, much more easily propagated, and has a much wider range as regards conditions of growth than calisaya. Artificial propagation of calisaya by cuttings proved very much more difficult than similar propagation of succirubra, and until two years ago (owing to the slowness of the calisaya trees to yield seed) we had to depend entirely on such means for multiplying it, whereas succirubra has been seeding freely for years. At last, however, we have raised a large supply of calisaya seed, and I trust before many months are over to be able to report half a million of plants in the nursery beds; and if the funds at my disposal be sufficient, a large proportion of these may be permanently planted out before the end of the current financial year. Red bark, although rich in its total yield of alkaloids, contains less quinine than yellow bark, and in a less easily extracted form. It is therefore less esteemed by manufacturers of quinine. Moreover, red bark can still be procured in considerable quantity from South America, while yellow bark, on the contrary, is scarce. The yellow bark tree promises to grow well in Sikkim; and now that Government have the means of extending its cultivation, I am strongly of opinion that they should do so."

2. On this report the Secretary of State* made the following remarks:—

"So much importance need not be attached to the cultivation of quinine-yielding species, if the species rich in cinchonidine is more suitable to the soil and climate of Sikkim; for the reports of the Cinchona Commissions are unanimous as to cinchonidine being equal to quinine as a febrifuge. If this view is confirmed by the medical officers whose duty it will be to watch and superintend the administration of the large quantity of cinchonidine which has lately been despatched to India, this question may be considered to have been finally settled. The cheap form of the febrifuge manufactured at Rungbi will contain all the alkaloids formed in the bark; but as the C. succirubra trees are by far the most numerous, cinchonidine must always predominate. Hence, very considerable importance attaches to the results of the use of the latter alkaloid, 1,700 ounces of which have now been despatched to Calcutta. I therefore desire that full reports may be called for on the efficacy of this form of the cinchona febrifuge, the successful use of which in India will so much increase the value of the Sikkim plantations."

* Despatch of 5th November 1874. Communicated with Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce Department, No 2763, dated 9th December 1874.

3. Before this despatch arrived and was communicated to Dr. King, the first report of Mr. Wood, the Government Quinologist, had been considered, and orders passed on it. This report shewed that the succirubra trees seven years old, which were examined, yielded from 0·90 per cent. to 2·20 per cent. of quinine, and from 1·73 to 2·87 of cinchonidine; whilst the calisaya trees of five and seven years old yielded from 4·53 to 6·92 per cent. of quinine, and no cinchonidine. Mr. Wood was of opinion that, by selecting the best varieties of calisaya, there was a possibility of growing very rich bark capable of easily furnishing pure sulphate of quinine; to which he added the following remarks:—

"On comparing the analyses of the barks thus far examined, it will be found that certain varieties of calisaya are decidedly superior to any of the succirubra. It is true that the total alkaloid in the latter species is as much, or even a fraction per cent. more than in the former; but in the one case the total is made up of a mixture in nearly equal proportions of different alkaloids, while in the other it consists almost entirely of quinine. For the manufacture of alkaloid in this country, a great advantage would be gained by the employment of a bark yielding quinine to the exclusion of the other alkaloids, because the product would be more readily obtained in a pure and well-defined condition. Operating upon succirubra bark, the total yield must either be issued as a mixture of alkaloids in no very definite proportions, or methods of separation must be resorted to which will necessarily complicate the process. In addition to this, succirubra bark presents peculiar obstacles to the extraction of the alkaloids in a state of purity, which is not the case with calisaya."

4. On this report Dr. King recommended, and this Government sanctioned his recommendation, that all further planting of the succirubra species should cease. Dr. King has now reported, in his annual report on the cinchona plantation for 1874-75, that the experiments with calisaya seed have proved a failure. As far as the Secretary of State's despatch is concerned, the final decision of the question of the species which it is most advantageous to cultivate depends upon the reports which he called for from the medical officers on the 1,700 ounces of cinchonidine which he sent to India.

5. No report has been received by Government upon this point, and accordingly the Surgeon-General will now be asked to report specially on the cinchonidine received from the Secretary of State, and also on any febrifuge sent to him by the Quinologist for trial.

6. The Government Quinologist now reports the results of his further inquiries and experiments for maturing the details of a process for the manufacture of a cheap febrifuge from the bark of C. succirubra. He calculates that each tree will yield 2½lb of dry stem bark, and that, if these trees were regularly cut at the completion of their seventh year, there would be an average of 328,000 trees to cut furnishing 738,000lb of dry bark annually. To be on the safe side, however, in his calculations, he takes the number of trees at 2,000,000; and allowing them to attain eight years before cutting, he would obtain 244,000 trees every year. Assuming that they only furnished an average of 1½lb each, the yield would be 366,000lb of dry bark per annum. He further calculates that the cost of producing the 366,000lb of bark is Rs. 80,000, or 3½ annas per lb, and that the bark will yield 4 per cent. of total alkaloid. Mr. Wood has been informed that the legitimate requirements of Bengal for quinine amount to from 12 to 16,000lb per annum, whilst the cinchona plantations at their present limit will only yield from 10 to 12,000lb a year of the total alkaloid in its precipitated form, of the efficacy of which Mr. Wood understands both Dr. Chevers and Dr. Ewart are fully satisfied, and are quite prepared to recommend its adoption in all Government hospitals and dispensaries. This should not, however, be left as a matter of speculation, but should be definitely ascertained; otherwise the calculations may be materially vitiated. A report has been called for on the subject in the resolution of this date on the annual report of cinchona cultivation. Mr. Wood gave up the spirit process for the manufacture on account of the heavy expenditure of capital involved and the cost of spirit, and confined his attention to the process involving the use of acid and alkali. By this method he estimates the results of the full working power of the plantations as below:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Dry bark 366,000lb, at 3½ annas	80,000	0	0
Chemicals, carriage, and labour	35,455	0	0
Quinologist	10,000	0	0
Interest on capital for Quinologist's establishment ...	1,200	0	0
Total ...	1,26,655	0	0
Produce (2½ per cent.) 8,235lb, at Rs. 15-7 ...	1,27,127	8	0

He adds that, if such a simple method were observed, the exclusive services of a professional chemist would scarcely be required; and further, that "if the cultivation of cinchona and production of alkaloid be regarded as one operation, then Government, by simply extending existing appliances, will be in a position to supply the dispensaries with large quantities of an efficient febrifuge at a rupee an ounce, after covering every expense and paying interest at 4 per cent. on all the capital sunk on cinchona in Sikkim from the commencement down to the present time."

7. His experiments in Calcutta for exhausting the finely-powdered bark with acidulated water by the aid of steam heat proved entirely successful, and he obtained an average of 3½ per cent. of product from the bark, which showed by analysis 4 per cent. of total alkaloid. The best computation he can make as to the financial results of this process is—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Bark 366,000lb, at 3½ annas per lb	80,000	0	0
Working expenses	68,000	0	0
Produce 12,810lb (3½ per cent.), at Rs. 11-9 per lb ...	1,48,115	0	0

8. The Rs. 68,000 includes carriage of bark to Calcutta, chemicals, fuel, rent, Quinologist, labour (with European foreman), repairs, and interest on machinery. The adoption of this method would enable Government to produce febrifuge at a cost price of about 12 annas the ounce. He therefore recommends that a factory should be fitted up in Calcutta upon a moderate scale for working on this plan. The appliances in Sikkim he would still maintain in full operation to work up the inferior bark from the branches, the richer bark alone being transmitted to Calcutta.

9. These proposals commend themselves to the Lieutenant-Governor as deserving of consideration; but the final acceptance of them must manifestly depend on the reports which may be received from the Medical Department upon the value of the febrifuge which it is intended to produce by the process which Mr. Wood proposes to adopt.

10. At the same time, the Lieutenant-Governor would make the following remarks for the particular attention of the Quinological Department under the Government of Bengal.

11. Mr. Wood has virtually recommended that the bark available from the Sikkim cinchona plantations should be used solely for the production of what he has termed "cinchona alkaloid," and it is further proposed to issue this new compound authoritatively to the medical institutions of Government as a febrifuge in lieu of quinine.

12. No doubt the proposals would be very good if sufficient medical testimony of the value of the new compound, namely cinchona alkaliod, were forthcoming, but as such is not the case, it would appear to be inadvisable to issue, under the authoritative stamp of the Government, and for the treatment of the most prevalent disease of the country, a drug of which the medical officers have had as yet no experience, and which is, as far as the great majority of practitioners are concerned, an untried remedy.

13. The remedy (cinchona alkaloid) may ultimately prove to be a good one, but probably medical authorities will at the outset be unwilling to consider it as an equivalent for quinine in any case involving anything like serious responsibility; and the result will be a call upon Government for the latter remedy, quinine, which would cause as great an expense as if no cinchona plantation in Sikkim existed.

14. Mr. Wood, in making his recommendation, appears to have been actuated by a commendable desire to obtain for Government a good financial return for the capital outlay on the Sikkim plantation: but nevertheless it might be premature to adopt his valuable suggestions in their entirety, and the better plan would be to consider them purely as experimental until sufficient medical testimony to the efficacy or otherwise of the new drug had been collected.

15. In the meantime, the Quinologist may be directed to continue to manufacture the "new drug" from a certain proportion of the succirubra barks available; but from the remainder, and from the calisaya, he might be asked to prepare the orthodox cinchona alkaloids, namely, cinchonidine, cinchonine, quinine, &c., which have been proved by experience to be specific in the treatment of Indian fevers.

CINCHONA PLANTATIONS, BRITISH SIKKIM.

RESOLUTION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 26th July 1875.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantations, British Sikkim, for the year ending the 31st March 1875.

Red bark trees	310,000
Yellow bark trees	60,000
Hybrids	15,000
Total ...	385,000

This brought up the total number of plants in the permanent plantations to—

Red bark trees	2,390,000
Yellow bark trees	354,000
Hybrids	21,000
Total ...	2,765,000

Or, in round numbers "the Government Cinchona property in Sikkim consists of three millions of red bark trees, of half a million of other sorts, and a nursery stock of about half a million plants." The red bark trees, the younger plantations in particular, have been in good condition during the year. The experiments with calisaya seed have proved a failure, owing to the uncertainty which was found to attend the result of planting those seeds which appeared to promise best. The following account is given of the analysis of some plants and of the trial of their seeds:—"Mr. Wood's analysis, and also those of Mr. Broughton, go to prove that difference in these respects (i.e., in results) is accompanied by difference in the chemical composition of the bark. Of six varieties of our calisaya analysed during the year by Mr. Wood, one was found to contain as much as 7·4 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which no less than 6·2 were of crystalline sulphate of quinine; a second yielded 7·1 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which 6·9 were crystalline sulphate of quinine; while a third specimen gave so poor a result as 1·6 per cent. of total alkaloid, of which no part was quinine. The seed saved from the finer sorts was carefully collected and sown. It produced, however, a large proportion of seedlings with such unmistakable resemblance to the worst varieties, that it was decided not to plant out any of them, and in future to trust to propagation by cuttings alone for any extensions which may be made in our plantations of this species." The hybrid plants promise great success; they yield a bark rich in alkaloids and are of a vigorous growth.

2. The extension of the red bark tree cultivation meets the views of the Secretary of State expressed in his despatch of the 5th November 1874. It appears that though the red bark is not so rich in quinine as the yellow variety, it nevertheless yields a greater total of alkaloid, which is as efficacious a febrifuge as quinine itself. If the further enquiries which are now being instituted should prove this to be the fact, the resolution of the 15th December 1874, which prohibited the extension of C. Succirubra cultivation, will require to be modified. The reports called for in the same despatch, as to the efficacy of cinchonidine, have not been received; but Mr. Wood, in his report of the 24th May 1875 (paragraph 9), states that he supplied to the medical authorities an alkaloid consisting of cinchonidine and cinchonine, and he understands that both Dr. Chevers and Dr. Ewart are fully satisfied of its efficacy, and are quite prepared to recommend its adoption in all Government hospitals and dispensaries. It also appears that this alkaloid was administered in some cases to coolies suffering from fever on the Sikkim plantation and at the Botanical Garden in Calcutta, and was found to be an efficient febrifuge.

3. With reference to the remarks made in the 5th paragraph of last year's review regarding Dr. King's recommendation of an alternative preparation of bark instead of the sulphate of cinchonidine, he has explained that he did not make the proposal to use a decoction of twig bark in ignorance or depreciation of the merits of that alkaloid as a febrifuge, but merely as a means of utilising twig bark from which the Quinologist informed him he would not be able to extract any of the alkaloids with profit, and which was not worth sending to England.

4. Some experiments were made during the year in taking bark by Mr. McIvor's mossing process. Dr. King reports that sufficient time has not elapsed to allow him to report decidedly regarding the result, but that it does not promise well. The result of coppicing, on the other hand, has been quite satisfactory. The coppicing and pruning operations produced 39,405lb of dry bark, of which 15,160lb were made over to Mr. Wood, and 4,047lb were supplied to the Medical Storekeeper. The remainder was kept in stock until Mr. Wood was ready to receive it. In these cases there are no separate reports of the results obtained. Dr. King sees no difficulty in furnishing 200,000lb of dry bark during 1875-76.

5. Owing to the long-protracted and severe cold season, the yield of bark did not reach the estimate of 70,000lb, but the 30,000lb by which the amount fell short was collected in the first month of the financial year 1875-76.

6. The enquiries of the Government Quinologist have resulted in a cheap and efficient method of extracting the febrifugal alkaloids from cinchona bark. The report of these enquiries and their result has been reviewed in a separate resolution. The Lieutenant-Governor approves of the measures taken to effect a survey of the plantation.

7. The experiments made on the application of manure to the plants had no appreciable effect upon the proportion of total alkaloid yielded. Further experiments must be made before any opinion can be formed on the subject.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the approval expressed by Dr. King of the services of the resident manager of the plantation, Mr. Gammie, and of the subordinate gardeners.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 24th July 1875.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVN. 1	Burdwan, July 26,* '75	·25	Rainfall at Cutwa ·32, Culna ·90, Ranegunge 1·28, Bood-bood 1·59, and Jehanabad 25. Rain is wanted in all parts of the district. Transplantation stopped in places, and the seedlings not looking well. Sugarcane and aous paddy are fair. Fever decreasing.
2	Bankoora, „ 24, „	1·18	Slight and partial showers, with some heavier rain on the 19th instant. The rain that has fallen has benefited the growing crops, but has not been sufficient to materially assist the business of transplanting. Prices are rising slightly.
3	Beerbhoom, „ 24, „	1·78	Weather showery. State and prospects of the crops continue good.
4	Midnapore, „ 24, „	1 13	The weather is seasonable, but in the north of the district more rain is wanted. Prospects of the early rices are very good, and of the late rice are fair. Sugarcane is also doing well. Indigo, which was thought to be a very promising crop, has turned out a very indifferent one, and the yield will, it is feared, not be large.
5	Hooghly, „ 24, „	1·06	Rainfall at Chinsurah 1·39, Bansberiah 1·08, Pandooah 78, Serampore 2·51, Chanditolla 3 11, Huripal 1 87, Dhoneakhally ·66, Ballagur ·93, and Kristonagore ·66 inches Weather sultry. State and prospects of the crops are good, but rain is wanted. Health fair
	Howrah, „ 24, „	·91	Weather good State and prospects of the crops are very good.
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVN. 6	24-Pergunnahs, July 26,† '75	·93	Weather very hot and close, with occasional light showers. Transplantation of the late rice is going on rapidly; the early rice and jute progressing very fairly. Fever and cholera decreasing at Barripore. Two cases of small-pox reported from Satkhira.
7	Nuddea, „ 24, „	2·08	Very hot weather; rain generally insufficient. The early rice harvest has begun in Koostea. On the average, rice is likely to be good, but more rain is wanted. Indigo is rather better; the produce is, on the whole, better than was anticipated. Public health good.
8	Jessore, „ 24, „	·44	Clear and hot weather; not much rain. The early rice has begun to be cut Transplanting of the late rice still continues; the prospects are good Indigo prospects are not entirely satisfactory, but the weather having changed it should improve the produce.
9	Moorshedabad, „ 24, „	·46	Weather was hot and oppressive in the beginning of the week, but slightly cooled down towards the end by fall of rain on the 21st and 22nd instant. Rain much wanted almost throughout the whole district for the cultivation of both bhadoi and Aymaste (early and late) rice crops. Indigo, mulberry, sugarcane, and teel (oilseed), are doing well. Prices much the same as last week The average of twelve stations in the sudder subdivision gives 16½ seers per rupee approximately. Cholera still lingers in the stations of Gorabazar and Soojagunge, and there were 11 deaths reported during the week.
RAJSHAHYE DIVN. 10	Dinagepore, „ 23, „	·12	Very slight showers here and there; high wind from east, with intervals of great heat The drought has destroyed half the bhadoi crops, and unless rain falls within a day or two, the entire crop will be lost. The seed beds and transplanted Aymaste, or late rice, have also suffered, but the case is not so urgent. If rain falls a fortnight hence, the transplanting will be carried out in time. The jute—a very fine crop—is reported to have suffered somewhat; a little, however, has already been cut. The price of rice has gone up to 19½ seers per rupee; a fortnight ago it was 24 seers.
11	Maldah, „ 24, „	·53	Weather sultry, with little rain in the first half of the week; during the second half it was generally cloudy, with rain on one day, and strong easterly winds prevailing. The crops in the north are badly in want of rain; partial rain has done some good to the rice crops, but more is much wanted, the continued dry weather in most places having already done harm.
12	Rajshahye, „ 24, „	·65	There has been slight rain in all parts, except the south-west, during the week. The rain of the week has not been sufficient to benefit the rice crops, and a heavy rainfall is much needed, as the crops are withering for want of moisture. Rice is dear at head-quarters and in the immediate neighbourhood, owing probably to the present unfavorable prospects of the crops. No sickness reported.

* Telegram of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

Rajshahye Divn.—(Contd.) 13	Rungpore, July 23, '75	·52	Weather clear and hot; a slight rainfall. Early aous rice is being harvested; late aous rice is being damaged for want of rain; transplantation is backward for the same cause.
14	Bogra, „ 24, „	·24	Fair weather; a little fall of rain during the week. Early rice is being cut now; three-fourths outturn is expected. Want of sufficient rain has impeded both ploughing and sowing of the late rice crop. A small fall of rain has enabled the people to begin ploughing and transplanting, but the want of rain in the western part of the district is said to be considerable.
15	Pubna, „ 24, „	·51	Weather hot, with occasional showers; 1·23 inches of rain at Serajgunge. The rivers are very low for the time of year, and the ground is becoming very dry. The crops are still looking well, but heavy rain is now much needed; and unless the rivers soon rise considerably, the aman, or late rice, will suffer. Fever of a mild type prevails in Pubna.
Cooch Behar Divn. 16	Darjeeling, „ 23, „	4·07	Rainfall almost every day; strong sunshine on the 19th July. In the hills, the maize and other crops are progressing favorably; in the Tarai, the bhadoi, or early rice, looks favorable. Transplantation of late rice is going on, but more rain is wanted.
17	Julpigoree, „ 24, „	2·38	Seasonable weather. Prospects of crops are good. A few cases of endemic cholera at Julpigoree itself; there is less than before in the district.
	Cooch Behar, „ 22, „	1·07	The weather was extremely hot; there were some slight showers of rain during the week. The transplanting of the late rice cannot, for want of rain, be finished. The prospects of this important crop will be very much injured if there be not some heavy showers within a few days.
	Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn. 18	Dacca, July 26,* '75	1·48	Seasonable weather. State and prospects of the crops are good.
19	Furreedpore, „ 24, „	1·18	Weather very hot and sunny, with occasional showers. The inundation has somewhat decreased, but the prospects of crops continue fair. General health of the district is good.
20	Backergunge, „ 22, „	2·23	High winds occasionally. All is well.
21	Mymensingh, „ 23, „	·62	A rainfall of about two inches is reported from the northern, eastern, and western sub-divisions of the district. There is a general want of rain for the young crop just planted out. The early rice crop is being cut, and is a good yield. The floods up to this time have been three feet less than the highest point last year.
22	Tipperah, „ 23, „	2·69	Weather rather close and sultry, with occasional heavy showers of rain and thunder-storms. The first of the aous, or early rice, has already been commenced to be reaped: this crop promises well. Owing to the fall in the inundation, amun, or late rice, is being sown and transplanted largely.
Chittagong Divn. 23	Chittagong, „ 22, „	·96	Weather cloudy, with occasional showers. Reports on the state and prospects of the crops continue to be favorable.
24	Noakholly, „ 22, „	2·44	Heavy thunder-storm on Sunday; there was alternate bright sunshine and heavy showers on the other days. The early rice crops on high land are going on well; some of the late crops on the low lands have been injured by the heavy rain. The transplantation of the amun, or late rice, continues. An insect called "kata gandhi" has attacked the rice crops in Begumgunge and Amingunge. Cattle disease is bad in Hatya.
25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, „ 20, „	·18	A heavy fall of rain on the 18th instant; cloudy throughout the whole week. Indian-corn is ripe now, and is brought for sale. The paddy and cotton crops are thriving well. Present prospects on the whole are good.
	Hill Tipperah, „ 21, „	1·01	There has been very little rain, but the state and prospects of the crops remain good.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn. 26	Patna, „ 23,* „	·47	Weather close and sultry; some rain has fallen at the time of report. Bhadoi and rice crops are doing well. Health generally good.
27	Gya, „ 24, „	·37	Weather generally fair and warm; sometimes very hot. Rainfall at Aurungabad 1·27, at Nowdah ·20, at Jehanabad ·40; highest reading of dry maximum thermometer 95·3°. State and prospects of all crops are favorable. Cholera is still bad in the west of the district, and not wholly disappeared in some other places.

* Telegrams of the 26th July, received on the same day, show rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR—(Contd.)
Patna Divn.—(Contd.) 28	Shahabad, July 24, '75	·15	Weather cloudy and hot; prevailing wind easterly The fall in the rains has been on the whole good for the bhadoi, or early crops, which promise very well; rain is wanted for the rice crop.
29	Durbhunga, „ 24, „	·05	Weather intensely hot, with westerly wind up to Wednesday, when it veered round to the east; no rain has fallen at either Mudhoobunnee or Tajpore sub-division. The marwa millet crop has been already seriously injured by want of rain. Transplantation of rice has ceased, and unless rain falls shortly, the prospects of the main rice crop will be seriously affected. Sugarcane has not suffered yet.
30	Mozufferpore, „ 24, „	Nil.	Weather exceedingly hot and dry; rain every where much wanted, but most urgently in Seetamurhee sub-division, where very little rice has been transplanted and where total rainfall of last three weeks has been only 1·10 inches. In Mozufferpore sub-division much rice remains to be transplanted; prospects of the bhadoi crops are generally favorable throughout the district. Rainfall at Hajeepore during the week "nil," at Seetamurhee ·60 inches.
31	Sarun, „ 24, „	·20	Weather very hot, close, and sultry; east wind prevailing. There was a slight fall of rain in the sudder sub-divison, but none in Sewan. The prospects of the bhadoi crops are favorable. Rain is much wanted for transplantation of rice throughout the district. Manufacture of indigo going on. General health is good; a little cholera still about Sewan.
32	Chumparun, „ 23, „	·13	Though the dry weather of the past week has been rather favorable than otherwise for the maize and kudo (millet) crops, yet rain is very much wanted, especially in the south of the district, for the rice crop, and the consequences may be serious if it keeps off much longer. The rice crop is in want of rain; the other crops are doing exceedingly well.
Bhagulpore Divn. 33	Monghyr, „ 24, „	1·68	Seasonable weather. The bhadoi prospects continue very good; the rice prospects are also favorable.
34	Bhagulpore, „ 26,* „	·12	Rain still holds off. The Indian-corn in South Bhagulpore is very good; marwa millet and bhadoi, or early rice, in North Bhagulpore partially damaged by the drought. Transplantation of the aughani, or late rice, is retarded throughout the district for want of moisture, and nearly half of this work ought to be completed by this time, but it is not yet commenced. General health very good.
35	Purneah, „ 24, „	1·76	Weather very hot, with east winds. Rain is very much wanted for both the bhadoi and aughani rice crops all over the district; with the exception of a few heavy showers on Wednesday and Thursday, scarcely any rain has fallen in the district. In Arrareah only 38 and in Kishengunge only ·34 inches has fallen in this week. Transplanting operations are at a standstill everywhere.
36	Sonthal Perghs „ 24, „	1·21	Weather dryer than last week; rain wanted in Rajmehal. State and prospects of the crops are generally excellent. No further remarks about jowari millet in Deoghur.
ORISSA.
Orissa Division. 37	Cuttack, „ 17, „	4·76	A good deal of rain off and on all the week. Crops coming on excellently. At Kendraparah rainfall 5 8. Cholera has rather increased.
38	Pooree, „ 22, „	9·14	There has been heavy rain throughout the district, and the sky was cloudy at the time of report. Sarad, or late paddy, has all been sown; subsequent cultivation and transplantation of seedlings are going on busily. The early rice, or beali crop, is being weeded; the crops promise fairly Miscellaneous crops are doing well. Cholera still lingers in the city; the pilgrims have all gone away.
39	Balasore, „ 23, „	1·65	The weather has been showery and seasonable; the rainfall has been moderate, and the floods in the rivers have gone down without damage to the young crops, which promise well. Weeding and earthing up are in full progress. Cases of cholera are frequent and severe.

* Telegram of the 26th July, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, July 23, '75	·91	Weather seasonable, cool and pleasant. Murwa and goondli millets improving, but still backward; gora dhan promising well, as also the cold-weather rice. Health of the district is good
41	Lohardugga, „ 24, „	1·88	Showers and sunshine The crops are growing well, and prospects continue favorable both in Chota Nagpore Proper and in Palamow Cholera prevalent in the latter, and a few cases of small-pox are still reported
42	Singbhoom, „ 23, „	3·05	Seasonable weather State and prospects of the crops are very favorable. A few cases of cholera have been reported from Dhulbhoom.
43	Manbhoom, „ 24, „	1 58	Weather generally favorable; rain wanted in the two pergunnahs of Simlapal and Soopur in the south-east of the district. State and prospects of the crops are fair throughout the district, except the above pergunnahs. In those parts of the district, owing to want of rain, the Indian-corn and seedling rice have both suffered severely.

3. The name of Shaik Amir Ali is not given in the list of members for the year, as the gentleman died shortly after he was gazetted member of the Committee in 1871-72. Another member, Colonel E. Money (No. 9), left the district in November 1873; his name is therefore to be removed from the list of members for the current year 1874-75.

4. There were eight meetings during the year, of which three were not attended with quorum, the members present being less than one-third of the total number of members forming the Committee. The business for which these meetings were called were transacted at adjourned meetings.

5. The proceedings of every meeting were recorded in the Minute-book kept for this purpose under Section 61 of the Road Cess Act.

6. The Chairman presided at all the meetings of the Committee except three, which were presided at by the Vice-Chairman.

7. Previous notice of more than 10 days was given of every meeting, and the business to be transacted at each meeting was duly notified.

8. The attendance of the members at each meeting held during the year under report is shown in the subjoined table.

Number and dates of Meetings	Number of Members present.	Number of Members absent.	Total number of Members.
1st meeting held on the 8th November 1873 ...	11	22	33
2nd " " 5th January 1874	7	26	33
3rd " " 30th " "	9	24	33
4th " " 22nd May "	8	25	33
5th " " 20th June "	11	22	33
6th " " 24th August "	8	25	33
7th " " 5th September "	9	24	33
8th " " 19th " "	11	22	33

9. From the above it will be seen that at least two-thirds of the members were absent at every meeting held during the year, and that most of them took very little interest in the discharge of the duties imposed by the Act.

10. The Committee has no separate office building of its own. The business is generally transacted in a room in the Office of the Deputy Commissioner, where the Committee meets.

11. The Committee had no separate office establishment during the year. The Collector's Road Cess Establishment performed the duties of both the offices, but as the Collector's establishment is debited against the road cess, this is immaterial.

12. The principal business transacted by the Committee during the year under review was as follows:—

(1) The annual accounts of the cess year ending 30th September 1873, previously examined by the Vice-Chairman and three members of the Committee appointed for the purpose, were passed.

(2) The examination and sanction to the estimates of the several roads submitted by the Committee's engineers.

(3) Selection of village roads.

(4) Preparation of estimates of receipts and disbursement for the cess year 1874-75,

(5) Determination of the rates of assessment for the ensuing year 1874-75, viz., at three-fourths of the maximum rates.

(6) In consequence of distress that prevailed during the year, a certain number of roads were added to the general list of works, and a revised statement of works was submitted to the Commissioner for transmission to Government.

13. No branch Committee has up to date been appointed in the district, though long since recommended to the Government. The former recommendations are now out of date, but a revised list could be submitted, if it should be the wish of Government at any time to put in force the branch system.

14. The year 1873-74 was the first year of road cess collections in this district. The income from the several sources is fully detailed in the accounts, and would not seem to require repetition.

15. The amount which was available for expenditure during the year was Rs 1,06,325-5-3 (vide Part I. of the Annual Accounts), to which a sum of Rs. 30,644-7-6, on account of value of rice spent in payment to the coolies employed on relief works, has been added, making the gross receipts Rs. 1,36,969-12-9.

16. The total expenditure under the several heads, both in cash and rice, amounted to Rs. 1,28,917-1-10, as detailed in the annual accounts.

	Rs.	A.	P.
The unexpended balance at close of the year was ...	8,052	10	11
Viz., in treasury	2,925	1	3
Advance outstanding	5,127	9	8

17. The total outlay on works during the year amounted to Rs. 1,14,216-9-11, namely, Rs. 1,10,859-11-9 on original works and Rs. 3,356-14-2 on repairs; whereas the amount provided in the budget estimate of the year was only Rs. 27,000, as detailed in the margin.

	Rs.	A.	P.

The excess expenditure (Rs. 87,216-9-11) was met partly from the additional allotments made by Government and partly from the Government rice supplied to this district for relief purposes, for which a sum of Rs. 30,644-7-6 may be set down as the value at the time the rice was taken.

18. The total charge for establishment employed on works amounted to Rs. 2,873-7-4, against Rs. 8 640 provided in the budget. Early in November 1873 the Government placed at the disposal of the Committee the services of an Assistant Engineer and an Overseer of the Public Works Department, and thus a large saving under the head of Establishment was secured during the year.

19. The following are the details of the several works executed during the year under review :—

ORIGINAL WORKS.

Road from Giridi to Khurukdeha, length 26 miles.—This is a feeder to the railway. Khurukdeha and Mirzagunge, which are close to each other, are the great trading places of the north of the district. This road, when completed, will render communication with the railway certain all the year round, the traffic being at present liable to obstruction during the rains. During the dry seasons this road will not be much used for through traffic, though locally of much utility.

In 1872-73, owing to the unauthorized action of the Executive Engineer on the portion of this road between Giridi and Pachumbah, about 3¾ miles in length, a sum of Rs. 6,923 had to be sanctioned, and though liabilities to this extent were incurred during that year owing to delay in making payments, Rs. 2,536-12-4 only were expended within the year. In 1873-74, for the remaining work a further sum of Rs. 9,621 was sanctioned, making a total of Rs. 16,544. This total sanctioned grant was expended within the year and an excess sum of Rs. 29-9-5. The Engineer reports that all the earthwork is complete, and a great number of culverts built, but more are required. The road is at present impassable for carts owing to these unfinished culverts.

Old Benares road, 4 miles in length, commencing from Hazareebagh towards the west.—In 1872-73 a sum of Rs. 3,930 was sanctioned by Government for this road, and in the following year Rs. 4,419 for the Chhurwa bridge on it. The amount disbursed on the road in 1872-73 and 1873-74 was Rs. 1,887-2-7, the total outlay on the bridge in two years being Rs. 969-12-9 and Rs. 628-8-0 respectively. The works on the road were said to be completed by the Public Works Department and made over to the Committee in November 1873. The bridge, which is yet incomplete, still remains in the hands of the Executive Engineer. The Committee fears that no steps are being taken to complete it.

Station roads.—The original grant for these roads was Rs. 10,000, to which Rs. 12,000 was subsequently added, making the total grant Rs. 22,000. These roads are still supposed by the Committee to be in the hands of the Executive Engineer, though they fell into so great disrepair during the last rains, that on the occasion of the Viceroy's visit to Hazareebagh the Chairman felt bound to advance money for absolutely necessary repairs. The Executive Engineer expended Rs. 8,214 in 1872-73 and Rs. 9,465-13-11 in 1873-74, total Rs. 17,680-2-11, on the roads, and Rs. 1,785-7-0 has been debited to station roads, which was incurred on the Gonda bridge, for which no separate allotment has yet been intimated by the Accountant-General, though Rs. 6,895 has been sanctioned by Government. The total outlay up to date has been Rs. 19,465-9-11. The system of roads has been left incomplete by the Executive Engineer, and the Committee sees no signs of the work being carried on. The Committee desires, in its annual report, to draw attention once again to the fact that, except under the direct orders of Government, it cannot accept the charge for these station roads as one properly pertaining to the Road Cess Funds, and for that reason the following extract is made from its Chairman's letter No. 270, dated the 7th September last, and upon which no orders have as yet been passed :—

"The next subject on which I most earnestly solicit clear and early orders is the subject of the station roads. My previous letters have fully explained how burdensome the Committee fears these roads will prove to it. These roads were made by order of the late Lieutenant-Governor to beautify the station, and on some verbal estimate of the Executive Engineer, Rs. 10,000 was sanctioned in the Public Works Department. The grant was in no way communicated to the Committee, but by a stroke of the pen some months afterwards the Lieutenant-Governor ordered the grant to be made local, and the works to be entered as part of the district roads. These roads, so far from being completed for Rs. 10,000, have cost up to date Rs. 19,465-9-11, and still the largest bridge has been suppressed by the Engineer, and the whole system is incomplete, three nullas remaining unbridged. As I have written several times before, so I repeat the district road cess ought not to be saddled in any way for roads made for the convenience of the European station,—made without any reference to the Committee, and without any estimates being submitted to it. The roads are unfinished, and to finish them properly a further sum of Rs. 10,000 would probably be required by Mr. Parkinson. The Committee in its budget estimate has entered the modest sum of Rs. 1,000 for the repairs of these roads during the year. I am convinced this amount—more than we can spare—is altogether insufficient for the purpose of maintaining this useless, not only because unfinished, luxury."

Road from Ramghur to Gola and from Gola to Pitredi, about 21 miles in length.—These are old and important roads in the district. They carry a considerable amount of traffic, but had fallen into a state of great disrepair. These roads have since been remodelled with necessary culverts, and excepting a short piece of one mile at the Pitredi end, have been made very good unmetalled and partly bridged roads. The total amount sanctioned for these roads in 1872-73 was Rs. 5,076, but they were left incomplete during the last year after a cost of Rs. 4,568-1-10, leaving a balance of Rs. 507-14-2 for the portion that remained during the last year; however, this had to remain untouched owing to greater necessities in other parts of the district.

Road from Hazareebagh to Chuttra viâ Sila Echak, 38 miles in length.—The road is now under construction; when completed it will be a very useful road in the district. It connects with head-quarters the Town of Chuttra, the greatest grain mart in the district, the seat of the Extra Assistant Commissioner's Court, and a thana.

The Committee sanctioned Rs. 10,898 for the construction of this road. Nearly the whole of this amount, viz. Rs. 10,561-0-6, was disbursed during the year on earthwork and culverts. The Engineer reports that 25 miles of the road were completed during the year, and that nearly all the culverts necessary in this length have been constructed. This report is, however, rather more favorable for the year under review than a recent inspection has disclosed Work is being pushed on in the current year, but at the close of that year there were few culverts, and certainly not more than 21 miles of earthwork completed.

No provision was made for the following roads in the budget estimate for 1873-74, except Rs. 10,000 for village roads, but they were taken in hand as necessity arose in consequence of the distress that prevailed during the year. The following table will show the amount sanctioned by the Committee for each work, the amount expended during the year, and the length of the road as reported by the Engineer to be completed :—

NAMES OF WORKS.	Estimate sanctioned.	Amount disbursed.	Length of the road completed.	REMARKS.
	Rs.	Rs. A. P
Burbee and Gowan road, 48 miles.	27,342	29,499 10 9	28 miles ..	This is a most important road for the district It will connect the two distant thanas of Kodarma and Gowan with the Grand Trunk Road and head-quarters. Though incomplete, great traffic already passes over it. A good deal of work, such as altering the course of stream, heavy jungle-cutting, high embankments bridges, and culverts, has been done along the length completed The cost has exceeded the estimated amount in consequence of the distress.
Continuation of the old Hesaree road from Pitia, 11¼ miles.	4,714	2,730 9 3	6 „ ...	The sum of Rs 2,730-9-3 was expended on earthwork necessary in putting the road in good order, construction of culverts, making side drains, &c.
Balcomut and Sherghutty road, length 50 miles.	10,084	2,385 7 0	13 „	This is a very important road in the district, being one of the grain feeders to South Behar, and the north from Bohardugga and Sumbulpore The Committee is making culverts on it throughout the district with necessary surface repairs, so as to render facilities for cart traffic throughout the year.
Huntergunge and Ghoraghat road, 13 miles in length.	2,158	2,404 6 0	13 „ ..	The expenditure was incurred only on earthwork, and in the absence of some culverts, for which funds were not available, it is only so far improved that a definite track now exists.
Chuttra and Daltongunge road, 38 miles.	2,917	4,126 0 3	3 „ ...	It is a direct road from Chuttra to Daltongunge. It commences at the Lilajan; but the road between Lilajan and Chuttra (6 miles), which forms a portion of the Balcomut and Sherghutty road, was considered by the Engineer to be a continuation of this road, and the charges incurred in this portion were accordingly shown against it. The actual charge to his road is Rs. 750 only.

NAMES OF WORKS.	Estimate sanctioned	Amount disbursed.	Length of the road completed.	REMARKS.
	Rs.	Rs. A. P.
Chuttra and Koonda road, length 16 miles.	3,030	2,776 2 3	6 miles...	The sum of Rs. 2,776-2-3 was disbursed on earthwork and small culverts. It was undertaken on account of the distress.
Paharpore and Bogodhur road, length 32 miles.	4,182	7,265 7 9	25 „ ...	This is a direct road from Bogodhur Police Station to Pachumbah and Giridi. The road is resorted to by all palki travellers and foot-passengers When completed it will be one of the very useful roads in the district. The road has been gravelled throughout, and will therefore last for some time, even if heavy traffic passes over it.
Kodarma and Jainuggur road, 7 miles.	.....	2,347 4 8	7 „ ...	This work was done under the superintendence of Mr. Tobin, Assistant Commissioner, without estimate. It was undertaken as a relief work.
Ramghur and Jainuggur, 10 miles.	630	482 2 3	10 „ ...	This road may be considered to be a village road; it is only 12 feet broad, without culverts. Four miles of this road is still remaining to be completed.

It connects the villages on the north with Mohesmoondi Railway Station, and was undertaken on account of the distress.
Surundah and Durandah	3,511	2,308 15 4	6 „	This road branches off from the Paharpore and Bogodhur road at Surundah, and is said to be completed up to Jurridi with necessary culverts, but has not as yet been inspected.

Gya and Deoghur pilgrim road, length 50 miles.—This is a most important road. It connects within the limits of this district Gya and Deoghur. Lakhs of pilgrims pass over this road annually, and it was formerly passable for carts. It has fallen into complete disrepair in many parts. It is not properly a district road, as the interests affected are not local. It is the main high road from the north-west to Deoghur for the lakhs of poor and orthodox pilgrims who cannot, or may not, avail themselves of the railway.

An allotment of Rs. 20,000 besides grain was sanctioned by Government for the construction of this road as a relief work. It was in the hands of the Executive Engineer during the year, and a sum of Rs. 2,797-9-6 in cash and grain was disbursed in the allignment and commencement of the road.

The orders of Government are necessary as to the continuance of this road. It must be remembered that it was first recommended as a provincial road connecting Gya and Deoghur with the proposal that a toll should be put upon it of a pice on each person in each district each way. There is an excellent pass at Gowan, admirably suited for the collection of the toll in this district. Instead, however, of the work being sanctioned as a provincial road it was made a famine relief road, and Rs. 20,000 and grain sanctioned for the construction of earthwork only. In this form the grant was practically useless, as the work could not be completed in the year, and the earthwork was exactly the portion of the road which was least necessary. In the high lands of Chota Nagpore the roads do not require to be "bunded;" a small ditch on either side is sufficient to make a track upon which the cultivators will not encroach, and which is a self-made road. It is only at the streams and strips of rice cultivation which must be banked, bridged, and crossed by culverts, that the roads become impassable. To construct heavy embankments at such places without putting the bridges or culverts in, is to render an already difficult road thoroughly impassable. The Executive Engineer who never supplies estimates to the Committee has, as a fact, raised a low embankment where the original good ground was sufficient, and has not touched the really bad parts. The Committee is unable to continue this road as a district road, and the sum expended on it, except so far as it gave relief, may be considered wasted, unless bridges are now made.

REPAIRS.

Chuttra and Chowparon road.—This is a metalled road; it connects Chuttra with the Grand Trunk Road; it carries considerable traffic.

The Committee sanctioned Rs. 6,561 for the metalling of this road in 1872-73. The total outlay during that year was Rs. 2,362-0-10. The work was carried on in 1873-74 at a further cost of Rs. 1,769-13-8.

Baloomut and Sherghutty road (north of Chuttra).—A sum of Rs. 624-6-6 was spent in the repairs of this road, as in consequence of the distress, it was considered necessary to lay out more money in remodelling the road with a view to give labour to the needy. There has been great improvement in this road, which is one of great traffic. The Grand Trunk Road excepted, perhaps the most important in this district.

Old Benares road from Hazarebagh towards the west.—Rs. 16-13-9 was disbursed for the maintenance of this road during the year.

Old Ranchee road.—This road has long been abandoned. It was taken in hand during the last year as a relief work, and slight repairs effected, so as to make the road tolerably passable for bullocks, at a cost of Rs. 298-14-6.

Gold and Govindpore road.—Repairs were in scattered places made to this road under the superintendence of the District Superintendent of Police, the gross outlay being Rs. 599. The work was undertaken on account of the distress.

Chowparon and Pitis Inspection Bungalow.—These inspection bungalows having been made over to the Committee by the Public Works Department along with the Chuttra and Chowparon road, a sum of Rs. 146-12-3 was disbursed in putting them in repair.

Dhanwar and Jamooi road.—This is a village road. It was completed during 1872-73. The sum of Rs. 300 charged against this road was given to Mr. Peppe, the Manager of the Dhanwar Estate, who had undertaken the construction of the road, as the amount was stolen from his box out of the money previously made over to him for the execution of the work. The thief was convicted and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

20. The following works have been proposed to be taken in hand during 1874-75. The sums allotted by the Committee are noted against them; but the late alteration in the Government assignment will render it necessary in all probability to modify this allotment and reduce the grants, especially that on account of the pilgrim road:—

RAJGOPAL ROY,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 3036, dated Ranchee, the 17th November 1874.

From—H. L. OLIPHANT, Esq., Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga,
To—The Commissioner of Chota Nagpore.

IN pursuance of Government orders contained in Circular Nos. 4952 of the 24th September 1872 and 50 of the 23rd July 1873, I have the honor to submit herewith my annual accounts together with the required report of the expenditure incurred on roads in this district during the year ending the 30th September 1874.

2. My preliminary report on the subject was, I may observe, forwarded with my letter No. 2323 of the 22nd August last.

3. Under Government Notification No. 257 of the 14th July 1873, a sum of Rs. 30,000 was allotted as the ordinary grant for roads in this district during the current year; but subsequent to this, in consequence of the great scarcity which prevailed in the Palamow Sub-Division, it was found necessary to open extensive relief works in that part of the country, and certain special and additional grants, aggregating Rs. 1,35,000, were sanctioned by the Government for roads, as well as a sum of Rs. 5,535 for petty irrigation works. The several sums sanctioned from time to time are detailed below :—

	Rs.
Ordinary allotment,—Government Notification No. 257, 14th July 1873	30,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 249S.R., 24th January 1874	15,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 1896S.R., 28th March 1874	50,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 2816S.R., 1st May 1874	50,000
Special grant for Palamow,—Government letter No. 4400S.R, 11th July 1874	20,000
Road Total ...	1,65,000
Petty irrigation works, Palamow,—Government letter No. 891S.R., 21st February 1874*	5,535
Grand Total ...	1,70,535

* This sum of Rs. 5,535 was credited to this District Road Fund under orders contained in Accountant-General's letter No. 15868T of the 9th March 1874.

The total expenditure returned amounts to Rs. 1,67,313-6-7, or Rs. 3,221-9-5 less than the total amount sanctioned.

4. This district is divided into two large tracts,—Chota Nagpore Proper, comprising the sudder division, with an area of 7,784 square miles, and the Sub-Division of Palamow, comprising the three Pergunnahs of Palamow, Belanjah and Jupla, with an area of 4,260 square miles.

5. In Chota Nagpore Proper there was no real distress, and no money was expended in this part of the district except from the ordinary allotment. Out of the ordinary grant of Rs 30,000, a sum of Rs. 21,000 was allotted for the roads in Chota Nagpore Proper, and the aggregate expenditure amounted to Rs. 20,081-8-5, as shown in the margin.

	Rs.	A.	P.
Expenditure on roads	19,767	3	1
Office establishment	234	5	4
Total ...	20,081	8	5

6. The remaining sum of Rs 9,000 from the ordinary grant, plus the several grants aggregating Rs. 1,35,000, together with the sum of Rs. 5,535, on account of irrigation, making a total of Rs. 1,49,535, was made available for the Sub-Division of Palamow, where considerable distress prevailed for some four or five months, and the total sum expended there amounted to Rs 1,47,231-14-2, as shown in the margin.

	Rs.	A.	P.
Expended on roads	1,28,251	11	9
Famine relief establishments ...	11,933	14	2
Conveyance of tools	157	4	3
Total Roads ...	1,40,342	14	2
Grand Total ...	1,47,231	14	2

7. A full report in connection with the expenditure in the Palamow Sub-Division having already been furnished by Mr. Forbes, the Assistant Commissioner, under his letter No. 722A* of the 28th September last, forwarded to you with my Office letter No. 2912½ of the 31st ultimo, it is unnecessary for me now to do more than give a brief account of the expenditure on each road for the purpose of making the annual statement of expenditure complete.

* Submitted to Government with Commissioner's No. 3539, dated 14th November 1874.

8. The total sum expended on each line of road in the district during the year will be found in the usual annual table of expenditure, and a brief account of the way in which the sums have been laid out in the statement hereto annexed.

Statement showing the Amount of Work done on the several roads in the District of Lohardugga during the year ending the 30th September 1874.

RANCHEE AND BUNDGAON ROAD (38 MILES).

AT the close of the year 1872-73 the road as far as Khunti (18 miles) was in good order, so that up to that point it has only required a slight surface dressing; beyond that heavier work was required; all the wooden bridges had to be repaired, and four new approaches cut to streams.

The first section of the road from Durenda to Hatia being in good order.—A portion of the road has been gravelled, a railing added to the Hatia bridge, and drains that had been cut across the road filled in.

On the second section, from Hatia to Khunti, 17 miles.—The side drains have been cleared out between the 10th and 12th mile; a considerable quantity of earthwork has been thrown up so as to decrease a somewhat heavy gradient. The approaches to the Kanchi Nuddi have been repaired, and the roadway thoroughly repaired as far as Phudi, just beyond the 12th mile, and from that village to Khunti slight surface repairs. On this section there are three stony ridges; they do not materially interfere with traffic, but look unsightly.

Third section, from Khunti to Mundru, 8 miles.—Road drains have been repaired and embankments raised. The approaches to three streams repaired, and a deviation from the original line made.

Fourth section from Mundru to the boundary, 10 miles.—This last section having been partially neglected in previous years, more has been expended on it than on any other portion of the line. The woodwork of the bridges, which was in a dilapidated state, has been renewed; the first six miles generally repaired, and on the last four some very heavy work has been completed.

The total number of miles repaired on this line has been 14 miles 7 furlongs. Fourteen wooden bridges have been repaired, and 266,370 cubic feet of earthwork added, at a total cost of Rs. 995-9-9.

RANCHEE AND LOHARDUGGA ROAD (16 MILES).

First section, from Ranchee to Margu, 10 miles.—The first five miles, being in good order, have only received a surface dressing, three of the drains having been re-planted, and the last two miles thoroughly repaired.

Second section, from Margu to Hopa, 15 miles.—On the 1st mile the road crosses two streams with very high banks. The original approaches to the streams being very steep, new approaches have been cut, whereby better gradients have been obtained at a trifling expenditure of distance. Between Murma and Tangratola (the 13th and 18th mile) the embankments in low land have been raised and the road widened, and from Pakario to Hopa the road has been thoroughly repaired

Third section, from Hopa to Kuru, 10 miles.—On the 1st mile from Hopa a narrow and low embankment with wooden bridge has been raised and widened, and the roadway as far as Henjalu, on the 31st mile, generally repaired. From the latter village to Kuru the road has been thoroughly repaired, and from Rudh to Kuru the road has been widened from 12 to 20 feet.

Fourth section, from Kuru to Lohardugga, distance 11 miles.—From Kuru to Kaimo, 5½ miles, where the road conjoins with the Lohardugga and Chuttra road, the roadway has been widened from 12 to 20 feet and a deviation of 5 furlongs made; 3 wooden bridges made, and a considerable quantity of earthwork in low land. From Kaimo to Lohardugga the work has been confined to surface repairs and putting the approaches to the Sunk River in order. Altogether on this line 23 miles 3 furlongs have been repaired, six wooden bridges, 661,670 cubic feet of earthwork, besides 646 cubic feet of limestone and 400 cubic feet of stone; the total cost Rs. 2,465-8-4.

Ranchee and Pulkot road, 54 miles.—This and the Bundgaon road are identical as far as Hatia; from the latter village to Lodhma the distance is 11 miles. The surface has been dressed as far as the Suburnarika River, the approaches to which have been repaired, and a wooden bridge made over a small stream with very high banks on the south-west side of the Suburnarika River. Between Cheto and Lodhma surface repairs.

From Lodhma to Laonkel, 9½ miles.—The line is in fair order, and little has been done to it, with the exception of a deviation, which has been made to avoid a rocky rise.

From Laonkel to Tilmi, 4½ miles.—The road has been thoroughly repaired, and from Tilmi to Jeria, 6 miles, a considerable quantity of earthwork has been added to the embankments.

From Jeria to Bussia, 18 miles.—With the exception of 4 miles repaired the previous year, the whole distance was in a very bad condition. Eight miles have been thoroughly repaired, on two of which a new line has been taken, whereby a much better approach has been obtained to the Karoo River, and a considerable detour avoided. Close to Bussia a bund has been widened and another deviation made, shortening the line and avoiding a number of small water-courses. Through the village of Bussia the road has been put in good order.

From Bussia to Pulkot, 12 miles.—The first 4½ miles were made during 1872-73; 3½ miles have been added during the current year; so that 4 miles have yet to be made to complete the road to Pulkot. The total number of miles thus repaired has been 25 miles; 2 wooden bridges made, 4 repaired, and 716,690 cubic feet of earthwork, at a total cost of Rs. 2,023-9-7

From Kuru to Latehar towards Daltongunge, 28 miles.—Work on this line has been principally confined to the first 15 miles, where not only the road demanded most attention, but also where labour was most required.

From Kuru to Chandwa, 10 miles.—This portion of the road had in previous years been very much neglected, owing to the very difficult nature of the Hutab Ghat; the gradient being so excessive that no descent could be made of a sufficient easy gradient to admit of wheeled traffic without incurring a stupendous outlay. After much trouble, however, and a thorough inspection of the whole ghat, another pass on a different side of the hill was found, and an excellent line has now been made at a very small cost.

Beyond Chandwa a large wooden bridge has been made with high approaches, whereby the gradient has been much reduced.

The total number of miles partially re-made and repaired has been 17 miles 3 furlongs, earthwork 908,628 cubic feet, and total cost Rs. 3,275-3-1.

Lohardugga and Chuttra road, 44 miles.—The first section of the road from Lohardugga to Chandwa was in tolerable repair, and has only received slight surface dressing. The second section from Chandwa to Baloomut has received most attention, as it was on this portion of the road that there was the greatest demand for employment. At the Village of Nagar a deviation was made, whereby the line has been somewhat shortened, and the descent from the high ground to the Simersoti plain has been greatly improved.

Third section, Baloomut to the boundary of the division.—Between Baloomut and Bariatoo two short deviations have been made, whereby better drainage has been obtained for the road, and some stony ground has been avoided.

The total number of miles repaired has been 19, and 7 furlongs of new road partially repaired, at a total cost of Rs. 2,300-12-3.

Baloomut and Jonjhu road, 17 miles.—This road lies in the Tori Pergunnah, and was opened under the sanction of the Commissioner with a view to afford employment to those who required labour. The whole line is very jungly indeed, so that the clearing of the ground from roots and stumps formed a heavy item in the expenditure. The line leads towards Daltongunge, in Palamow. It was carefully aligned by Mr. Brooke, and twelve miles of it was completed. The total earthwork done was 721,546 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 2,390-3-6.

Khunti and Turpa road, 17¼ miles.—This road connects the police station at Turpa with the outpost at Khunti, situate on the Ranchee and Bundgaon road. Previous to the current year, it was little more than a village track; but in November 1873 it was taken in hand, marked out, widened, and thoroughly repaired, and is now in good order; the line is a very easy one, passing through an open undulating country.

Length of road repaired 17¼ miles; earthwork 269,120 cubic feet; cost Rs. 720-15.

Baloomut and Chawaroo road, 10 miles.—This road is a continuation eastward of the Baloomut and Junjhri road, and leads to Hazarecbagh. It was undertaken as a part of the previous named road, for the purpose of affording employment to the poor in the Tori Pergunnah. Four miles have been made, viz. 1½ miles east of Baloomut, 1½ miles at Sirihgurha and 1 at Churinidoo. The quantity of earthwork amounts to 178,283 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 564-4-0.

Ranchee and Tamar road, 35 miles.—This was the original route from Ranchee to Chaibasa, but it was abandoned for a more westerly line, which possesses two advantages over the old line, inasmuch as it avoids a difficult ghat and heads the rivers, taking as near as practicable the watershed of the country. As, however, Bundoo and Tamar are both police stations and important marts, and as a considerable amount of produce passes over the line, it was in contemplation to take the first opportunity of improving the road. The late scarcity afforded the opportunity, and as soon as it became necessary to afford employment, work was opened at intervals along the road. The Taimara Ghat was very much improved by abandoning a portion of the old track and taking the road down another spur; the gradient was also much reduced. Five wooden bridges have been made, and 23 miles of roadway repaired. The earthwork amounts to 957,490 cubic feet, at a total cost of Rs. 2,683-12.

Tamar and Rabs road.—This is a local road eight miles in length, and was undertaken solely with a view to afford labor to those requiring employment in the neighbourhood; the road was roughly repaired and put in fair order; the quantity of earthwork being 401,300 cubic feet, and cost of work Rs. 1,100-0-8.

Gola road, 12 miles.—This road, with the exception of 5 furlongs and a bridge, was in good order; both roadway and bridge have been put in order; the earthwork added to the road being 25,400 cubic feet, and total cost Rs. 68-5-6.

PETTY WORKS.

Pitoria road.—This road is 10 miles in length; the whole line has been dressed, one drain bridge repaired, 2 furlongs of new road made, and 2 furlongs 3 chains of roadway gravelled and dressed. Quantity of earthwork 106,800 cubic feet; cost Rs. 344-2-11.

Under this heading about six miles of roads in the vicinity of the sudder station, lying outside the boundaries of the Municipality, were thoroughly repaired at a total cost of Rs 334-12-11.

VILLAGE ROADS.

Under this heading a sum of Rs 500 was expended, and I was greatly assisted in carrying out the works by the following gentlemen, who kindly lent their services and undertook the work of supervision:—The Revd. Mr. Whitley, the Revd. Mr. Didlanquies, Mr. Rakhal Dass Haldar, and Moonshee Moheepatlal.

Mr. Haldar superintended for me the repairing of the village roads leading from the Village of Kurra towards the Turpa Police Station, and the Villages of Porakanti, Balakasniar, and Tangarkela, where there is a market, were much benefited thereby at a cost of Rs. 72.

Moonshee Moheepatlal also effected improvements in the roads between the Villages of Hundroo, Bhoosur and Juggarnathpur, the work being done piece-work, through the Mahtoes and Pahans, at a total cost of Rs. 28.

The Revd. Mr. Didlanquies undertook the repairing of the roads through the villages of Mureha, Beharguda and Govindpore, at which latter place there is a large bazar, the total cost being Rs. 75-10-6. The village roads in the neighbourhood of Burjee and Doldar were further repaired at a cost of Rs. 24-5-6.

The Revd. Mr. Whitley expended a sum of Rs. 30 in improving the communication towards the Nagri village bazar. A pathway was made to connect the bazar with the main road, and a large bridge erected. Great improvements were also effected by him in the roads in the neighbourhood of Semra, Kurgi, Kesaro, Kachabari, and Bichma, at an aggregate cost of Rs 70, and a large number of villages were benefited thereby.

Arrangements were also made by me in the Tori Pergunnah for improving the roads lying between the Villages of Perakone, Morpa, Bussia, Munniajdar, and Serum, between Baloomut and the Deonand River; these were carried out at a cost of Rs. 100.

In the neighbourhood of Choria also the roads running through the Villages of Chore, Ramdugga, Koonka, and Hesalong, were thoroughly repaired at a similar cost, and all the villages in the neighbourhood have been much benefited thereby.

For the Palamow Sub-Division a sum of money was specially allotted for the improvement of village roads, but the Sub-Divisional Officer was so fully employed in carrying out the famine relief works, that he had no time to spare to arrange for any expenditure under this heading.
